THE DEER WENT THAT-A-WAY

Mrs. Petie Fouts looks through broken glass door of Wardrobe Cleaners at 5 Front Street, Novato, after a deer came calling about 10:15 a.m. and didn't bother to open the door. The young buck, unable to find its way out, left a trail of blood around the cleaning shop until Bill Packard of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, and John Irons of 555 Canal Street, San Rafael, were called from a neighboring shop to open the back door. It then left a trail of blood spatters out First Street and up Mirabella Avenue, eluding pursuit by neighborhood residents and Novato police.

Brown Offers Peace Pipe To Fellow Demos

And Thinks Some Republicans May Switch Loyalties

The Democratic governor also told a news conference that Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California Republican primary is likely to drive what he called moderates out of the GOP.

PREDICTS SPLIT

He said he did not see how men such as New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and California's Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel "can support Barry Goldwater."

The governor made it clear that he wanted an end to the Democratic in-fighting that brought bitterness to race between Pierre Salinger and State Controller Alan Cranston for the party's senatorial nomination.

A Cranston supporter, Brown wished Salinger "would have gotten in a week earlier. Then I wouldn't have had to choose."

PRAISES UNRUH

There were even kind words for Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, the powerful Los Angeles Democrat who had backed the former White House press secretary.

Brown signed a school finance bill pushed through the legislature by Unruh and praised him for the measure.

And he said he thought Cranston made a mistake by repeated attacks on Unruh's part in the Salinger campaign.

"His strategy was not my strategy," he said.

Brown also indicated he

Retirement Apartment Squeaks By In Larkspur

Council Split 3-2 On Plan

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

Larkspur City Council early today approved a controversial proposal for a 12-story, five-million-dollar retirement center on the south side of Bon Air hill, off Via Holon.

The council, by 3-to-2 vote, reversed the action of the planning commission and granted a variance to permit a 140-foot high structure. The height limit under the Larkspur zoning ordinance is 35 feet.

NEAR HOSPITAL

By a 4-to-1 vote the council declared its intention to grant a use permit for the development. It continued the matter to its next meeting, June 17, to allow time to incorporate certain conditions in the permit.

The council actions came after 1 a.m., after more than four hours of listening to the developers describe plans, hearing pros and cons from the public, reading letters from the public, noting petitions for and against, and expressing their own opinions on the proposal. More than 100 persons attended the public hearing.

VARIANCE JUSTIFIED

Valley Investment Co. plans to build the retirement residence, including medical facilities, on a six-acre site about 1,000 feet east of Marin General Hospital. The site is owned by Niels Schultz Sr. and his sons, Niels Jr. and Alvin. Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General and Novato General hospitals, heads the developers.

The planning commission on May 19 denied the permit on the basis that parking was inadequate, and the height variance on the grounds that sufficient proof of hardship was not demonstrated.

The matter was appealed to the council by the city manager, on request of councilmen, who felt the final decision should rest with elected officials.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon, Councilmen Earl J. O'Grady and Henry Brocco voted to grant the variance. Opposed were Councilmen Vaughn Marker and Robert J. Smith.

The council held that cer-

Tiburon Faces Lawlessness After Achieving Cityhood

Sometime next week, Tiburon will become a sort of legal vacuum.

When a county board of supervisors resolution affirming the Tiburon incorporation election is delivered to Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, probably next Wednesday, the new city hall will become a reality.

At that moment, there will be no zoning ordinance or building code for the area. There will be no parking regulations or sanitary regulations, according to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Planning director B. D. Dobbs said as he removed about five items from the planning commission agenda on June 15, but added the effect is actually much greater.

All tentative subdivision maps approved by the county for the area will be void. So will all adjustments and variances, unless construction has actually started.

Dobbs said the new city council may quickly, if it wishes, pass an ordinance providing that such planning administrative decisions by the county would be official city policy.

Fred C. Hannahs', one of the new councilmen, said the five elected councilmen plan to meet at the Del Mar School at 8 p.m. tomorrow to make plans for action as soon as the city becomes official.

Maloney said legally any meetings held by the council before the county resolution reaches the secretary of state could be held in private, since the city council would not yet exist. But Hannahs said he felt the council would like this apportunity to get used to the Brown Act.

County auditor - controller Michael Mitchell said today he is revising his estimates of state revenues to the county downward to about $65,000 for the coming fiscal year. His original estimate was $86,500. This would result from state subventions which would be diverted to the new city.

County administrator Alan Bruce said no discussion on the question of a contract for services in Tiburon by the county will be started until the city council approaches the county with a proposal. But county officials have made extensive studies of expected costs, and will be ready to start talking business quickly, he added.

Wednesday Should Be New City's Birthdate

Tiburon should actually become a city by next Wednesday.

Marin County Clerk George H. Gnoss said next legal step will be canvassing of the incorporation vote next Tuesday by the county board of supervisors.

He said the board would then declare the incorporation official by entry in the minutes, and the city "Tiburon," as favored by the majority of voters.

Also declared official by the board would be the city officials selected by highest vote. Chosen were five persons from 19 council candidates.

The same day, Gnoss added, the board would file a certified copy of its order with the secretary of state in Sacramento and cause the county clerk to file the affidavit of completion, an action required by the Government Code, with the county recorder.

A description and map of the area involved must accompany the affidavit, he said. Because the certification will be sent by registered mail, and not be received in Sacramento for several hours, Gnoss said, technically it would be about Wednesday before Tiburon can become a city.

City councilmen may then take over their duties and schedule their first meeting.

Park Board Holds Firm For Bulkhead Plan, Rezoning

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday took firm stands on use of reservoirs for recreation, open area zoning, and Richardson Bay bulkhead line.

The county board of supervisors will hold a special meeting next Friday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center on the question of a bulkhead line for Richardson Bay. The planning commission has asked that no bulkhead line be set, while more study goes on.

Park commissioners, however, were adamant that a bulkhead line must be placed on the map of Richardson Bay, and soon.

The group directed parks director Kelvin J. Nelson to send the board of supervisors a resolution asking for action, along with a reminder that the Richardson Bay master plan calls for a scenic drive and promenade along the shore and for an aquatic park with at least 1,000 feet of public water frontage.

The commission also voted a specific stand in favor of open area zoning of Marin Municipal Water District lands. The planning commission recently failed to approve such zoning on part of the lands because two members were absent from commission meetings.

Park commissioner Helen Newman said, however, she did not expect to see the zoning applied. She said the two absent planners, George Scott and Edward K. Wachsman, usually vote with the chairman, Niels Schultz Jr., who has opposed the zoning.

She said that most of those opposing the zoning, including the town council of Ross, have been misinformed. She said she was surprised to see water district Mgr. William R. Seeger oppose open area zoning on the grounds that it would not be restrictive enough.

"The present zoning allows hog farms," she said.

Commissioner James M. Fletcher said he was also surprised by recent letters to the Independent-Journal opposing recreational use of water district lands on the grounds that purity of water might be harmed.

"The (Marin Municipal) water district has maintained recreational facilities on its lands for years," he noted. "All the lakes have been fished for years."

He said the people of Ross

D-Day Veterans Revisit Beaches Of Normandy

EDITOR'S NOTE: On D-Day plus six, Harvey Hudson, then a first lieutenant with an artillery battalion, landed Omaha Beach in the Allied on Omaha Beach in the Allied invasion of Nazi-held Europe. Now a member of the Associated Press staff in Paris, he revisits the scenes of battle.

By HARVEY HUDSON

OMAHA BEACH, Normandy (AP)—D-day veterans who make the sentimental trek to the Normandy invasion beaches are gripped by nostalgia and sorrow and thankfulness that they survived. Sometimes they withdraw in confusion, unable to recognize places that once had a life or death importance.

Thousands of American, Canadian, British or French soldiers who took part in the bloody assault on the beaches June 6, 1944, revisit the scene each year. Hundreds were expected to roam over the area, digging deeply into their memories, for the 20th anniversary celebrations this year.

Bernard Rippy of Richmond, Calif., recalling his first trip back to the spot where he landed by glider, said, "The emotional experience really grabbed me. I could almost smell the powder."

Jack Tallerday, Newton, Kan., who landed by parachute, said, "Memory and present-day reality make a starting contrast. It was a three-ring circus when we landed, with ack-ack fire, planes falling, and Germans scattering like chickens. Now it seems odd to see a farmer calmly hoeing his field."

The savage scars of war still disfigure the beaches. Telltale debris of battle litters the sand. Bathers and fishermen saunter-

Some Light Rain Falls On County

Overcast skies and the usual warm temperatures preceding spring showers in Marin County brought some light rain but not enough to wet the streets this morning.

Sprinkles of rain were reported around 11 a.m. today throughout the county. The weatherman predicted cloudy skies and a few light showers in the San Francisco Bay Area tonight, with clearing skies tomorrow.

Thief Steals Dead Man's Belongings

Mrs. Helen Hamilton of 23 Glenn Drive told Mill Valley police that $830 in cash was stolen from her home while she was attending the funeral of her husband, Frank Thomas Hamilton, between 12:45 and 2:50 p.m. yesterday. Some of the money was removed from the wallet of her late husband, she said.

Hamilton, who was 57, died Saturday of a heart attack.

On her return from the funeral, Mrs. Hamilton said, she noticed the drawers of her husband's dresser in the bedroom had been rifled and money was taken from his wallet which had been in the top drawer. Stolen were four $100 bills, one $50 bill, nine $20 bills and assorted $5 and $1 bills.

Sixty silver dollars in a leather pouch were taken from the bottom drawer, and about $70 in rolled coins from the same dresser. An undetermined amount of money was also taken from an American Cancer Society collection envelope.

Mrs. Hamilton said entry was apparently made through the front door, which was unlocked.

Mrs. Hamilton's son, Sp/5 Brooks Hamilton, stationed with the Army in Bangkok, Thailand, missed his connections and arrived home too late for the funeral.

Bartender On Witness Stand

They face open murder charges in the fatal shooting the night of May 23 of Richard Ghilotti, 59, the contractor.

Cannon said Ghilotti, a widower, was in the bar first. Mrs. Calani and Wirt came in later that Saturday evening and each had two drinks, whiskey and water, as they chatted with Ghilotti.

Cannon said he overheard them once talking about antiques Ghilotti had at his home. The three left sometime before dark, but Cannon said he wasn't sure they all left together.

Cannon said Ghilotti and Wirt had met casually last summer in a bar where Cannon previously worked. He said he thought Mrs. Calani was Wirt's wife.

Martial Law Threatened In Korea

Park

More than 6,000 students overran police lines in a rock-throwing riot in Kwangju, 150 miles south of Seoul. Police tried to scatter the students with tear gas, but they squatted in front of the provincial government building and shouted for Park's resignation and the lifting of martial law in Seoul.

Heavy troop reinforcements kept Seoul quiet, enforcing martial law proclaimed by Park in the capital after 30,000 students and adults rioted yesterday.

Ethiopian Envoy To Sweden Shot

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Ethiopian ambassador to Sweden was shot and seriously wounded today by his Polish chauffeur, the Stockholm Criminal Police reported.

The police said Ambassador Abate Agede was hit by three revolver bullets. The shooting occurred on the embassy grounds.

A police spokesman said the chauffeur, whose name was withheld, had received orders from the ambassador which he refused to obey. During the argument, the Pole suddenly drew his revolver and fired three shots, the spokesman said.

Typhoid Cases Up

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The number of cases in Amerdeen's typhoid epidemic rose to 318 today, and the city health officer warned the disease may sweep through the British Isles. During the night, 17 more persons were admitted to hospitals, making a total of 275 confirmed cases and 43 suspected.

Terrorist Attack

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algerian government radio said today that members of a terrorist group who attacked police in front of President Ahmed Ben Bella's home Sunday have been arrested. The radio said five persons were arrested.

Five Face Trial

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — Five Cuban refugees and three Americans seized near Cuba yesterday by the British destroyer Decoy faced trial here today on charges of entering the Bahamas illegally. The reported discovery of 1,000 rounds of ammunition aboard the launch in which the party was fleeing from Anguila (Eel) Key made it appear that the group was preparing to raid Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Quake In Italy

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—Several seconds of earth shocks sent thousands of alarmed residents fleeing into the streets last night in two mountain towns southeast of Naples. Only slight damage to buildings was reported in Paterno—and none in Padula.

Meat Rationing

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Striving to ease a beef shortage in beef-producing Argentina, President Arturo Illia has ordered meat rationing and strict control of exports. Illia signed decrees yesterday banning beef sales two days a week. Two years of drought have drastically reduced Argentina's herds.

Ringo Recovering

LONDON (AP) — Ringo Starr, drummer of the Beatles musical group, was recovering today from a bout of tonsilitis and laryngitis. Starr collapsed at a recording session yesterday and was taken to a hospital.

Quickie Divorce

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—The 12-year marriage of singer Abbe Lane and band leader Xavier Cugat ended with a quickie divorce in Juarez's Civil Courtr yesterday. "The divorce was so quick, I still don't know what I'm doing," said Miss Lane a few hours later in an interview at an airport in San Antonio, Tex. Cugat didn't contest the divorce.

Goldwater Win Called 'Disaster'

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—The Daily Mirror said today the election of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) to the presidency of the United States "would be a disaster."

"Goldwater is an isolationist, an advocate of diplomatic brinkmanship, a segregationist, the darling of the rag-bag right wing and incapable of rallying the divided Republican Party," the Mirror said in a comment on the outcome of the California primary.

The editorial said Govs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York or William Scranton of Pennsylvania, or Ambassador to Saigon Henry Cabot Lodge "would be vastly preferable to Senator Goldwater" as a prospective president.

LBJ Seems Pleased At Idea Of Goldwater As Opponent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's Republican presidential primary seems to have pleased at least one Democrat — President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The chief executive hasn't reacted directly to Goldwater's narrow win over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. However, a couple of straws in the wind, as it were, seemed to point up the response in the administration camp.

1. Johnson aides, who normally mirror the President's attitudes, declined today to reject suggestions that Goldwater's triumph was pleasing to them. Quite the contrary, they beamed.

2. The president himself took another indirect swipe at Goldwater — something he obviously delights in doing — in a speech Wednesday at New London, Conn.

Before he was assassinated, President John F. Kennedy left little doubt that he wanted Goldwater as his 1964 opponent. He obviously felt he could fare best campaigning against someone who could be counted on to offer voters a sharp alternative to Kennedy policies.

During the past six months, Johnson has said little or nothing that has been critical, even directly, of such potential Republican opponents as Rockefeller, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Henry Cabot Lodge or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In fact, the President has heaped praise on Lodge, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Two Republicans have been placed by Johnson in a somewhat different category. They are Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president, and Goldwater.

In New London Wednesday, Johnson said the United States must have varied strength to meet varied dangers.

He added, pointedly:

"The response must suit the threat. Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons, display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race."

Goldwater had recently discussed the possible use of low-yield nuclear weapons to strip the leaves from jungle trees in Vietnam so Communist guerrillas could be exposed from the air.

Foreign Editors Shaken By Goldwater Success

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In London, the Guardian described Goldwater as an "18th century individualist strayed by mistake into the wrong epoch, a sort of Rip Van Winkle who has been asleep since about 1776."

The Times of London, under the headline "Shock from California," said the thought that Goldwater had even the faintest chance of reaching the White House would be enough to shake faith in the maturity and stability of American politics."

The Finnish Socialist organ called Goldwater a "dangerous man," and said it is "ever more important that the Democratic Party retain its power in the United States."

The Swedish daily newspaper Hufvudstadbladet said nomination of Goldwater "might slow the positive progress which since Eisenhower's presidency has dominated policy in the United States."

The Swedish liberal newspaper Dagens Nyheter said Goldwater's win was "a victory for the stupidity and the massive ignorance of the Republican voters."

The independent newspaper Combat described Goldwater as "a personality dangerous to world peace."

Goldwater, Salinger Wins Mean Reshufflings Inside State Parties

Sen. Bary Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, close as it was, put conservative Republicans in position to complete their takeover of the state GOP.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic elements who backed State Controller Alan Cranston in the U.S. Senate race faced a challenge by the successful forces behind the winner of the Democratic nomination, Pierre Salinger.

The post-election motto in both parties was "united front." Prospects for achieving it, however, were uncertain.

Goldwater made his most effective showing in Los Angeles County, where he outpolled Rockefeller by enough — 158,150—to offset the governor's Northern California strength. A margin of nearly 50,000 in Orange County also contributed importantly.

There's little doubt that the Republican State Central Committee, only major party organization still not controlled by the Goldwater camp, will name a Goldwater backer as state chairman Aug. 1. He is Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of La Jolla, now vice chairman.

In addition, under state law, the 86-member Goldwater delegation to the Republican National Convention will select California's two GOP national committeemen for the next four years. They'll replace Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, who supported Rockefeller, and Patricia Hitt of Orange, who was neutral in the presidential primary.

On the Democratic side, party chiefs acted quickly to mend the fences knocked down in the blistering Senate contest between Salinger and Cranston.

Pledging to support Salinger, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday, "We expect to present a united fronti n November from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

The bustling former White House press secretary got expressions of support as well from Cranston and Tom Carvey Jr., president of the 70,000-member California Democratic Council, which had endorsed Cranston.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a prime target of Cranston's campaign, emerged from the battle stronger than ever in Democratic ranks. Unruh, who split with Brown to push Salinger's candidacy, said:

"This should lay to rest once and for all the phony charge of bossism that some people have tried to raise."

Worker Plummets To Death In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Napa construction worker fell to his death yesterday from the 13th story of the telephone building currently being built at 666 Folsom Street.

The coroner's office said Williard B. Love, 50, apparently fell after he slipped on an oil slick.

Two Miners Die

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP)—Two veteran miners died yesterday in a rock cave-in deep inside a central Utah coal mine. A third escaped unhurt, but four rescuers suffered minor injuries in a second rockfall as they tried to remove the two victim's bodies.

County Educator Group Installs

Edward C. Pino, superintendent of Reed School District, yesterday was installed as president of the Marin Assn. of School Administrators at a luncheon meeting at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Howard F. Brose, superintendent of the West Marin School District, was installed as secretary. New president-elect is Bert C. Corona, superintendent of San Rafael schools.

The superintendents recommended the basic course of study which has been adopted by Alameda and Contra Costa County schools.

Piano Playing Candidate Vies With Hoofer For Senate

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A "piano player" and a "hoofer" were quietly mapping out political strategy today which each thinks will get him to Washington as the U.S. Senator from California.

Victorious Democrat Pierre Salinger said he saw his race against former actor-dancer George Murphy, the Republican victor, as a match involving "a piano player against a hoofer."

"I concede that Mr. Murphy is a better tap dancer than I, but I know I can take him at the piano. I never heard of a tap dancer making it in Washington," joked Salinger yesterday before leaving for a rest in Palm Springs.

The grey-haired Murphy smiled when newsmen asked questions concerning his dancing and film acting days. "The late-late shows on TV haven't hurt me a bit. Just the other day a movie fan asked me, "didn't you used to be George Murphy?"

Meanwhile state controller Alan Cranston, defeated by the rotund, cigar-smoking Salinger, returned to Sacramento with no plans for seeking a higher office. "I see no immediate opportunity to run for a higher political office," Cranston said. He said he would run again for state controller in 1966.

All appeared relatively quiet on the Salinger-Murphy front, but it obviously was a quiet before the storm which could erupt at any time. The primary victors are far apart on the issues.

Murphy promised the goshdarndest" campaign yet and said he would attempt to grab some of the "disenchanted" Democrats who backed Cranston in the primary.

Salinger, who spent election night hopping all over the state, wound up shaking hands yesterday at an auto plant in Pico-Rivera.

STATE BOARD GIVES PAY TV GO-AHEAD

Public Utilities Commission Ignores Antis' Request For Delay Pending Initiative Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Pacific Telephone Co. to carry out the terms of its contract with Subscription Television, Inc., paving the way for pay-TV in the Los Angeles area.

Opponents of pay-TV previously have requested a delay of the PUC's decision until after the November election. They claimed that an initiative would be presented which would prohibit pay-TV.

However, the commission said that it was "not determining the relative merits of pay-TV as opposed to free television."

"The question of whether the people of California should have pay-TV is not for the commission to decide, provided the transmission of pay-TV does not impair the ability of a public utility to provide service to its other services," it said.

The PUC added that the right of Subscription Television to enter in the business is specifically permitted under state law and that to defer a decision pending possible elective action next November "would constitute an abuse of discretion."

Commissioner George G. Grove dissented with the contract authorization, maintaining that Subscription TV should be found to be a public utility.

The PT&T contract provides for transmission of pay-TV in an area of Los Angeles bordered by Overland Avenue, La Cineda, Pico, Exposition and Venice boulevards. The area contains about 10,766 housing units.

It provides for a $679,400 deposit by Subscription Television, Inc., which the commission said was sufficient to protect Pacific Telephone against possible loss in the event of an early termination of service.

The deposit is the total of uncoverable costs of installations by the city. Subscription Television's annual bill will be an additional $273,313.

Veteran Sheriff Dies

TV Czar Sees All Color Soon

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Company (NBA), said last night that educational television promised to add another dimension to the medium not only as a teaching device but as a regular program source emphasizing specialized information and cultural programming.

In a speech to 400 executives from independent television and radio station affiliates at the annual NBC convention Sarnoff also said the public benefitted from group ownership of broadcasting stations.

He added that those who equated "bigness with badness" clouded true consderations of competition.

Sarnoff also touched on the progress of color television.

"Color is now rapidly moving toward the inevitable time when it will supplant black and white as the basic medium," he predicted. "The challenge here is not so much to those of us who have pioneered in color and are beginning to realize its benefits, but to those who have lagged behind.

"Any broadcaster—network or station—who is unwilling to participate in advancing this forward movement of television is shirking his responsibilities—and neglecting his opportunities — as much as if he failed to keep his equipment and facilities up to date or disregarded avenues toward program improvement to provide the best possible service," Sarnoff warned.

He also called upon his listeners to be "alert to pressures for expediting" ultra high frequency development "artificially and sustaining it synthetically." He said this would hurt broadcasting's competitive framework.

Package Bites Hand That Delivers It

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Postmen may expect to be bitten by dogs but not by packages they deliver.

Red Troops Conquer Vietnam Stronghold

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist Viet Cong platoon overran and seized a small government outpost, 17 miles northwest of Saigon, Wednesday morning, military authorities here announced today.

The outpost, at My Hanh, was mamed by 26 paramilitary self-defense corpsmen. Initial reports said one of the defenders was killed and 15 were captured. Viet Cong casualties were not given.

MEDIEVAL SYMBOL REVIVED

Tam Election Tally Meets More Delay

Final results of the Tamalpais unification election will not be known before tomorrow afternoon, Asst. County Supt. of Schools Robert Stannard said today.

He said a special crew of counters is being hired to tally the results. He said tally sheets from three precincts were missing and that other tally sheets did not have the precinct numbers written on them, so that double checks against ballots will be necessary in some cases.

Because the unification election was not consolidated with the state primary Tuesday, the responsibility for counting results fell on the county schools office, rather than the county clerk. But no arrangements were made by either office for a count on election night.

Stannard said that because the election was not consolidated, procedures listed in the state education code must be followed, rather than those in the government code.

The major difference is that absentee ballots will not be opened until the official canvass Tuesday by the county board of education, at a special meeting at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center. Absentee ballots for the rest of the election were counted election night.

BROWN

hoped Cranston would drop his law-suit against Salinger, filed as a result of Salinger charges that Cranston obtained campaign contributions from inheritance tax appraisers in return for jobs.

He said no date had been set for a unity conference between Cranston and Salinger "but I am sure you will see Mr. Cranston and Mr. Salinger working side by side."

He also disclosed he had lunch with Don Bradley, his own campaign manager who quit and went to work for Salinger.

Was he sorry he had taken sides?

"A governor has to get into the ballgame on these things," he said.

"There won't be homeruns all the time, sometimes there'll be strikeouts."

Brown said he saw Goldwater's California victory as the possible "beginning of a national realignment" of political parties.

"I think the Democratic party should welcome some of the moderates of the Republican Party," he said.

He predicted Goldwater will win his party's nomination next month.

Brown was also cheerful about his delegation's 2-1 victory over one headed by Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty. Both slates to the Democratic national convention were pledged to President Johnson.

"We didn't spend a nickel or make a single speech yet we won 2-1," he said.

HIGH RISE

tain circumstances as set forth in the zoning ordinance for granting a variance have been met. These include acknowledgement that exceptional circumstances exist, that the variance is necessary for preservation of property rights, that it would not adversely affect health, safety or welfare or be detrimental to other property in the area.

Mayor Brixon observed that "this is an unusual development, and the developers are entitled to use the land to its utmost."

Earlier Niels Schultz Jr. told the council that this is one of the few exceptional projects Larkspur will have brought before it. "An exceptional project demands exceptional treatment," he said.

Four councilmen favored expressing their intent to grant the use permit. Councilman Smith was opposed. Actual granting of the permit was delayed because councilmen wanted to include provisions assuring that adequate parking will be available, that esthetic features will be satisfactory and green belts will be retained.

Dr. Siemens said that if the 92 parking spaces shown in the plan prove inadequate there is enough land on the site to add more. He said bus service will be available for residents.

Siemens said entry fees for the center probably will start about $10,000, and monthly payments start $200 to $350, including comprehensive medical and hospital care. Top fee may be as high as $40,000 for a couple, with a monthly charge of about $475.

Public comment both favored and opposed the project. Most of the opponents said they approved the idea of the project, but were against the height. Others felt it would set a precedent, and urged the council to stick by its zoning ordinance or else change it.

Former mayor Daniel Allen said the project was the "equivalent of light industry, in a form which is complete profit. The city cannot afford to lose it."

One man commented that a high-rise structure in a community of homes would destroy a "peaceful setting." Another warned that the council's decision "may change the community for good."

Fire Chief George Bartram said the center would not of itself require additional fire equipment but would add to an already existing need for aerial apparatus..

Siemens said the project would preserve as much of natural beauty as possible, bring in a sizable amount of tax money and business, and serve a useful need for retired citizens.

City Manager Piper reported it would take eight industries like McGraw-Hill Book Co. in Corte Madera to equal the assessed value of the proposed center, and would result in land cover of 20.6 acres. He said revenue to the schools would provide the full cost for 80 children. Multi-family or single family development on the site would result in deficits for the schools, he pointed out. The center would be the only type of development to provide a percapita revenue greater than per capita cost of city government, Piper said.

Schultz said no other site exists in the city to accommodate a project of this scope.

Councilman Marker raised the question of whether residents of the retirement center—about 338 of them—would support the schools, or make it even more difficult to pass bond issues or tax increases. Nobody could answer that.

The meeting adjourned at 1:25 a.m.

PARK

were probably opposed, not because of the question of water purity, but because they do not want an increase in traffic past their estates if the state purchases the land for a state park.

There is no intent to create another Lake Berryessa, with power boating, Fletcher declared.

Nelson said a map issued by the state on its plans for a state park showed a large area near Ross and San Anselmo in bright orange and marked "intensive use." There has been no definition of that term, Nelson said, but one is needed.

He suggested that an official from the division of beaches and parks be called to appear before the commission at its July 1 meeting to explain the plans. He added that even after the state takes control, the water district and state department of health would still be able to veto any proposed use of the lakes.

"There will be no hordes of people or power boats," said Fletcher. "There would probably be no boating at all."

'Diamond Jim' Pleads Guilty

James A. (Diamond Jim) Pattillo, the fun-loving adventurer who sailed away from Sausalito in December with some of his company's money and a pretty blonde, pleaded guilty in San Francisco Superior Court yesterday to a charge of embezzlement.

Other charges, including several counts of forgery against the 36-year-old San Franciscan, were dismissed. Pattillo admitted taking more than $100,000 from the wine cask firm where he was secretary-treasurer.

Boys Charged For Motor Scooter Theft

Two 17-year-old San Rafael boys were booked at Juvenile Hall yesterday on charges of stealing a motor scooter from Terra Linda High School parking lot.

Barry L. Soutilier of 20 Dominican Drive, San Rafael, reported the theft to San Rafael police at 3 p.m. A bulletin was issued to Fairfax and San Anselmo police to be on a lookout for the scooter, last seen heading along a fire trail to that area.

At 4:15 p.m. Fairfax Police Officer Edward McClintock stopped the scooter, with two juveniles aboard.

The driver and another juvenile, located in San Rafael later, were charged with the theft. The juvenile passenger, not involved in the theft, was released with a warning.

Span Victim's Body Is Sought

Coast Guard boats were searching at noon today for the body of a Golden Gate Bridge jumper, tentatively identified as Joseph J. Kakez, 50, a Livermore tool and die maker.

Kakez, whose home is at 1017 Aberdeen Avenue, Livermore, is believed to be the man who leaped off the span at 10:17 a.m. today. His abandoned car was found just north of the south tower of Golden Gate Bridge.

Kakez's wife, who works in a store in San Francisco, was immediately called to the bridge toll plaza. California Highway Patrol Officer Charles Heart, investigating the case, said bridge workers may have seen the man jump.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Grace McDonald Dies At 74

Mrs. Grace McDonald, 74, of 805 Diablo Avenue, Novato, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

She was the wife of Daniel F. McDonald, a retired Army master sergeant. They moved to Novato from San Francisco on her husband's retirement 10 years ago.

Mrs. McDonald was born Aug. 10, 1889, in Wellington, Kan., and grew up in Norman, Okla. She worked as a book buyer in Detroit, Mich., for many years before moving to San Francisco 20 years ago.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Messner of Darrouzett, Tex., and Mrs. Dora Mayberry of Bakersfield.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

HELEN BLACK

Helen Lowry Black, 49, a former resident of San Rafael, died at her apartment in Stockton where she moved recently to work in sales of women's apparel.

Word of her death reached the Independent-Journal today. San Joaquin County Coroner Mike Canlis reported her body was found Sunday. She had evidently been dead since last Thursday.

He ruled that death was due to natural causes, possibly a heart attack.

She was the former wife of Col. T. S. Lowry, vice-president of Pacific Far East Lines. The couple was divorced 15 years ago.

She leaves a son, Barron Housel of Norman, Okla.

CECILE BOOTH

Cecile Booth of 56 San Rafael Avenue, San Anselmo, died at a local hospital yesterday after a long illness. She was 73 years old.

She was a four-year resident of Marin. She was a retired teacher, having taught for 35 years in various schools in Southern California, and was a member of the Marin County Retired Teachers Assn. She was a native of Princeton, Ind.

Other survivors include two brothers, William P. Hughes of Big Bear Lake, San Bernardino County, and John L. Hughes of Pacific Palisades, and two sisters, Mrs. Helen Shjarback of Arcadia, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Lucile Templeton of Big Bear Lake.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Inurnment will be private.

MRS. PASZTI

Mrs. Frances K. Paszti, 88, of 25 Sea Wolf Passage, Corte Madera, died yesterday at home after a long illness.

A native of Hungary, she had lived in California for seven years and in Marin County for six years. She was the widow of John Paszti, a building contractor in Detroit, their former home.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Helene M. Flynn of Corte Madera, wife of Rear Adm. John F. Flynn, USN, (ret.); Mrs. Frances Bolke of Yucaipa, San Bernardino County, and Mrs. Marie Hynes of Albuquerque, N.M.; a son, Edward Nemeth of Detroit, Mich.; eight grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren.

Requiem High Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Patrick's Church, Larkspur. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Adlai's Son May Race Ike Brother

CHICAGO (UPI)—Illinois State Democratic Chairman James A. Rowan said last night that the son of U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson "had been mentioned" as a possible candidate on the party's slate for the state house of representatives.

Rowan said Adlai E. Stevenson III, 33, a Chicago attorney, "would strengthen our ticket."

Sheriff Talks In Marin City

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos last night told more than 100 persons attending a Marin City Improvement Assn. meeting that the Marin City area can expect "full cooperation" of his department in the future in striving for better law enforcement.

His statement came on heels of a recent riot in which three officers were injured while attempting an arrest in Marin City. The sheriff also told the group, meeting at the community lounge of Marin City, that it is unfortunate that violation of the law by a small faction causes the majority of residents to suffer.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Jury Convicts 13 As Sit-In Trials Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another 13 civil rights demonstrators, who figured in sit-ins at the Cadillac agency, were convicted Wednesday night.

The charges against nine of them were disturbing the peace, unlawful assembly, trespassing and failing to disperse. A jury of nine women and three men took nearly five hours to agree on the guilty verdict.

The other four were convicted of all charges except disturbing the peace.

The trial was the 19th since the mass trials of civil rights demonstrators began April 15. So far, seven groups have been convicted. There have been two split verdicts, where some defendants were convicted and others acquitted.

Police Say Dad Fed Sons Dope

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A father was arrested Wednesday night and accused of addicting his two teen-age sons to an opium compound he extracted from a drug purchased at drug stores.

James B. Yeargin was charged with manufacturing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of his sons age 14 and 15.

Yeargin was held in lieu of $2,500 bond. The boys were detained at Juvenile Court.

Subway Terror Still Going On

Ismael Valez, 42, was stabbed in the chest by an unidentified Negro on an IRT station at 72nd St. and Broadway, police reported. The assailant fled.

Valez was admitted to a hospital, which reported he was in satisfactory condition.

He told police he had just gotten off a train when the man plunged a knife into him without saying a word.

ARMFUL OF INFORMATION—A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., president of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, hands County Clerk George H. Gnoss (back to camera) receipt for copies of assessment rolls for Sausalito area, which were to be available for inspection by property owners today and will be again tomorrow and June 11 and 12 at Sausalito Chamber headquarters, 815 Bridgeway. Protests against reappraisals resulted in a meeting last night in Sausalito, with another scheduled at 8 p.m. today by the Sausalito Citizens Council in Central School auditorium. (Independent-Journal photo)

Irate Residents Map War On Reappraisals

A campaign to outlaw "cycle reappraisals" of real estate was launched at a meeting of more than 300 persons in Sausalito last night.

At the opening of the meeting in IDESST Hall, chairman Robert Goshen of the newly formed Sausalito Taxpayers Committee, which called the meeting, informed the crowd to save their individual complaints until later. The meeting was called, he said, to inform them how to do something about assessment increases.

Distributed were four mimeographed letters, directed to the Tamalpais High School District board of trustees, Sausalito City Council, Sausalito School District Board, and Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The letters, signed and returned to the committee by most of those present, object to the "cycle reappraisal" method used by County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel and urge the official bodies to join in sponsoring state legislation outlawing it. They also urge governmental economy.

The protesters backed their complaints with money, too. A collection for funds to push the protest campaign netted $240.

Said Goshen: "We're faced with probably the largest problem that has touched us: an across-the-board raise in assessments of 100 to 400 per cent."

He predicted residents of other areas reappraised this year will join the protest movement. He said 12,000 parcels of land were reappraised, including Marin City, Tamalpais Valley, Homestead Valley, Tennessee Valley, Muir Beach, part of Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Inverness, Point Reyes and the east shore of Tomales Bay.

Sausalito had 2,400 parcels involved, he reported.

Besides the mimeographed letters, the committee distributed "work sheets" almost identical to the official protest forms prepared by the county. Property owners were asked to fill these out and return them within a day or two the sheets so a compilation of "hard facts" can be presented soon to the board of supervisors.

The sheets ask the taxpayer's name, address, land identification, assessor's assessed value, landowner's own opinion of full cash value, and the latter's suggested assessed value.

Goshen, who said his committee of 10 was formed after receiving the May 7 letters of assessment increases by the county, emphasized the meeting was only to inform interested persons how they could collectively and individually protest most effectively.

A fund collection to continue the protest netted $240.

Housing Initiative Left To Voters' Say

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The initiative measure to nullify the Rumford Housing Act was left to the "power of the people" by the California Supreme Court yesterday—but the high tribunal warned of "grave questions" concerning the constitutionality of the proposed amendment to the state constitution.

The measure is sponsored by the California Real Estate Assn. (CREA), which argues that the unrestricted disposal or use of property is an inalienable right.

Nathaniel Colley, a Negro attorney from Sacramento, petitioned the court for a hearing on the initiative on grounds that it would violate state and federal constitutions—even if adopted by the voters.

The court, in denying Colley's writ of mandamus, held that:

"Although there are grave questions whether the proposed amendment to the California constitution is valid under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, we are of a view that it would be more appropriate to pass on these questions after the election, should the proposed amendment be adopted, then interfere with the power of the people to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, and to adopt or reject the same at the polls."

Two of the justices, Raymond E. Peters and Mathew O. Tobriner, held that Colley's petition should be granted.

Colley's plea for an injunction previously was turned down by Sacramento Superior Court Judge Irving H. Perluss, who also said that constitutional questions would "more appropriately be passed on" after the election, if the initiative succeeds.

After Colley appealed to the Supreme Court, the state board of education requested Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk to intervene on Colley's side as a friend of the court. The board said its action was prompted by a fear that the initiative campaign would inspire violence in the state's schools next fall.

In effect, the initiative would allow property owners to refuse to sell or rent to persons because of their race or religion. It also would amend the state constitution to forbid further legislation similar to the 1963 Rumford Act, which the CREA believes means "forced housing."

She's Not Nautical Nor Stage-Minded

LOUISVILLE (AP)—An Indiana University student, placing a poster in a laundry for the school's traveling showboat, was questioned by a woman. The student explained that the showboat was undergoing a revival—and asked whether she was going.

"Oh, I don't go to a showboat," was the reply, "I go to a regular church."

Voyage Teaches Marinite Lessons

Lessons in international relations have crept into a San Anselmo man's six-month voyage to help chart the Indian Ocean, according to the parents of Danford A. Moore of 1-B Oak Knoll Avenue.

Moorerecently wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin G. Moore of 460 Canal Street, San Rafael, about his visit to Colombo, Ceylon, whose people he found friendly in spite of living under a government which is "sort of pro-Communist."

Moore, an ensign with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, left San Francisco in February aboard the survey ship Pioneer. He is one of a few officers accompanied by numerous civilian experts who are taking part in the International Indian Ocean Expedition 1964.

Several countries are involved in the expedition, goal of which is the charting of one of the last ocean areas in the world still uncharted. Moore's ship is expected to return Aug. 11, after touching at such spots as Singapore, Calcutta, Djakarta, and Guam.

Moore reported Ceylon's standard of living much higher than India's, and the cities cleaner.

"If a person is hungry, all he has to do is climb the nearest coconut tree," he explained in the letter.

"Most people I talked to did not like the government," he said. "The businessmen dislike it because U.S. trade has been cut down, and also because the U.S. Navy, with its sailors eager to spend money, is not welcome."

Moore said the survey crew encountered some criticism from a "left-wing newspaper," and the government objected to surveying of one area near the northeast coast of Ceylon. "Everybody else welcomed us."

"Very few passenger ships stop here any more," he said, "and it is too bad, because Ceylon is a very beautiful place to visit."

The Pioneer left Colombo May 25. Tomorrow it is scheduled to reach Penang, Malaysia. Moore said he and others would be initiated into the sailor's mythical "Ancient Order of the Deep" after having crossed the equator twice during this period.

Moore's wife, Frances, a Briton, who recently became an American citizen, remained at their San Anselmo home while her husband went on the ocean expedition.

Judge Rules 'No' On Cleopatra Try

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge on Wednesday denied a motion by 20th Century-Fox studies for dismissal of a suit brought by actress Elizabeth Taylor and ex-husband Eddie Fisher over proceeds from the movie "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor and Fisher own 85 per cent of MCL, a Swiss corporation, which in turn owns 35 per cent of the $40 million movie.

The firm's attorneys have asked that all prints and negatives of the film be placed in receivership, contending distribution has been mishandled.

Briton Favors Annual Summit Conference

LONDON (AP) — Labor Party leader Harold Wilson returned today from a four-day visit to Moscow and said he thought the Western powers should support the idea of annual summit meetings.

"I think it is the experience of anyone who has dealt with the Soviet leaders that the decisions are taken right at the top," he told newsmen.

Scranton Rules Self Out As Goldwater Running Mate

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton today ruled out any possibility that he might accept the vice presidential nomination on a Republican ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scranton said he would not consider this the "sincere and honest draft" he would need before becoming a national candidate.

He also said he would reject a vice presidential bid even if Goldwater specifically asked him to be on the ticket.

Scranton told his weekly news conference that he believed Goldwater's victory in California almost assured his selection as the GOP presidential nominee.

But he added he did not believe the California results conclusively ruled out Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

"I congratulate both of them for their performances," Scranton said. "Both did an outstanding piece of campaigning and the vote was very close."

Viet Police Nab Red Terrorists, Solve Bombing

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon police nabbed four Communist terrorists today and said one admitted planting a grenade at a Saigon bar Feb. 1 that killed one American serviceman and seriously injured another.

That terrorists was Pham Van Tu, 36, police said. He and two others arrested today posed as taxi drivers.

Their arrest followed the apprehension of a senior Viet Cong agent, Nguyen Van Cu, 38, who was waiting for other agents at Gia Dinh village for a secret meeting.

Police said Van Cu's assignment was to enlist boys and girls into the underground movement.

Goodbye To Little Blue Toonerville Trolleys

ROME (AP) — The little blue Toonerville Trolley trains that have been hauling commuters and tourists between Rome and the castled Alban Hills for 60 years will be sent to the barns forever.

The old trolleys, which went into service in 1904, will be replaced this year by buses.

Bookmobile Service Will Begin On July 1

Summer bookmobile service in San Rafael will begin July 1, Librarian Vivian R. Smith announced today.

The service, to continue through August, is to test the need for branch libraries in the city and, at the same time, supply service in outlying areas.

The bookmobile will be on rental from the county library. It will operate on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

On Monday it will serve the north San Rafael area, being at Vallecito School from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Wednesday it will be at Gary's Market in Loch Lomond from 10 a.m. to noon and at Church of the Redeemer in Glenwood from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Thursday it will be at the Discount Food Store in the Bret Harte area from 10 a.m. to noon and at Sil's Market in the Canal area from 1 to 3 p.m.

What's Happened To Semesters?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Starting in fall 1965, Ohio State University will standardize the length of all four quarters of annual instruction at 50 class days and 5 examination days.

At present, quarters vary in length by as much as five days. Officials say this will enable the university to step up its teaching schedule in certain critical areas.

Poignant Plea Made To End Neglect Of Senior Citizens

A poignant appeal for an end to neglect of senior citizens and their needs in Marin County was made today by Harry C. Heifetz, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee on problems facing the elderly.

Heifetz was one of four panelists on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" discussing "Can Elderly People Afford to Live in Marin County?"

He declared: "Here we have a situation where in a country which we like to think is the world's most enlightened, in this country's most rapidly growing state and in this state's highest income county, there has been a near-total disregard for the Biblical, traditional respect for our elders, their just due and their needs. . . .

"The number one task is to create housing facilities to make it possible for even the poorest of our elders to live with dignity. This he is entitled to by virtue of his ego alone. We must develop the proper respect for our elders so that we may give them dignity."

The other panelists were Richard Phenix, county coordinator for community services for the elderly; Roger P. Garety, chairman of Citizens for Housing of Marin's Elderly, and Fran Jenkins, director of Marin County Real Estate Board and HOME vice-chairman.

Garety explained the purposes of HOME, which was created by the board of supervisors to study methods through which the problem of housing the county's elderly could be solved.

Phenix said one-half of the older people in the county cannot afford to pay more than $75 per month for housing as they have incomes of $3,500 a year or less.

Adding to Phenix's statement, Jenkins declared, "Except in isolated instances, I don't believe that elderly people earning less than $3,500 a year can satisfy their housing needs here while coping with today's open real estate market.

"Present day land costs, especially in the type of area where the elderly would care to live, new construction costs, real estate taxes and all the other cumulative costs, make it economically impossible for private investment capital to supply the need for people in this category."

He suggested that private capital which was encouraged by government, planners and residents of the county could provide an answer to the elderly's housing problem.

Supporting Heifetz, he declared, "People must develop a sense of responsibility towards the elderly. Partial solutions to the problem might lie in mobile home parks, cluster housing, extensive remodeling of well-situated older homes, high-rise condominium apartments, and institutional homes and hospital for the aged.

Each member of the panel, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, expressed pleasure at Larkspur City Council's approval last night of a proposed 12-story retirement center and San Rafael City Council's study of low-cost one-story apartments for the elderly.

Panelists also were optimistic about creation of county ordinances allowing mobile home parks and providing for some kind of tax relief for the elderly.

"We are most gratified by the fact that we have a board of supervisors with the courage to lead the way in helping the elderly," Heifetz said.

"And it is high time, too, for a county which has thought of itself as the richest, the fattest and the prettiest to seek to become the most compassionate and respectful."

Elderly Man Hurt By Faiting Spell

Cecil B. Rankin, 82, of 42 Alexander Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a cut above his left eye when he fell while sitting on concrete steps along Fourth Street, just east of Ross Valley Drive, at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

San Rafael police reported Rankin sat down because he felt faint and then toppled over onto the concrete steps. His head struck a broken bottle, police said.

Mongrel Dog Sought —Bit Boy

Warren has taken his first rabies shot at the Rabies Control Board at Hamilton Air Force Base and will have to take the series unless the dog is found.

Anyone who has any information about the dog is requested to notify San Rafael police, who want to find out if the dog has been given rabies shots.

Late S.F. Supervisor Succeeded By His Son

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John A. Ertola, 37, yesterday was named to replace his late father on the board dof supervisors and was immediately sworn into office.

San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley announced the appointment of the attorney and disclosed he was fulfilling the request of Dr. Charles A. Ertola shortly before he died May 20.

He'll Pay Anyone's Parking Tag By Proxy

LONG BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — A college teacher is offering—for a $3 fee—to go to court and pay traffic fines for violators unwilling to take the time to do it themselves.

Guy Corriero, 28, an art instructor at the Long Island Agricultural and Technical Institute, says he has placed about 3,500 cards advertising his services on automobile windshields in Nassau County in the past month.

Quick! Pick a Chevrolet and fill in the spaces

Here you are on the brink of vacation time. There's your Chevrolet dealer in the midst of Trade 'N' Travel Time. You two should get together! Object—celebrating the joys of summer in a new Chevrolet.

Why a Chevrolet? Well, with 15 models in four series, what possible reason is there to look further?

Take the Impala Super Sport (and a lot of people do just that). Comes as a Sport Coupe or Convertible. Has trimmings like front bucket seats, center console, special trim—all as standard equipment.

CHEVROLET TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME
FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

And offers a typically Chevrolet array of extra-cost options.

Plain Impalas are anything but. They come in all popular body styles, including wagons. They're dressed up to a fare-thee-well: fully carpeted interiors, upholstery as durable as it is attractive.

Bel Airs and Biscaynes, the lower priced Chevrolets, make a practice of hiding it. All the conveniences, no sacrificing comfort or style.

Did we mention that Trade 'N' Travel Time won't last forever? It won't. So see your Chevrolet dealer. Then go fill in the spaces.

TWO DECADES' DIFFERENCE—Troops of the U.S. forces marched through the streets of Carenton, France, shortly after their June 6, 1944 invasion of the European continent. Today the attack is just a memory, and the town rebuilt. Lower picture shows some of the same structures as the wartime scene. (AP Wirephotos)

D-DAY

ing along the beaches ignore the rusty cables, twisted bits of metal and contorted sections of steel roadway matting. Despite cleanup efforts, enough relics remain to set Utah, Omaha, Gold, June and Sword beaches permanently apart from such stretches of sand as Miami, Newport or Waikiki that have known only peace.

Massive pillboxes dot the coastline. From some the ugly snouts of rusted 88mm German guns still point seaward. Hitler boasted his Third Reich would endure 1,000 years. The pillboxes — impossible to destroy without damaging nearby buildings, and with no commercial salvage value — could conceivably live out the full term of the fallen dictator's shattered dream.

But the personal landmarks that set the scene apart for most soldiers are gone. Wrecked landing craft on the beaches have been removed. Bombed houses have been razed and new ones appear in their places. Church steeples have been restored, broken walls repaired. The myriad signs of a moving army have disappeared. Two exit roads backed through the bluff at Omaha Beach are now only cowpaths.

Four museums have been established to honor the heroism of June 6, 1944. French residents of the area have a lively smile and a warm handshake for any old soldiers who return.

The Allied invasion plan called for night parachute drops by the British at the eastern end of the 60-mile invasion front, and by Americans at the base of the Cherbourg Peninsula at the west. In between, ground forces were to come ashore at dawn at the five designated beaches, under cover of overwhelming naval fire and aerial bombardment.

An engraved marble plaque over the doorway of the "Pegasus Bridge cafe restaurant" proclaims "this was the first house to be liberated during the last hour of 5th June 1944 by men of the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry in the British 6th Airborne Division."

The sign may cheat a few minutes on the time—most records put the landings at shortly after midnight—but the fact remains that the glider landing of six platoons was one of the few operations of the day that went to plan.

The gliders landed beside the bridge over the canal leading from Caen to the sea. The mission of capturing this bridge, and another over the Orne River a half-mile away, was quickly accomplished.

The parachute drops in both British and American sectors often fell far from their marks. Planes carrying the U.S. 82nd and 101st airborne divisions were blown off course by the high winds. The 15,000 men were widely dispersed. Many drowned in water concealed by a grassy surface, or in the channel.

Park Grading Well Underway

Grading is well underway at Victor Jones Memorial Park in Glenwood and paving will be started soon, San Rafael Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota told the Glenwood Homeowners Assn. board Tuesday night.

Contract for the park sprinkler system was awarded Monday night. Bids for construction of restrooms and storage space will be sought June 15, Rodota said. Planting of the turf at the park is scheduled for August.

The Parks and Recreation Department is requesting $20,000 in the 1964-65 city budget for completion of the park in the next year, Rodota reported.

He also announced the summer recreation program at the Glenwood School grounds will be conducted from June 19 to Aug. 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Association board members also sent the city an estimate for repair of the damage to the planter strip at the entrance to Glenwood caused by an auto accident.

Members questioned the need for numerous signs along San Pedro Road advertising Glenwood homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce were appointed co-chairmen to plan a Labor Day program.

This Family Will Have Something To Discuss

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The car that rammed into the rear of Bill Strode's auto was badly smashed.

Officers arrived and Strode told them he was all right but "I'm concerned about my wife."

"Your wife?" exclaimed police.

"Yes," said Strode. "She's in the car that hit me."

They'll Practice What They Preach

Dr. Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley is hiking on Mount Tamalpais on weekends to get in shape for his climb of Mount Whitney June 13 and 14.

Collins will make the 21-mile climb along with two other members of the State Board of Education—Thomas W. Braden of Oceanside, president, and William Norris of Pasadena—as well as about 12 other people, mostly education writers.

"The board is interested in promoting in schools and upgrading where necessary the quality of physical fitness," said Collins. "The board wants to make it known that physical fitness is not just taken for granted. We need to develop physical fitness in our private lives. This will become more and more important as we become more urbanized."

Collins said the board has been critical of public school physical education classes which concentrate on games instead of individual exercises. "P.E.," he pointed out, "is one course which must be given in California schools one hour a day by law."

Collins, who said he goes to a gymnasium to work out about three times a week and likes to ski and keep himself in "pretty good physical shape," said the group will go to Mount Whitney portal at 10 a.m. June 13 at 8,300 feet elevation, then backpack to a trail camp at 12,000 feet.

"On Sunday," he said, "we hike five and one-half miles to the summit, which is 14,495 feet." Whitney is the highest mountain in the United States outside of Alaska.

"I don't expect to have a heart attack," Collins said. "I have been hiking on Mount Tamalpais in preparation for the climb." He said he plans to take along a chunk of cheese.

"I'm looking forward to this," said the dentist. "I love the out-of-doors." Collins lives high on the middle ridge of Mount Tamalpais at 700 Summit Avenue.

Judge Upholds Security Trade By Brokerage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U. S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke decided Wednesday after a five-day hearing against halting the S. E. Jonah and Co. form of stock brokers from dealing in securities.

The Securities and Exchange Commission had sought a preliminary injunction against the firm's trading on charges it was in violation of the SEC's net capital rule which provides a securities dealer must have assets 5 per cent in excess of liabilities.

The SEC alleged in its suit that on April 21, Jonah had a capital deficit showing on its books of $32,433 and total indebtedness of $656,885.

Bike-Car Mishap Injures Boy

A 7-year-old Novato boy suffered minor injuries at 5:15 p.m. yesterday in a bicycle-car accident at Cambridge Street and Arlington Circle, Novato police reported.

Clay Wesley Morgan, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morgan of 505 Stone Drive, was riding his bike south on Cambridge Street when hit by a car driven by Patrick James Healy, 40, of 5 Arlington Court, who was turning onto Cambridge from Arlington Circle, according to police.

Marine Lab On Agenda At College

College of Marin trustees will consider bids for conversion of the college's Bolinas property to a marine biology laboratory at 8 p.m. today in Harlan Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Bids are for work to bring the buildings up to earthquake and fire requirements of the State Division of Architectural standards, and for remodeling to be done during the summer.

The College was given the property, a boathouse and two-story structure, by the Coast Guard in the late 1940s. It has been used for adult education classes and community service groups.

An instructional program in Marine biology will begin in sumer school, with laboratory work to be done temporarily on the Kentfield campus. The program may eventually include research as well as instruction.

College officials believe the program will be the first of its kind for a junior college.

Also on the agenda are a report on adjustment of the insurance claim for the gymnasium fire loss, hiring of James C. Dunn as drama instructor at a salary of $7,850, reports on the California Junior College Assn. board of directors meeting and on junior college legislation, and continuation of budget discussions.

Larkspur Library Unit Member Is Reappointed

Larkspur City Council last night reappointed Mrs. Phillip S. Haly of 141 Via Barranca, Greenbrae, to the city library board for a three-year term.

The council also named Councilman Henry Brocco to serve as liaison with the library board.

The council set for July 1 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on canceling the city's television antenna franchise with Bob's Television, and decided to study a revised franchise ordinance prepared by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper.

Piper said he had received requests for franchises from three firms. The present franchise was issued in 1958, and Piper's revisions cover changes in state law since then.

Councilmen heard a letter of complaint from Malcolm Smith about city employees damaging plants on his property while spraying weeds on Marina Vista Avenue. Piper in a reply said the city has had a spraying program for 10 or 12 years, and has an obligation to maintain roads in safe condition. The city could not be held responsible for damage, he said. Councilmen tabled the matter.

The council had no objection to a request by Peter Gottheiner, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn., for permission to set off fireworks July 4 behind Petrini's Market. The plan must be cleared by the fire chief, the council said.

Mental Health Drive Passes Quarter-Mark

More than $5,000 has been collected during by Mental Health Bell Ringers campaign for $20,000 to support the programs of the Marin Assn. of Mental Health, S. K. Herzog Jr., campaign chairman, announced today.

About half of funds already collected were contributed to participants in the annual Bell Ringers March in residential areas.

Marin Artists' Auction for Mental Health in Sausalito last month contributed $1,139 to the campaign, Herzog announced.

All division chairmen of the drive will report to the association by June 15 when it is hoped that $20,000 will have been collected to meet the needs of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health, 1005 A Street, San Rafael, Herzog said.

Army Engineers Approve Project

Permits will be issued by the Army Corps of Engineers for construction of a dock, float and breakwater on the north shore of Belvedere and for installation of pilings for a house, and dock on the west shore.

No navigational objections to the two projects was received by the corps during the 30-day period after notice, a spokesman for the corps said today.

Tiburon Firemen Fete Departing Volunteer

Last night's meeting of the Tiburon volunteer firemen was a farewell party for Allan A. Olson, who is moving to Charlotte, N.C.

Olson will take Cinders, the fire department mascot, along with him so the dog can be closer to his master, fireman Larry Bogel, who is stationed at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Fire Season Opens

FRESNO (UPI) — The fire hazard and danger season will open officially Sunday in the Sierra and Sequoia National Forests.

Whites Stay As Negroes Move In

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whites haven't been moving out of rental units when Negroes move in, the State Fair Employment Practices Commission says.

The FEPC said it has handled 64 housing complaints since last September, under a law preventing discrimination, and among 46 satisfactory settlements in Southern California there were 10 Negro family move-ins.

"To the best of our knowledge not a single white family has moved out," a spokesman reported Wednesday.

Grazing Lands Urged For Summer Rec Use

James M. Fletcher of the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday asked for a study on possible county leasing of grazing land for summer recreation.

He said cattle in Marin graze many of the hills for only about three months during winter. Much of the rest of the year, the land might be put to recreational use, he suggested.

Commissioner Elizabeth Banning Davies said she had some doubts about such a plan, saying much fencing of land would be required. But she went along with the idea of a study.

The commissioners, noting that the county board of supervisors' session on the parks budget is set for June 25, decided to make a major push to have $5,000 restored for initial development of Stafford Lake near Novato. Commissioner Helen Newman said she felt Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato would support the increase.

The money was cut from the budget requests by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

Mrs. Russell Dwyer, small craft chairman from the Marin County Red Cross Chapter, explained plans for a canoe safety class to be held on the Civic Center lagoon. She asked for official county endorsement of the program, which would allow the Red Cross to charge for the classes, rather than giving them free, as in the past.

Commission Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said that there could probably be no decision by the county, since there may be some liability involved, in time for this year's classes.

Parks director Kelvin H. Nelson suggested the county and federal government split the cost of appraisal of county-owned McClure's and Drake's beaches, as a preliminary to turning the land over to become part of the Point Reyes National Seashore.

He said the cost of the private appraisal would be higher than expected because of special requirements made by the federal government, and the federal government should shoulder the added burden. The commission agreed, but was not optimistic about the National Park Service agreeing.

Nelson read a letter from a contractor estimating it would cost $30,000 to repair storm damage and make the boat dock safe at Miller Park on Tomales Bay. The dock floats were damaged by a recent wind storm.

Nelson said the proposal actually calls for a redesign. The county is committed to maintain the docks, under a contract with the state Wildlife Conservation Board, which paid for the original facilities. He said the conservation board should be approached with a request to help pay for the changes. The commission ordered him to make the request.

Sanitary District Approves Tract

Directors of the Ross Valley Sanitary District last night granted an installation permit to the Del May Investment Co. of San Rafael for a 60-lot tract north of San Francisco Boulevard near Sleepy Hollow in San Anselmo.

The tract will be known as Indian Rock subdivision.

Bridge Director Stymied On Publicity Cutback

A Golden Gate Bridge District director tried unsuccessfully today to eliminate $33,500 in publicity funds from the budget for fiscal 1964-65.

A majority of members of the district's public relations committee voted to continue appropriations of $25,000 to Redwood Empire Assn. and $8,500 to the San Francisco Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The director who tried to eliminate these items was Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco, chairman of the public relations committee.

"I take the position we no longer need publicity or advertising to increase traffic," Leonoudakis said.

He also added that some of the counties in the Redwood Empire are beyond the confines of the bridge district.

"I still think it's beyond the purview of our activities. Our attorney has advised us that it would be illegal and possibly an abuse of our discretion," he said.

Director Dan E. London of San Francisco strongly supported the appropriations. "I have no apologies to make for the funds spent by REA and the San Francisco Visitors Bureau. I think they are spent for a good purpose," he said.

Both Marin directors, Thomas D. Hardcastle and Leland S. Murphy, spoke in favor of continuing the publicity appropriations.

Murphy said he thinks it's good business because tourists for off-peak periods should be encouraged. Hardcastle commented that if the bridge gets more than $25,000 in off-hour tolls because of promotion "I don't think it's improper to make the donation."

Leonoudakis was the only one voting to eliminate the outlay. The recommendation to retain the appropriations will go before the full bridge board during regular budget discussions.

Catholic Class To Graduate

Forty-nine pupils will be graduated frfom eighth grade of Our Lady of Mount Carmel School in Mill Valley at commencement exercises at the church at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Steven Miller will give the valedictory address.

Diplomas will be distributed by Rev. John J. O'Brien, pastor, assisted by Rev. Francis Scanlon. Rev. David Pettingill will give a talk to the graduates. Awards will be distributed at the end of the exercises.

A mass for the graduating class will be said at the church at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, followed by a graduation breakfast in the school hall.

Friday from 7 to 11 p.m. there will be a graduation party at the Outdoor Art Club. Seventh graders will read prophecies for each graduate and graduates will leave their last wills to individuals in the school.

Ruby Won't Allow Treatment In Cell

DALLAS (UPI) — Condemned killer Jack Ruby refused medication in his Dallas County jail cell for the second day today, saying he preferred to wait until he felt the need for it.

The medication, supposedly tranquilizers, was recommended by psychiatrists and ordered by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown. County health officer Dr. J. M. Pickard said Ruby "was very pleasant" about the refusal. "He simply explained that he felt no need for such medication right now."

No Tattoo For Her

NEWPORT, England (UPI) — John Thompson has tattooed the letter "M" on the right arm of his baby son, Michael, in case he gets lost. But his wife, Babs, refused to allow him to do the same to their only daughter, Deejah, because she might resent it later.

Terra Linda Recreation Program Set For Summer

Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District directors last night approved a summer program and senior citizen program for the Terra Linda Community Center.

Recreation director William Gordon reported Dixie School District would allow the use of two rooms each at Santa Margarita and Bernard R. Hofmann schools during the summer.

The senior citizen program was set for 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month.

A special summer program for teen-agers was approved, including bowling, horseback riding, ice skating, and two-day camping trips each week to an area west of Petaluma.

Summer playground activities approved include games, arts and crafts, nature hikes, rock collecting, archery, with two sewing classes set up, one for teen-agers and another for younger girls.

Adult programs include evening folk dancing and duplicate bridge games, and a Monday morning "slimnastics" class.

The board approved a new annual contract with the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School, and also decided to set up a summer pre-school program for two days a week.

An Explorer Beat Boone To Kentucky

Hot Reading Matter

LONDON (UPI)—Leo Abse, labor member of parliament, claimed last night that there is a "semi-secret" cupboard at the House of Commons where M.P.s can obtain erotic books. He said the cupboard contained such controversial books as Kinsey's on Sexual Behavior, Lolita, Tropic of Cancer, and the Kamasutra.

No More Fire Calls

AURORA, Ill. (UPI)—It was a sad day for Aurora's 1921 Stutz pumper fire engine yesterday. The old pumper was retired from active service to make way for a new $34,800 fire engine. The Stutz will live out its days at the Aurora historical society.

Danville Airliner Crash Is Blamed On Murder

WASHINGTON — Mid-air murder was the cause of the May 7 Pacific Air Lines propjet wreck near Danville, Contra Costa County, the Civil Aeronautics Board ruled in a report issued yesterday.

At the same time, the agency issued an electronic transcription of the last radio message from the death plane, which had been so garbled that listeners had been able to read almost anything into it.

Still awaited is a Federal Bureau of Investigation report of its investigation into the crash, and particularly of the probability that the plane's pilot — and perhaps other crew members — were slain by Frank Gonzalez of San Francisco, onetime Olympic sailing yacht crewman.

The CAB report said that Bell Telephone Laboratory scientists in New Jersey used "voice print" techniques to identify the static-blurred last message as coming from the death plane's co-pilot, Raymond E. Andress.

"Skipper's shot . . . we're bin (or being) shot. I was (these two words uncertain) tryin' ta (apparently 'to') help."

Tests on the mangled wreckage revealed that bullets had torn through the back of Pilot Ernest A. Clark's seat, the CAB report indicated. A .357 Magnum revolver belonging to passenger Gonzales was found in the wreckage.

Police Nab Escapee With Arsenal

Marian Wayne O'Dell, 29, who escaped from San Quentin Prison farm April 4, is being held by Pasadena police on charges of possessing narcotics, a sawed-off shotgun and a sawed-off rifle.

O'Dell was arrested Friday, the day after Bonita was captured in Watsonville after holding police at bay for an hour by using his sister-in-law and her two children as hostages.

O'Dell, held under $22,000 bail, is to appear in Pasadena Municipal Court at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow on the possession charges. He also will face escape charges in Marin County, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

LAW SOUGHT TO PROTECT AIR CREWS

Clausen's concern resulted directly from the California air disaster last month "with definite evidence that the crew was shot to death in flight with the resultant death of 43 innocent victims of a crazed gunman."

Representatives of the Air Line Pilots Assn. in San Francisco met with Clausen in Washington last week. Pilots O. J. Banks and Exline Brown proposed that the airplane captain be armed, the cockpit be bulletproofed, the cockpit door be locked and fitted with a one-way window, and that "trip insurance that is machine-dispensed for large amounts be removed from our industry."

Don't Stop, Now

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — William Wakling of San Diego celebrated his 101st birthday yesterday. When asked how he managed to live so long, he said: "The main thing is to just keep breathing."

Testimony Conflicts In Probe Of Paradise Airline At Tahoe

OAKLAND (UPI) — The civil aeronautics board today tried to sift conflicting testimony as to who was responsible for the dispatch of an erroneous weather report which sent a Paradise Airlines plane on its doomed flight of March 1.

The plane crashed into a Lake Tahoe mountainside, killing all 85 aboard. The hearing into the crash moved into its third day today.

Weather observer Jim D. Lyons testified that he had nothing to do with the erroneous report. It was altered to make it appear that the Tahoe area weather was above flight minimum when in fact it was below.

Capt. Kody Krick, who flew a storm-delayed Paradise flight out an hour before the crash, testified yesterday he took off on the verbal assurance of the observer that it was clear enough.

He was supported by operations manager Raymond D. Rickards, who said he had overheard the conversation. Observer Lyons had no such recollection.

Rickards acknowledged he altered Lyons' official report, but only to conform with the weather message already transmitted.

"I didn't realize it was an official document," he said. "I just thought I was correcting a mistake Lyons had made."

Rickards testified he changed Lyons" report about an hour after it was sent. But station agent James Connelly said the report had been altered shortly after transmission.

HE ITCHES FOR SHEEPSKIN

Unfortunate tangle with poison ivy prevented Daniel Levin, 23, from wearing dress uniform at yesterday's graduation rites at West Point, but officials took mercy and let the Albuquerque, N.M., youth march wearing short-sleeved shirt. It was first time uniformity of the ceremony had been broken. (AP Wirephoto)

Judge Ponders Ouster Try In Murder Trial

A surprise motion that Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. disqualify himself in the murder trial next Tuesday of Robert Lee Jones and John Lee King was taken under advisement today by the judge until further hearing this afternoon.

The motion, made by Jones through his attorney, Thomas P. Boyd, was first presented to Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating late yesterday, then moved to Judge Sims for a decision.

Boyd said Jones feels Judge Sims should be disqualified because he already has prejudice regarding Jones' guilt or innocence.

Boyd said under recent law, a defendant has privilege of refusing one judge, but issue here is that Judge Sims already has sat—as presiding judge in criminal calendar matters—on preliminary proceedings for Jones and King both before and after trial date was scheduled in Judge Sims' court.

Jones and King are charged with the March 27 murder in Sausalito of Donald G. Corbett Jr. Peter Allen Smith, public defender representing King, said today that since joint trial of King and Jones is scheduled, his client, too, would be tried before a second judge if Judge Sims disqualifies himself.

Also scheduled this afternoon before Judge Sims were requests by both King and Jones for severance of armed robbery counts from the murder count.

No Trace Found Of Missing Manager

No trace of Earl Rogers, 45, missing manager of Burge's Drive-In Restaurant, sought for questioning by Marin County sheriff's officers in the disappearance of over $4,000 was reported today by deputies.

The money was taken early Tuesday from the Ignacio restaurant's unforced safe. Rogers, of Burge's Apartments, Ignacio, has not been seen by restaurant employees since 4 a.m. that day, officers said.

JFK Library Drive

The county-wide drive to collect money from Marin teenagers for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library netted $418.67, Mrs. Margaret Rattray, dean of girls at Terra Linda High School, reported today. Collections were made Friday morning in high schools in Marin, limited to 25 cents per student.

Ohio Youngster Wins Spelling Bee Crown

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William Kerek, 12, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, today won the 37th annual national spellingbee in an all-Ohio all-boy final.

When only two spellers remain, the winner must spell what his opponent misspelled and then another word to win.

July 4 Fete Set At Peacock Gap

Members of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Assn. learned last night that the Draper Companies and the real estate firm of Fox and Carskadon have agreed to sponsor a Fourth of July celebration for Peacock Gap residents.

Association President Donald L. Schweitzer announced today events will include a sailing meet on the lagoon, a golf tournament, a swimming meet, dinner, and fireworks at the Peacock Gap Tennis and Swimming Club.

Schweitzer said the events will be for residents only.

Directors last night also agreed on a barbecue July 19 at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club and endorsed the Draper Companies' offer to provide a community playground adjacent to a proposed school site at Biscayne and Riviera drives.

Mill Valley To Hire Additions To Police Force

One new patrolman and a clerk-dispatcher were approved last night to be hired in fiscal year 1964-65 for the Mill Valley Police Department, thus resulting in two added patrolmen in the field.

Action was taken in the first budget session of the Mill Valley city council. The next session will be at 8:30 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Also approved was a new department of community development, which combines planning and building in one unit with a fulltime planning director. The city now has a part-time consultant. Funds approved for the new department are $47,222.

Councilmen, all present, also approved preliminary budget figures as follows: Parks, $40,861; recreation, $9,436; golf course, $42,655; clubhouse, $4,500; summer work program, $3,284; community and youth center, $8,964; library, $71,087; fire department, $112,283, and police, $112,305.

Proposed tax rate for 1964-65 is $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation, the same as the current year. It was reported erroneously in yesterday's Independent-Journal the rate is $2.39. Total proposed budget for 1964-65 is $1,593,041.

Lighthouse At Mile Rock In For Changes

In a few years the lighthouse on Mile Rock will no longer look like a lighthouse at all. It will be more like a persecuted pancake.

That was the report from the Coast Guard today in an announcement on plans to convert and make the lighthouse automatic. This move will end the lonely, prison-like duty on the rock which is one mile from the Golden Gate.

A proposed helicopter landing platform on top of the rebuilt tower is what will give the rock that isolated pancake look. That phase of the work, however, will not be done for several years.

Cables have already been laid to make the light automatic. That's the first step in the $200,000 conversion.

Car Strikes Girl, Injuries Minor

A 7-year-old San Anselmo girl suffered a cut lip and multiple bruises when she was struck by a car while crossing San Anselmo Avenue, 35 feet north of Florence Avenue, at 6:23 p.m. yesterday.

The victim, Lisa I. Franks, daughter of Mrs. S. C. Haroldson, 53 Florence Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselmo police reported she was struck by the side of a car driven by Robert Francis Bjorn, 28, of 10 Broadmoor Avenue, San Anselmo. Bjorn told police the girl ran from between parked cars.

SCIENCE ON THREE LEVELS

The proposed science building at Sonoma State College, Rohnert Park, will cost an estimated 2.5 million dollars. The State Office of Architecture and Construction today called for bids on a classroom building on the camppus that is structurally similar to this science building. Now under constructon on the campus is a $260,000 field house.

Would Beatles Fit As Red Culture?

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI) —Madame Ekaterina Furtseva, Soviet minister of culture, was taken aback at her press conference here yesterday when the opening question was about the Beatles, a mop-haired British male quartet.

She was asked whether a musical group like the Beatles would be eligible for government subsidy in Russia. Madame Furteseva huddled with her Russian embassy advisers and an interpreter.

"I am sorry I have never heard them. Thus I cannot decide if artists of that kind would go on our government payroll," she responded without smiling.

Auto Is Stolen

Nadean E. Chapman of 124 Linden Lane, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday that her 1963 Ford convertible was stolen from its parking spot, E Street and Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, between 6:45 and 9:24 p.m. The car was unlocked, police said.

Driver Is Hurt In Auto Crash

William H. Kendall, 40, of Pinole was in satisfactory condition in San Rafael General Hospital today with injuries suffered when his car ran into a ditch off Shoreline Highway south of Olema last night.

Muir Woods Group Discusses Water

Directors of Muir Beach community services district discussed a proposal by Miwok Corp. to install a water supply system for its proposed 64-home subdivision last night but took no action, president Jack F. Harris said today.

Mrs. Aileen Graham, director, attended her last meeting of the board, her term expiring this month. Thomas A. Norton will fill her position starting in July, having been appointed to the board since no one else sought the seat. Harris will continue for another term. His term expires this month also but no one else sought the position.

Stinson Beach Lights Favored

Advocates of street lighting for Stinson Beach total 67 and 15 are against it, returns of a questionnaire sent out by the Stinson Beach Progressive Club show.

Club directors discussed the subject last night but put off action until more of the questionnaires have been returned, said Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, secretary-treasurer.

The board adjourned to Sept. 2, empowering the executive committee to take any action that might be necessary during the summer, Mrs. Greene reported.

Commercial Booths Booked Early For Art, Garden Fair

Commercial booths were booked early this year for the Marin Art and Garden Show scheduled for July 1-5 — and more than the usual number of them will be occupied by new exhibitors.

Space was all filled by the middle of May, two to three weeks earlier than usual. Fifteen exhibitors have never appeared before, and one or two absentees in the last year or so are coming back.

Among the newcomers is Associated Plumbing Contractors of San Rafael, taking three booths to show off modern fixtures and equipment. Others are Marin Garden Service, Mill Valley; Mull's Figurines of San Rafael; John Bickner of Richmond with a display of redwood nameplates; Medieval Arts, Ltd. of San Francisco; San Rafael interior decorator Hal Johnston; Chapelle and Saxby of Sausalito with leather and woodcraft items; Kidis and Turner of Tiburon, mosaics and collages.

Stanley Home Products, San Anselmo will have a display of household items; John C. Brown of Greenbrae has something for you on sauna baths; there will be educational material from the Peace Center of Marin, bonsai plants from Moore and Masters, Burlingame and insurance information from Thomas J. O'Reilly of San Francisco. The Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents is a perennial.

NEW THIS YEAR is Yamaha Pianos from San Francisco, and Sherman Clay and Co. will display organs again, and Miracle Music will provide the console to be played by Emory Stevenson as an entertainment feature.

Absent last year, the Marin Shakespeare Festival is back with a display. New is the Festival Theater Foundation of San Anselmo.

AMONG THE OLD TIMERS with handout literature will be the Henry George School, Britannica and World Book encyclopedias, Democrats, Republicans, Christian Scientists, the Volunteer Bureau of Marin, Junior Social Service, Marin Bar Assn. and the Marin County TB and Health Assn.

There should be a good PT&T display again with four booths; Hickory Farms is on hand (for its fourth year)—so are Creative Merchandisers, Marine Lights, Neal Ashmore's Knapp Shoes, Necchi Elna, and Casman and Weiss Manufacturing Co. from Los Angeles.

Stone planters and rock jewelry will again be featured by Derby's of California; Broilitzer of Mill Valley will have its smokeless broiler; Clark Lapidary Supply and Paul Messinger's Maico hearing aids are others.

All in all, you're bound to have plenty of products to keep you occupied.

A-1 AUTO PARTS in Mill Valley will have new and larger quarters in another month or so, moving from 487 to 475 Miller Avenue where Nathan Erb is providing this firm with a one-story basalt rock building. H. S. Meinberger and Son is doing the construction. R. N. Ward, formerly of Portland, took over A-1 last January.

DAVID PERKONEN, who about a month ago took over R and R Richfield Service Station at Second and E Streets, San Rafael, from Ray and Richard DeLeon, is holding his grand opening throughout this week. The station is known as Dave's Richfield Service.

DEAN SAYLOR of Corte Madera has been made national sales manager for Flecto Co., Inc., Oakland paint products firm. Saylor joined Flecto in 1961. He has been regional sales manger of the Rocky Mountain area.

KENNETH P. KNOLES, service manager of Knoles, Inc., San Rafael, has completed an advance course in air conditioning theory and practice conducted by the Payne Co., manufacturer of heating and air-conditioning products.

Conference Is Set For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO — Plans were announced today for the 70th National Conference on Government sponsored by the National Municipal League to be held in San Francisco for the first time in its history, 18-21 at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

The conference theme is "The Urban Future—Challenge and Opportunity." William N. Cassella Jr. of New York, assistant director of the league made this announcement to a group of Bay Area civic leaders, including representatives of the League of Women Voters, SPUR and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Alan K. Browne, vice president of the Bank of America and a regional vice president of the league and Norris Nash, vice president of Kaiser Industries Corp. and the Henry J. Kaiser Corp. are co-chairmen.

THREE-PAR HOLE—180 YARDS

Earthmoving equipment had very little grading to do at this 16th hole of the San Geronimo Valley Country Club except to dig out a contoured lake. Graders have been busy daily on the 150-acre golf course site near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Nicasio Road which is expected to be ready for seeding in time for the fall rains.

Market Sustains Its Worst Decline Of '64

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today sustained its worst decline of 1964 as trading snowballed before the market closed.

Key stocks fell sharply along a broad front.

The loss was the largest since Nov. 22, the day of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, but was apparently only about one-third as great on average.

It seemed a technical decline, not related to any specific bad news.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.7 million shares compared with 3.99 million yesterday.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

It was one of the steepest declines this year and it brought the averages below a support level which has existed for nearly three months.

Losses of about 2 by Du Pont, International Harvester and Chesapeake and Ohio, along with drops of a point or so by such key stocks as Woolworth and Jersey Standard dragged down the averages.

Motors, steels, rails, coppers, airlines, oils, drugs, retails, farm implements and other major groups joined in the retreat.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, off about a point, was shaping up again as the most active stock, leading Chrysler which lost a fraction.

Long term profits were taken in a wide range of stocks. General Cigar lost about 4, Delta Airlines more than 2, Pittsburgh Plate Glass about 2, U.S. Freight 2 or more.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange.

Cepeda, Herbel Star; Bolin Goes Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—If big Orlando Cepeda is back in the groove, look for the San Francisco Giants to win some ball games.

Cepeda, sidelined by illness Tuesday, murdered the ball all night last night as the Giants bounced Pittsburgh, 3-0, in a game delayed 33 minutes by rain.

Orlando hit the ball so hard during the spring that it was frightening, but it was also in spring training that he picked up a knee injury that has slowed him through the first part of the season. He has kept his average up, but had not shown his usual power.

Last night, he drove in all three Giant runs. He smacked a homer after Willie Mays tripled to give San Francisco a 2-0 lead. Then his deep fly followed a Willie Mays walk and a Willie McCovey single to account for the third run in the eighth.

His most impre ssive hit, a 430-foot triple to dead center in mammoth Forbes Field, went to waste when Orlando died on third.

Herbel's performance was made all the harder by the rain-caused delay. When action started up again, he plunked opposing pitcher Vern Law on the elbow and forced him out of action. Reliever Bob Priddy came on to give up all the Giant tallies and absorb the setback.

Herbel fanned five and walked just one.

The Pirates played the game under protest when McCovey hit a sixth inning grounder down the third base line that hit baserunner Mays. The umps called it foul, but Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh claimed the ball hit Mays in fair territory.

A once-in-a-decade occurrence took place in the seventh when Mays dropped a routine fly ball. Herbel polished off the Buc batters so that it did not make any difference.

Mays dropped one in the Polo Grounds as a New York Giant against Chicago in 1954. And he misplayed a ball down in Dodger Stadium a few seasons back. Those are about the only fielding mistakes the great fly-chaser has made during his brilliant career.

The unyielding Philadelphia Phils took Los Angeles 1-0 in 11 innings to stay 1½ games up on the second-place Giants.

San Francisco squares off against the Bucs again tonight with Bobby Bolin (1-1) set to toss against veteran Bob Friend of the Pirates (4-5).

The Giants had one bit of bad news yesterday. Matty Alou had his left wrist X-rayed at a hospital here and learned there was a fracture in the bone. He'll be out of action at least three weeks, so the Giants placed him on the disabled list.

Alou was hit on the wrist Tuesday night when he pinch-hit in the losing effort to the Pirates.

With Jim Duffalo still on the disabled list, the Giants have only 23 men on the roster. These include Jose Pagan, who has a pulled side muscle; Billy O'Dell, who has yet to throw well this season because of a shoulder injury; Jack Sanford, who has a cold, and McCovey, whose right knee and ankle are bothering him.

But if Cepeda is ready to go on a batting rampage, the Giants will still be just about unbeatable.

A Pittsburgh Editor Leaves The 'Power' Out Of His Giant Yarns

Jack Hanley

PITTSBURGH — Sooner or later some smart reporter was bound to examine credentials of the Giants and ask: "What right have they to be where they are in the National League race?"

Until this stop in Pittsburgh, we had been reading road stories that described the Giants with some strange adjective —power-packed, awesome, etc. We began to wonder whether we finally needed glasses because the only awesome bat we've seen in the Giant lineup this year is the one Willie Mays swung through the first quarter of the season.

HOWEVER, here in Pittsburgh, Al Abrams took the proper reportorial approach instead of writing a canned story. Abrams is sports editor of the Post-Gazette. But that doesn't stop him from doing his own leg work.

As usual, Abrams stopped by Pittsburgh hotel headquarters of the Giants when they arrived in town the other day. It didn't take him long to get the facts about the team.

"One can go blind scanning Giant batting averages looking for any San Francisco player hitting for a decent average other than Mays," wrote Abrams.

"THE GIANTS are next to last in hitting with an anemic .230 team mark. They are last in fielding for both leagues, not one. Yet, at the moment they are only a half game from the top. You figure it out.

"I've heard baseball men refer to the Giants as a One-Man and Two-Man club. The One-Man is Mays. The Two-Man clubs is Mays plus Juan Marichal.

"Bob Shaw, during the first weeks of the campaign, made it a Three-Man team, winning three games and saving four others in the ex-Brave's first seven relief appearances as a Giant."

THUS, BRIEFLY and succinctly, Abrams accurately pinpointed the trio responsible for the Giant being where they are instead of tagging along with the tailend Mets.

There was no fanciful "power-packed" or "awesome" stuff in Abrams' story about the 1964 Giants. It made refreshing reading, particularly after the fictional tripe we've seen elsewhere on this road trip.

NORTHERN DANCER IS HEAVY FAVORITE

That's the opinion of Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and at least one trainer of the four 3-year-olds expected to oppose the son of Nearactic-Natalma in the 1½-mile final leg of the Triple Crown.

"I actually don't know his capabilities," said Luro today. "He's done everything we have asked of him so well that I would hesitate to guess just how far he'll go."

"He probably hasn't reached his peak," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Orientalist, who was made a supplementary entry at the cost of $5,000. "He has held his bloom so well. In fact he seems to look better every time I see him."

Northern Dancer, from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, has won his last seven starts, never been out of the money in 17 races, set a Kentucky Derby mark of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles and came close to the Preakness standard with a 1:56 4-5 clocking for 1 3-16 miles.

After being the second choice to Hill Rise in both the Derby and Preakness, the Dancer is expected to go to the post at the short odds of around 3-5.

Hill Rise, from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, loser by a neck in the Derby and by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness, figures to get the bulk of the remainder of the play in the betting machines.

Post time in 3:45 p.m. EST, with nationwide television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Louis Wolfson's Roman Brother, who like Northern Dancer was foaled on May 27; Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and John Galbreath's Orientalist are the other definite starters.

500 Attend Dave MacDonald Funeral

WHITTIER (AP) — Dave MacDonald, who first gave himself to his family and then to auto racing, lies at rest today with two checked flags — symbols of victory in the world he loved — atop his coffin.

His children, Richie, 7, and Vicki, 5, put them there yesterday as 500 persons gathered at Rose Hills Memorial Park to mourn the young driver who suffered fatal injuries in a flaming crash Saturday during the Indianapolis 500 mile race.

Serving as pallbearers were four Californians who had helped MacDonald throughout his career: Mickey Thompson and Bill Stroppe of Long Beach, Don Steves of La Habra and Carroll Shelby of Venice.

The Rev. Max Armitage eulogized the 26-year-old MacDonald as "a hard competitor and a good sport whose quiet, modest manner won him a multitude of friends."

MacDonald's widow, Sherry, listened quietly. Earlier, she had sent a floral memorial to Bethlehem, Pa., where driver Eddie Sachs, who died in the same crash, was being laid to rest.

5 Marin Preps To Run In State Track Meet

Tamalpais High School's miler Keith Krieger and Redwood's sprint relay team will be running tomorrow with the best in the state.

Krieger and Redwood's Bob Piro, Guy Modica, Tom Straithairn and Dave Auerbach—the 880-yard relay boys — will be competing in the California Interscholastic Federation state track and field championships in the huge confines of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Krieger, with a best time of 4:18.5, will be running in the fourth lane of the first heat in the mile event. There will be three heats trying for spots in the finals which will be held Saturday.

The Redwood speedsters will be running in the seventh lane of the third and final heat of the 880-yard relay. Best time for Redwood this year was a 1:28.8 clocking at the Sectional Meet May 23, the same day Krieger ripped off his fastest mile.

According to comparative times, Krieger has the 10th best qualifying time out of 24 milers entered in the meet. Fastest entrant is Mike Ryan of Santa Clara's Wilcox High School with a 4:12.4 clocking.

Redwood's 1:28.8 mark is 19th out of 24 qualifying times for the meet. Fastest relay team, according to its sectional qualifying time, is Muir High School of southern California, with a 1:26.7 to its credit.

Angry Pancho Gonzales Is Double Loser

COMBINED AP & UPI

SANTA MONICA — Tennis star Pancho Gonzales, new in his comeback as a touring tennis pro, lost a match with his estranged wife, Madelyn, 29, then went a round with newsmen.

Gonzales was ordered yesterday to pay $1,135 monthly temporary support to her and their three young daughters pending outcome of her divorce suit.

Gonzales, 36, considered one of the world's top tennis players, was also ordered to keep up monthly payments, taxes and insurance on their home.

They were Bob Smith, 31, the Outlook's chief photographer, and Paul Knief, 60, a 30-year veteran of the courthouse beat.

Smith told fellow newsmen: "Gonzales had Paul's head over the second-story railing and was trying to choke him. Then the cops came."

Then on the Los Angeles Tennis Club court last night in the $15,000 Masters Round-Robin, Gonzales, trying for his third tourney win since coming out of retirement, lost 10-4 to Australian Rod Laver.

In other matches, Alex Olmedo upset Lew Hoad 10-8, Frank Sedgman defeated Andres Gimeno 10-6 and the team of Ken Roseall and Pancho Segura downed Earl Buchholz and Barry MacKay 10-4.

Laver and Olmedo, both 1-0 and in the same five-man bracekt, meet tonight. The two other singles matches pit Rosewall (1-0) vs. Gimeno (0-1) and Segura (0-2) vs. Buchholz (1-1).

STEVENS

The paths of the trophy hunter are devious. He may travel to India for a tiger skin, to Africa for 100-pound elephant tusks, or Alaska for his polar-bear rug, if he is a hunter; or to the Roaring Forties off New Zealand to land a mammoth Maco shark if he seeks his trophy with rod and reel. But there are others of the ilk who roam the fields and streams of our own locale for his trophy beast or his piscatorial prize.

Today I salute two of the latter trophy hunters who made the grade this past weekend. First, Jim Bushell of Felton whose objective was a trophy-size wild boar.

ON SATURDAY Jim Bushell obtained the professional services of the well known big game guide, Floyd Hector, his trained dogs, and his savey of the haunts of the boar. The dogs flushed a huge and angry board, the hunters stopped him with two well placed shots from the big bore rifles and Jim had his trophy — a 300-pound wild boar with long tusks, and every appearance of being a genuine European wild boar. According to Hector he has located the haunt of several more boars of trophy size. Anyone interested in giving such a hunt a trial, contact Floyd Hector at 516 Willow Avenue, Hayward.

The second conquering hero did his stuff on Monday. Chris Martinelli called to inform me that George Mura, light- tackle fishing expert, hooked, played and landed a striped bass that weighed-in officially at 38 pounds, two ounces.

GEORGE'S trophy bass was taken in False River. Could be that Mura's catch will win the annual contest held by the Reel Rod Benders Club. If a larger bass is recorded, here's hoping George gets it. Incidently, Martinelli reported he personally caught two nice tripers the same day—around nine or 10 pounds, I believe. And, oh yes—belated congratulations to Stan Francis of the Reel Rod Benders who placed first in the club's recent salmon derby. Stan's prize salmon weighed in at 15½ pounds.

STRIPER STRIVING has picked up considerably the past few days. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported fair to good trolling in the upper San Pablo Bay. On Friday night, the boat Two Dares netted limits all around. An average of two fish per rod was made in the mornings of Saturday and Sunday by skiffs working off the Union Oil Wharf, and on Monday morning Ron Trainer took quick limits of 15-pounders trolling two white Bug-eye jigs. Trainer claimed he connected with bass every time his boat moved a couple of yards.

Reports have it that the lads fishing with live bait off the Naval Air Station are reaping a harvest. An unverified report (but from a dependable source) has it that some fair to good to excellent results are being had in the area we commonly call the Brothers and Point San Pablo. So it looks like better days are here again.

Summer Basketball At Drake High To Start June 16

Basketball action in the Drake Summer Recreation Program is slated to start June 16 and run through Aug. 20, it was announced today by Bob Fitzhenry, director of the program.

Six high school age teams and 11 adult teams have entered so far. There is still room for one more adult team and Fitzhenry asks any interested persons to get in touch with him at Drake High School.

The high school teams will play on Tuesday nights and the adults will play on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Games will be played at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock, on those nights.

Admission to the games is free.

U.S. Wightman Cup Tennis Girls Make Fine Showing

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — America's Wightman Cup tennis gals are making up in a hurry for lost time in the rain-plagued Northern England Tennis Championships.

Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, and Nancy Richey of Dallas made their first appearances on grass courts this season and bowled over minor opponents yesterday.

Miss Caldwell won three matches, Miss Moffitt took two and Miss Richey beat one opponent. Stephanie DeFina of Hollywood, Fla., making her first overseas tour, won two matches.

Several Americans were eliminated including Vicky Palmer of Phoenix, Peachy Kellmeyer of Charleston, W. Va., Tory Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., and Mike Belkin of Miami Beach.

Cliff Richey, the U.S. junior champion from Dallas, was a busy bee in men's singles, winning three matches. Among his victims was Dave Phillips of South Africa by 7-5, 4-6, 6-2. Previously Phillips had ousted Belkin, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Another men's winner was John Reese of Hewlett, N.Y. He downed Charlie Applethwaite of Britain, 8-6, 2-6, 6-4.

The Wightman Cup players are tuning up for their match with the British June 12-13.

El Torro Regatta Slated Saturday

An El Torro Regatta, sponsored by the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, will be held Saturday starting at 10:30 a.m. in the Peacock Lagoon.

Trophies will be presented to winners in three age divisions—19 and over, 15 through 18, and up through 14. No entry fee is required.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Red-Hot Phillies Nip Dodgers, 1-0

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In baseball, as in poker, the fellow with the hot hand can do no wrong.

In poker, he's the fellow who makes his ace-high straight by drawing the queen while in baseball he's the guy who plucks a Cookie Rojas off the bench and sees him play a key role in beating the world champions in two straight games.

And, lest there be any doubt about it, the fellow with the hot hand in the National League these days is manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies.

INSTRUMENTAL

Mauch inserted Rojas into the lineup a week ago in a move that was pure speculation but now looks like inspiration. The 24-year-old native of Havana, Cuba, has been hitting at a better-than-.500 clip since he got into the lineup and last night for the second straight game was instrumental in enabling the Phillies to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers.

This was one of those tough games which surprise contenders like the Phillies must win to prove they're authentic. Dodger right-handed ace Don Drysdale was at his best and Philadelphia pitcher Jim Bunning was in constant hot water. But in the end it was the Dodgers who faltered — just enough to enable the Phillies to score a 1-0, 11-inning victory.

DOUBLE

Rojas, who figured in all four Philadelphia runs in a Tuesday night win over the Dodgers, started the 11th inning with a double—only the fourth hit off Drysdale. Drysdale struck out Richie Allen but was replaced in favor of Ron Perranoski, who intentionally walked Johnny Callison and then got Wes Covington to hit into a force play at second. Then Tony Gonzalez grounded to third-baseman Jim Gilliam, who bobbled the ball as Rojas raced across the plate with the winning run.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Phillies, who knocked the Dodgers eight games off the pace in eighth place. Jack Baldschun, who shut out the Dodgers for one inning, picked up his third win while the loss was Drysdale's fifth in 11 decisions.

BRAVES WIN

The San Francisco Giants 3-0, the Milwaukee Braves nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 7-5 win over the Chicago Cubs in other N.L. games. Houston at New York was rained out.

Ray Sadecki, with relief help from Roger Craig and home run power by Ken Boyer, won his fifth game for the Cardinals and also hung an 0-for-4 horsecollar around the neck of Billy Williams, whose average dropped to .412 with the end of his eight-game hitting streak. Bill White weighed in with a two-run double for the Cardinals.

No-Hitter Tops Treemen Wins

With hurler Dave Shallenberger throwing a no-hitter in the first game, Sohner Tree Service softballers beat the Longhorns of Petaluma in a twin bill yesterday, 4-0 and 4-1.

In hurling the no-hitter in the 4-0 victory, Shallenberger struck out 16 enemy batters. Earl Lowe threw a two-hitter at Petaluma in the second game, with Dave Hughes driving in the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth with a double.

Next game for Sohner will be Saturday night at 7:30 in Petaluma against Two Rock Army Base.

Nicklaus, Palmer Head Field For Thunderbird

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington, D.C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of only five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

The other two with a pair of victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Some Tips On Registration, Keys, Insurance, Hazards And Weather

Is your boat's registration certificate aboard? Or is it at home? Somplace, maybe? It's in that file in your garage workshop on one of the rafters. Pull down that shabby metal box and take a look. Hm-m . . . drug prescriptions, circa 1940. Marriage certificate, graduation photo and expired fishing licenses. Also two suspiciously-ancient dimes and a meat coupon book from World War II. A-ha . . . and there it is. Your boat registration — which expired two months ago.

Get it renewed and keep it aboard. What about your trailer's registration too?

YOU HAVE a brand new motor. It's plain to see you purchased a new tachometer and boat top also. But have you told your insurance man? Ask him if his firm has made any changes in policy since last year. Inquire how they may be contacted during the summer. Write down this information and keep it with your other valuable boating papers. Available. You have no idea how grateful you'll feel if you need to call on them for help.

ON THE subject of an extra key for your electric-starting outboard or stern drive motor: "Oooo-ps, honey . . . I've lost my key overboard," you might say, adding with false equanimity, "Just hand me the extra one you keep in your purse."

Her face uncomplicted as a nursery rhyme, she churns, dips and sifts through her purse. "I'm absolutely positive it's here . . . but I can't seem to find it—"

Sublimation of the purse may come, you think. But only when it appears on the market equipped with an inner revolving searchlight, a churning mechanism and metal detector. So, the key is gone. Have several made before your next trip.

ASK YOUR harbormaster or boat dealer if there are any new conditions in your boating area. Sometimes, due to below normal rainfall, obstructions formerly submerged become harzards. Flood conditions often sweep in debris, making new navigation charts necessary.

EVERYONE TAKES a measure of pleasure from his calculated predictions of the weather. A mixture of opinions are offered by the necromancer as well as the highly scientific meteorologist. The-man-on-the-street and colloquialism have their say.

OF COURSE, approaching bad weather always concerns the boater. Signs to observe are: No dew on the grass. The sky at sunset . . . a pale yellow. Cattle low. Birds aren't flying flying high. They flutter . . . appear disoriented. Black, ominous clouds form. It's quiet with an all-pervading sense of unease.

Pointing to fair weather, however, you'll witness a foggy dawn and high flying waterfowl. Your nose may seem unusually dry . . . no longer sensitive to some odors. Clouds are high. Smoke rises straight as an East Indian Fakir's trick rope. Your cigarette will burn extremely fast.

IF YOU'RE in the middle of San Pablo Bay and dark clouds suddenly shape-up, watch for temperature changes while you make a dash for shore. If a chilly wind comes up, it can herald the approach of a cold front, and a thunderstorm only a few miles away. Don't loiter.

A stiff wind can develop quickly and you may be worried over your situation; but this generally works: Face the wind. The storm should be on your right.

But like tips on politics, birth and fishing, it's good some of the time. Not always.

Cyclists To Race In West Marin

Northern California bicycle racers will converge on western Marin Saturday and Sunday to compete in a "Tour of Marin" event sponsored by the San Francisco Wheelmen.

Starts and finishes for the two-day races will be at Rancho Nicasio. Competition will start at 10 a.m. each day with more than 35 racers vying in junior (age 16 and younger) and senior (over 16) divisions.

Four Marin Countians will race, all in the senior division, including Bob Marshall and Til Malletista of Corte Madera, Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley and Vincent Mulligan of San Rafael.

On Saturday the senior division will stage a 40-mile race and 10-mile time trial and the juniors will go in a 20-mile race and 10-mile time trial.

Sunday's schedule will be a 70-mile race for seniors and 40-mile race for juniors.

Fullmer Dropped From Rankings

Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, was taken off the list by Nat Fleischer, Ring's editor, because he apparently has retired. Terry Downes of Britain got back on the list in the light-heavyweight division as No. 10 contender.

Bank of America announces an equal opportunity plan of major significance

Printed below is the full text of a joint statement to the press issued by the bank and the California Fair Employment Practice Commission on June 1, 1964

"The State Fair Employment Practice Commission and Bank of America jointly announced today a plan of major significance relating to equal employment opportunity in California.

"Bank of America has volunteered to turn over to the FEPC at regularly stated intervals extensive statistical data bearing on the equal employment opportunity policies and practices of the bank.

"The FEPC states that from the data provided by the bank, it is capable of effectively analyzing and evaluating those data and rendering suggestions to the bank as to methods Bank of America can use to further implement its equal opportunity policies.

"Recognizing that the issue of equal employment opportunity is properly one of considerable public interest, the bank and the FEPC feel it appropriate that there be periodic public reports of FEPC findings.

"The bank fully recognizes that the FEPC has the right and responsibility to determine what information should be released.

"Normally included in a public FEPC report on the bank will be a summary and critical appraisal of the main features of Bank of America's equal opportunity policy implementation. Included will be sufficient statistical material to substantiate FEPC conclusions. In accordance with FEPC's policy of not releasing unevaluated personnel pattern information, no such information will be disclosed publicly or otherwise.

"The data that the bank will turn over to the FEPC are included in a formal memorandum of understanding executed today between the bank and the FEPC."

Bank of America Welcomes FEPC Participation

Bank of America is pleased to cooperate with the FEPC in this undertaking. All Californians should be grateful that our state has had the foresight to set up a responsible government agency to operate in the field of equal employment opportunity. We would hope that by entering into this program with the Fair Employment Practice Commission we have demonstrated beyond any doubt that Bank of America is indeed vitally interested in providing equal opportunity for all of our minority citizens. We would further hope that this program totally disproves the contention that has been made in some quarters that Bank of America has "something to hide."

We think that our program with the FEPC may be a major step in removing the equal employment opportunity problem from the streets and placing it where it rightfully belongs—in a duly authorized government agency empowered by law to act in this field, and in the final analysis working for, and responsible to, all of the people of this state.

Bank of America's Position and Policy Remain the Same

Bank of America's position regarding the demands of the Congress of Racial Equality remains unchanged. This bank will not sign agreements with, or provide statistical data to, any nongovernment agency.

CORE's dispute with Bank of America has nothing to do with the bank's position as an equal opportunity employer. It is not related to the bank's willingness, even eagerness to hire qualified Negro applicants.

Rather, the point at issue is whether this bank, or any other corporation, should give detailed statistical information about its operations to a pressure group in order that that pressure group may set itself up as a policing agency. Our bank's answer is now and will continue to be "NO!"

In March—prior to any discussion with CORE—Bank of America made a declaration of policy on the subject of the demonstrations in San Francisco.

That declaration of policy was five-fold:

1. We acknowledged the pressing social need of creating equal opportunity and we further acknowledged that the bank had a civic responsibility to do all it could to solve this problem.

2. We recognized that there is legitimate reason for the public to be informed as to the bank's progress in discharging this civic responsibility.

3. We declared our willingness to meet with any group, public or private, and to entertain any suggestions they had which would further our attempts to solve this pressing social problem.

4. We said that we would not sign agreements with any nongovernment agency.

5. We said that we would not provide detailed statistical data to any nongovernment agency.

This was our policy in March; it is our policy today; it will continue to be our policy in the future.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — While President Lyndon B. Johnson is fretting about the pockets of poverty, Marianne Strong is troubled about the pockets of the wealthy.

In her business as a society publicist, she foresaw the rich as converging to this vast city to see the World's Fair with nothing in their pockets but checkbooks, credit cards and wads of money—actually not a single key to the "in" spots. Her heart went out to them.

At this rate, she felt, they were sure to have an utterly miserable time grubbing for fun among the "Out" people without a single invitation to a charity ball, a penthouse party, or nary a key to an intimate bistro, and with only public golf courses to play on, and the grandstands to sit in at the race tracks, and all that.

MERELY HAVING all the happiness that money can buy isn't very much, points out Marianne sadly, if you don't know where to spend it. And so this blonde, tanned former society columnist who has in recent years been devoting her abundance of energy to maneuvering ambitious mothers and daughters up the social ladder, decided to do something practical about the dilemma.

Her solution is a unique entre service. For $30 a day per couple her staff has arranged to open the locked doors to the inner circles.

The fee covers advice, and for making the right connections, scheduling interesting activities, arranging for sitters, dog-walkers and temporary secretaries. The actual cost of these, of course, must be borne by the wealthy man and wife eager to be in the swing of things.

THE LONELY WIDOW or widower need not hesitate to storm the Bastille of New York's jet set either, for the lack of escorts will not be a handicap.

In her service are guides at $8 an hour carefully selected according to background and knowledge of the city.

"If the widow wants to dance, I'm sure the guide will dance with her," explains another staff member, Judy Hinckley. "But we're definitely not running a dating service. We make no attempt at all to match up these guides by ages or interests."

Might the guide be embarrassed while the lady takes care of the bistro bill? Miss Hinckley believes not. "We've become a lot more sophisticated about that now that women have more independence, don't you think?"

INVITATIONS HAVE gone across the country to 5,000 persons on select lists. "To people we know can afford this sort of thing," adds Maloney.

Did you get yours?

Mrs. Kenneth Zeigler, publicity chairman of the guild, and her husband have invited to their party Messrs. and Mesdames James Kretchmer, Le Roy Rice, Donald Thompson, George Coburn, Christian Vigneaud, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Dr. Frederick Foster. The Zeiglers have returned from a wonderful vacation in Hawaii. They flew over to Honolulu and back from there. They stayed at the White Sands of Waikiki Beach, flew to Kauai and headquartered at Coco Palms for a while then went to Hanalei Plantation House on Kauai, the green island, before flying back to Honolulu.

THE NEW HOME of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Potter in Mill Valley will be the setting for the "year-end" cocktail party to be given for members of the Family Service League of Marin and their husbands tomorrow night. The party will provide an opportunity for many couples to meet.

Thomas and Charlene Dorst of Tiburon will have many stories to tell of their recent trip to Europe. Charlene is outgoing president of the Family Service League. Ann and Al Siedel of Ross, who are coming to the party, are looking forward to a trip East. They are taking their family to the World Fair in New York and will then visit Ann's parents in Nyack, N. Y.

REX MORENA was host at a buffet supper at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gino Morena of Kentfield, following the senior ball of Redwood High School. Rex entertained 175 members of the graduating class.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD LOWRY have returned to their home in Tiburon from a trip along the California Coast. They stopped several days in Carmel and other picturesque places.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. McGRAW of the Belvedere Lagoon recently returned from South America. They went to Lima and from there to Cajamarca also in Peru, where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Cadwell, then went on to Bogota, capital of Colombia. The McGraws concluded their trip with stays in Panama and Miami Beach, Florida.

Mariana Edith Steevens To Become Bride In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Steevens of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mariana Edith, to John Elton Moats of Novato.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending Weaver Airline School.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moats of Novato, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed with the Diamond National Corp.

The wedding is scheduled for Sept. 5.

ON EASTERN TOUR

TORONTO (AP) — Beware the jewelry bargain. Things are not always what they seem in the world of gems.

SOMETIMES OUTRIGHT fakes are sold as real gems. Diamonds, emeralds and other stones can be artificially manufactured. Cultured pearls can be made to look better than they are. And real gems can be doctored to increase their apparent value in ways which get past the people who buy and sell them.

Doublets are imitations which are not wholly imitations," Mr. Fraleigh says.

They are a combination—one part real, the other phony — cemented together to look like a single stone. The upper half, known as the crown, is real stone and the lower part, the base, is usually a paste of similar or darker color.

"This way the color of the doublet is deepened, the total weight is increased and the upper part most exposed in wear is had because it is the natural stone. When mounted in jewelry the joining line of the two sections is hidden and is therefore far from obvious."

MR. FRALEIGH SAYS shoppers on vacation trips are particularly prone to getting stung picking up gems as local bargains.

"I would advise anyone who is not familiar with gem stones to deal only in reliable establishments and, if they suspect any problems as to value, to have them checked by a gemmologist."

WHEN YOU DO BUY, he says, choose deeply colored stones, free from obvious internal flaws. If you are buying a diamond, look for a good cut and a clear, white stone.

Any jewelry valuable enough to be insured should be reappraised and reinsured every five or 10 years, Mr. Fraleigh says.

"The value of precious stones has almost doubled in 10 years," he adds.

Mr. Fraleigh said people do find unexpected treasure at home sometimes, perhaps in grandmother's jewel case.

"I have looked through many boxes of so-called junk and found gold of antique value and gem stones of rare vintage. You never know what you are going to find."

HIS MOST STARTLING find was a ruby worth $4,000, but that was an exception. In most cases old pieces turned up are worth $20 to $40.

Helene Reed Mills Recites Vows In Hong Kong Ceremony

Living in Mill Valley are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Duane Wardman, who were married in Victoria, Hong Kong, on May 19.

The bride is the former Helene Reed Mills, daughter of Mrs. George E. Purser of Mill Valley and the late Roy Stapleton Mills.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clyde Martin Wardman of Long Beach and the late Mr. Wardman.

The new Mrs. Wardman is a graduate of Marymount High School in Los Angeles, and before her marriage she was employed as a secretary with the Fairchild Semiconductor division in Terra Linda of the Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp.

The bride is the great great granddaughter of John Reed the first English speaking man in Marin County and builder of the old mill still standing in Mill Valley, for which the town was named.

The Wardmans were married in Hong Kong because Mr. Wardman was working in the Hong Kong division of the Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp. He is now employed as an engineer in the Terra Linda division.

He is a graduate of Long Beach State College. His two brothers are Marin and Charles Wardman of Long Beach.

A reception for the newly married pair will be given at a later date by the bride's mother.

Mrs. Hoy Installed By San Rafael Club

MRS. MARVIN HOY

Mrs. Marvin Hoy was installed president of San Rafael Improvement Club at the club's annual breakfast at the clubhouse in San Rafael yesterday. Mrs. Hoy and her staff were installed by Mrs. Arthur Luchetti, first vice president of Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs.

On Mrs. Hoy's staff are Mesdames Charles Tacchi, first vice president; E. H. Neuschwander, second vice president; Walten H. Rains, corresponding and recording secretary; Raymond DuYore, financial secretary; Carroll Thomas, treasurer and Eldred B. Hillis, parliamentarian. Honorary presidents are Mesdames George B. Waterman, Louis L. Walsh and Charles Howell.

On the board of directors are Mesdames Louis Yuvan, N. K. Reinhard, Harold Elliott, Norris Rawles, Robert E. Munter, Sanford McLaughlin, Cletus Fitzharris and Americo Oberto.

Mrs. Hoy, whose maiden name was Marion Whitsett, was born in Seattle, Wash. and attended Seattle schools and the University of Washington. When her family moved to San Francisco, Marion majored in business administration. Her mother, Mrs. James Walsh lives in San Rafael.

Marvin Hoy, son of Mrs. Herman Hoy of San Rafael, was born and reared in Marin's county seat. During World War II he served in the Navy. The Hoys have a daughter, Mrs. Steve Golsch, who lives in Fair Oaks, and a son, Clifford Hoy, who is in the Air Force and stationed in Fort Worth.

Marion has served the club as tea chairman, program chairman and second and first vice presidents.

In the installation ceremony, Mrs. Luchetti likened the club to an automobile, with the president in the driver's seat, and the membership providing the power. She presented the gavel to Mrs. Hoy.

In her report Mrs. Swart told of the various projects the club has carried out during her year. These ranged from campership for needy children to assistance to senior citizens.

Mrs. Hoy presented a past president's pin and club's gift to Mrs. Swart.

Week-Long Sale To Benefit Church For San Geronimo

A week-long rummage sale will begin Monday at Roma's Market in Forest Knolls as a benefit for the San Geronimo Valley Church, for which the local social hall is being converted. The church is now located in a building formerly the San Geronimo railroad station.

Another fund-raising project will be a chicken barbecue on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Woodacre Improvement Club, when two showings of the Disney film, "The Living Desert" are scheduled. Mrs. Charles Orr is ticket chairman for the event.

Mrs. Julian Jarrett is rummage collection chairman for the week-long sale.

HELEN MENDEZ

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Mendez of Mill Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to David Lawrence Regal of Daly City.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Mrs. Lewis F. Smith of Oakland and Frank J. Mendez of Corte Madera, was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Regal of Daly City are parents of the future bridegroom, who is the brother of Chuck, Maryanne, Roseanne and Annemarie Regal, all of Daly City.

David was graduated from Westmoor High School and is now a senior at San Francisco State College. He is employed as recreation director with the Daly City Recreation Department.

The couple plans a July 11 wedding at Mission San Rafael Arcangel, and will live in San Francisco.

Christian Youth Exchange Student Will Be Honored

JENNIFER BUCKLEY

Jennifer Buckley, who will be leaving on June 20 for the Netherlands, will be honored at a reception Sunday hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson at their home in Mill Valley.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Buckley of Mill Valley, Jennifer is going to live for a year in the Netherlands as an exchange student under the International Christian Youth Exchange program.

The reception will follow the 2 to 6 p.m. recital of John Ludlow's students Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Her sister Gerry will also perform.

Guests invited to the reception in addition to the Buckleys are Messrs. and Mesdames Roland Kelly, Robert Fuller, John Shortridge, Otto Weissich, all of Mill Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gabbert of San Mateo; Mesdames F. J. Connelly, De Witt Clark and H. C. Kellers of Mill Valley and Mrs. Van Perry of Berkeley.

Jennifer was chosen for the youth exchange program by the Mill Valley Community Church's World Service Committee, Marin's first participant in the program.

It is an exchange student program somewhat comparable to the American Field Service and Experiment in International Living. The principal difference is that the ICYE is sponsored by the National Council of Churches and involves church as well as school.

Jennifer will leave for New York with Mrs. Arthur Bickford of Mill Valley, her children and possibly one or two other International Christian Youth Exchangees in a small bus. The Bickfords are going there to join Doctor Bickford's family.

After a few days' indoctrination at Columbia University with 95 other American students, the students will fly to Amsterdam on a chartered plane. There they will undergo further preparation before leaving to live the next 12 months with 95 families all the way from Greenland to Japan.

Mariner Cove Asks Flood Danger Study

Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. has asked the Town of Corte Madera to examine, survey and improve waterways in Mariner Cove.

Herber C. Leney, chairman of the association board, said present conditions could create a serious flood control problem for residents.

In a letter to the town council yesterday, the association asked allocation of funds for the waterways in the 1964-65 budget for flood control, navigation and sanitation.

"Inspection will show that alluvion deposits have been filling in the canals for several years. At present there is very little depth in any of the waterways," the association wrote.

The 365 new units being completed in the Mariner Cove area will cause more surface water drainage and fill to be emptied into the canals, he pointed out.

The Association will meet next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Zed Harris, 5 Cay Passage, to discuss the matter.

Old-Time Clocks Attract Droves To Gas Station

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Anthony Sposato never knows whether folk who drive up to his filling station want gasoline or to see his antique clocks. There are 40 clocks in the station here and 100 more at his home in Purchase.

Sposato has been collecting clocks since 1939. The timepieces at the filling stations have been given him by customers who "clean their attics," Sposato said.

He has a grandfather clock he estimates was made about 1760 and what he believes may be the first battery-run clock made in this country. The clock can run a year on three cell batteries.

WEST MARIN PLAN

Two Features Get Special Treatment

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK
(Last of four articles)

The last part of the preliminary West Marin master plan gives special treatment to two major features of West Marin, one of which does not now and may never exist. These are Tomales Bay and Walker Lake.

Tomales Bay, about which much of the development of the area will be focused, must be made more available to the public, argue the planners, former County Planning Director Mary Summers, Harold A. Summers, and Dan Coleman Associates.

At least 50 per cent of the shoreline should be reserved for public use, although some houses and commercial development would also be allowed.

The bay faces two major problems, according to the report. One is silting, which threatens present oyster farms and which could fill up the bay.

Check dams on streams and damming Walker Creek would help. Prevention of extensive grading on the hillsides which drain into the bay, and low density development, may be more important, the planners say.

The other problem is the shoal at the mouth of the bay. The shoal helps create deadly "sneaker waves" which can capsize boats caught in the wrong place at the wrong time. The Army Corps of Engineers should be asked to make a study on the feasibility of removing the shoal, the plan recommends.

A major project for the bay would be a "water park" at the south end, which is now largely marshlands. Channels would be dredged out for use by pleasure craft, and the spoils would be used to create many islands for picnics and other recreational activity.

Walker Lake is a project on Walker Creek, west of Tomales, which has been discussed from time to time for years. Marin Municipal Water District once made a study of the area and decided that damming Walker Creek would not be worth the cost.

The plan agrees that the dam would not pay for itself in production of domestic water. But as a recreational facility, there is a different story, the consultants say.

Called for is a 175-foot high structure to cost about 3.2 million dollars. The planners say the lake would attract a million visitors a year. Swimming, water skiing, boating and fishing would be allowed.

No water contact sports are allowed on any of the county's present reservoirs, on the grounds that there is a desire to keep drinking water pure. The planners note that Lake Berryessa, Clear Lake and Lake Tahoe all provide drinking water. So could Walker Lake, they contend. Also, as a recreational, flood control and soil conservation feature, federal and state help on development could be obtained.

Finally, the planners deal with the problem of putting the entire West Marin master plan into effect.

Attention is given to open space. The consultants say open space should be purchased now, or scenic easements and development rights should be secured. Rights of way for the proposed parkways should be secured early, because they will cost much more later, they contend.

Greenbelting should be encouraged in residential areas, and cluster housing should be used where possible to maintain open space. Deed restrictions in subdivisions should be required to maintain landscaping and trees.

All such developments, including the early purchase of school sites, will cost money, the planners acknowledge, but there is no detailed estimate of how much would be needed, or even of how many acres might be required.

Local groups are urged to get together to plan the economic aspects for securing open areas, and to devise programs for financing major land purchases.

The planners say that for organized local action, several ways of organizing might be checked into. Among the first mentioned is incorporation as a city.

Special districts are also considered, but most careful consideration is given to the community services district, on the grounds that it can accomplish many things a city can do, but need not be automatically responsible for all the things a city must do.

A county service area is also mentioned, although it is noted that in this case some local control must be lost to the county board of supervisors.

Wrecking Crew At Wrong Address

DENVER (UPI) — Mrs. Mary Costello of Denver was more than mildly shocked yesterday when she went to put the car in the garage. Most of it wasn't there—the garage, that is.

Completes Training

Marine Pvt. Noel R. Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Roach of 1901 Indian Valley Road, Novato, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at the Second Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

Historic Canoes Encounter Change

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI) — The canoe has come a long way since Indians built them from birchbark and rawhide in the early days of North America.

Latest models, built at a plant near Lake Texoma, can be propelled by outboard motors and sails as well as by paddles.

Bob Drolet, manager of the Grumman Alied Industries plant, said the small craft are found over most of the United States and are becoming more popular in the Southwest. His Texas firm will make 1,400 canoes and boats this year.

His Ring Goes Down The Drain

During spring housecleaning his wife was cleaning out the sink trap when the wooden stick she was probing with struck something hard. She carefully raised it and after a good cleaning it appears as bright as new.

Couple To Fete 50th Wedding Anniversary

A pair of transplanted Texans who called California home 40 years ago will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in San Rafael on June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest C. Rockwell of 804 A Street, will be honored at a party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Letha Semorile of 11 Constance Drive, San Rafael.

Among the guests will be their three sons, Bud R. Rockwell of 73 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, George Rockwell of Gilroy, and Nelson Rockwell of Pacific Grove.

Rockwell, who is 78, was a carpenter for nearly 40 years, having retired in 1962. He was born in Marshall, Mo., but his family took him to Amarillo, Tex., when he was five years old.

Mrs. Rockwell was born, reared and married on a farm near Dublin, Tex. She taught grammar school for four years before they were wed, then was a substitute teacher for another year until she retired to become a full time wife and mother.

Like many Texans, the couple journeyed to California in the mid-20s. They settled in Yreka, Siskiyou County, in 1924, and stayed there until 1935, when they moved to Red Bluff, Tehama County.

They came to San Rafael in 1941.

For Mrs. Rockwell, the party will be a double celebration. The anniversary will fall on her 77th birthday.

Sausalito Summer Rec Program Starts June 29

Sausalito's first summer recreation program in about 10 years will be held June 29 to Aug. 7 for Sausalito children at Central School and will include kindergarten through eighth grade.

Permission slips to take part in the program have been sent home with Sausalito school children. Children not attending Sausalito schools who wish to take part may get slips at the city hall.

The Sausalito Recreation Commission, according to commissioner James E. Muldoon, has advised that the program is "not a baby sitting service" but a chance for children to learn basic skills in outdoor sports and take part in a craft program. There will be a charge for materials.

Mrs. Joan O'Connor will head the craft program and R. G. Harvey, the outdoor program. Part-time volunteers are needed to help directors, Muldoon said.

Volunteer Firemen Create Real Mess

MIAMI (AP) — Twenty well-meaning firefighters caused more damage than the hotel fire they attempted to battle, the Miami Fire Department said.

Hotel guests grabbed a fire hose, but ran out of hose 40 feet from the fire, so they decided to give the area a good soaking, "for good measure."

Jet Crash Kills Two

MANILA (UPI)—Two U.S. Air Force officers were killed today when their jet bomber crashed at the Crow Valley bombing range, 13 miles northwest of Clark Field, the Air Force announced. Names ofthe victims were not disclosed immediately.

Five Generations Have Hair Cuts

He operates the Aztec Barber Shop and has been in the same location on Main Street for the entire 54 years.

The Aztec Barber Shop is the third oldest business in Aztec. Oldest is the Aztec Independent-Review which has operated 76 years. The 60-year-old Citizens Bank is the second oldest.

Current says he has done barber work for as many as five generations of some local families.

Britons Building New Ocean Liner

LONDON (AP)—The proposed new 58,000 ton Cunard liner, so far called the Q-4, will be a three-class ship.

The successor to the Queen Mary will have first, cabin and tourist classes. It also will have three restaurants located above the main passenger deck.

The Q-4 is expected to cost about 22 million pounds ($61,000,000).

History Of Marin City To Be Presented

The Marin County Historical Society will present a program on the story of Marin City from the original grant of Rancho Saucelito to Capt. Willian Antonio Richardson in 1830 to the present day, at a meeting of the Marin City branch of the society at 2 p.m. June 21, in the gymnaisum, Marin City.

Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park and Mrs. Marmion Marvin, both of Mill Valley, will present information on the first 100 years of the history of the area. John Thomson, chairman of the society's Marin City committee, will present the building years, 1941-42. Daniel Allen of Larkspur will give the story of the war years. Pictures and memorabilia will be displayed and refreshments served.

There will be music by the choir of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church under direction of Beverly Barnes, with George Duke playing the organ.

Penders' Son To Be Graduated From USF

Thomas D. Penders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Penders of 93 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, will be graduated from University of San Francisco Sunday with a bachelor of science degree.

Penders has been selected as a candidate for officers training with the navy and is to report to Newport, R.I., in August.

Group Therapy For Speech Problems Being Offered

Group therapy for high school students who stutter will be a highlight of a six-week speech program to be offered by the Marin Society for Crippled Children and Adults starting June 22.

The program will offer aid to children and adults with various speech problems, according to the society's speech therapy chairman, Mrs. James Barry, but will include six weekly therapy sessions for stutterers.

Conducted by Dr. Arden Monson, the therapy will be similar to that offered for the first time at last year's annual clinic.

Director of the program, which will be conducted at the society's speech center at 629 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, is Mrs. Helen Daggett. Speech evaluation and therapy will be provided by Mrs. Wilda Flower, Dean Polton and Dr. Monson.

Registration, which closes next Thursday, may be made at the society office.

Dixie To Set Teachers' Pay

Trustees of the Dixie School district will meet at 8 p.m. today to set salaries, and to consider a proposal to spend $3 a pupil more next year for materials and supplies. The meeting will be in the district offices at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Whether annual additional pay for teaching vice principals should be raised from $400 to $500 will be brought up, and the music director and vice principals will be named.

The need for more administrative staff at the schools and more time for the library clerk will be taken up, along with a proposed sabbatical leave policy, said Supt. Dennie B. Willis.

Three-R School Grad Reported

The name of George Peeples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Peeples of San Rafael, was inadvertently omitted from a list of high school graduates of the Three-R School in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

Peeples will be graduated with his classmates in ceremonies at the school, 3833 Redwood Highway, at 11 a.m. Friday.

Ross Man Gets Video Award

He was Caryl Coleman, of 73 Wellington Avenue, director of public affairs for San Francisco television station KPIX. On behalf of station manager Louis S. Simon, Coleman received an "Ohio State award" for the station's program on "The Case for the Limited Child," a documentary on education of retarded children in Hayward.

The award was sponsored by Ohio State University's Institute for Education by Radio-Television.

Students Aiding Negroes In South

College of Marin students have collected more than 800 books and about 50 pounds of clothing in a month-long drive to help Negro families in Mississippi.

The drive was part of a Bay Area-wide effort sponsored by the student non-violent coordinating committee, said Fred B. Winn, coordinator of the college drive.

The books and clothing will be shipped to Jackson, Miss., for distribution to Negroes in that state.

Harry Russell Has Earned Educator's Highest Honor

How can Tamalpais High School District ever be the same without Harry Russell, veteran of 40 years service here?

"Quiet, unassuming" are words usually applied to gentle souls like Harry Russell. Trouble is, these words don't carry any implication of the force which he could bring to bear in a situation in spite of his gentle manner.

Contradictory as it sounds, you have to say Harry Russell was quiet and unassuming but nonetheless forceful.

(And let's not talk about him in the past tense; he still has a lot of "mileage" left. He is merely retiring from Tam; not departing this earth.)

As teacher, attendance officer, counselor, dean of boys, and principal he somehow inspired his young charges to want "to make something of themselves."

For 40 years Tamalpais High School students have had a sympathetic ear they could always take their problems to. Harry Russell's office door was always open to students. And his automobile door was always open to those in need of a "lift," too.

Just about the highest compliment that can be paid to an educator after 40 years of service is this, that he inspired his students.

Harry Russell is far too youthful to retire from active living and we rather imagine that he always will be too youthful for that.

We know that his personal following of "alumni" along with those of us who have observed his service over the years join in wishing him all the very best in whatever direction he chooses to channel his energies after his "retirement."

Wind And The Nerves

This has been an unusually windy year in Marin and some people who are extra sensitive to weather conditions are a trifle edgy.

Scientific studies have revealed the fact that school children are restless and do not study as well on windy days as on calm ones. Some people have a phobia about the wind and on windy days they go to pieces.

Wind bothers the gardener because it dries out the soil. It makes fire danger greater, too.

Its redeeming feature is that it cools the coastal counties in summer when the rest of the country swelters. As far as we're concerned, it's well worth it.

NOW LONG BUT LIMITED

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

(Last article in a four-part series reviewing the long 1964 legislative session.)

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Are annual sessions of the legislature the answer to keeping up with the 3.5-billion-dollar-a-year operation of California state government?

The first answer to that question might be another question: If the recently-ended 92-day session of the legislature was not an annual session, what was it?

THE TRUTH, of course, is that the 1964 sessions — all three of them — dragged on for three months, but they were limited. First off, there was the constitutional 30-day budget session, which lately has not been producing any budgets. Then there was the first extraordinary, or special, session and the second extraordinary session, which was called for consideration of a budget.

No subject may be considered at special session unless the governor issues a proclamation and includes that subject on the agenda. This originally was intended only for emergency situations. Recently, subjects have been included at the special session because there appeared to be the chance to settle them.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and most members of the legislature agree that the present setup is not the best.

1. The governor has complete control over what is to be considered by the lawmakers in a special session. However, once a subject is opened, it is wide open and any parts of it may be considered.

2. In even-numbered years, there is always a primary election coming up on the first Tuesday in June. This wasn't much of a deterrent this year. All the assemblymen and half of the senators must seek re-election each two years. Every four years, the governor and other constitutional officers are up for re-election.

3. There is no hard and fast deadline for ending a special session. In the regular, odd-year sessions, there is a constitutionally mandatory adjournment time. If opposing sides want to wait each other out they can, but one side has to give before deadline or the bill is lost.

THERE ARE SOME built-in drawbacks to annual, regular sessions:

1. First is the fact that California traditionally has had a part-time legislature. This means that the legislators are business or professional people. They operate their business but have the situation where they can be absent for several months.

Annual sessions would mean legislators would have to devote full time to the work. This would mean the lawmakers would lose touch with the necessity of making livings in the business community.

2. Most legislators agree that any proposal for regular sessions of the legislature would have to be tied in with a salary increase. Lawmakers now receive $6,000 a year in salary. They draw $20 per day while in session plus money for per diems while attending committee meetings.

The legislators have $1,250 per month for operation of a district office, and this includes an allowance for a car. Most agree that, if they were to devote full time to the job, they'd need more money.

3. No matter how long a session, most important bills are approved in the final hours, when a deadline approaches. If the legislature had a strict requirement that it adjourn in 30 days, most of the big bills would stand or fall in the last few days. If the limit is six months, most of the big issues would be saved to be settled in the last few days just the same.

Retired Folks Need Trailer Parks Here

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your issue of May 27, you are bewailing the fact in your editorial that the Planners erred turning down Retirement Plan. . . .

Marin County has lost a lot of retired persons to Carmel Valley, Vacaville and elsewhere and will continue to do just that in the future if the Supervisors do not wake up to the fact that elderly persons are an asset to any community.

I am 79 years of age and am semi-retired; however, I do not think of myself as a senior citizen who should depend on my community to help to support me.

If the Board of Supervisors would ever get off their high horse and would permit a Mobile Home Park to be built in this county, then this county would not lose anyone. The retired persons living in such a park would be an asset to this county, and the park would be a showplace. . . .

Stunned Over Bunker Reply

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding my letter to the editor, which you printed May 30, and Mr. Bunker's reply that he had one meeting with me and I refused his terms for a second meeting, to say the least, I was stunned when I read the editor's note as a reply to my letter.

I realize a lot of parents probably complain to the superintendent of schools, Mr. Bunker. He apparently has me confused with some one else. I was denied an audience with Mr. Bunker regarding the incident in question, and further have never spoken to the gentleman over the telephone. All data was relayed to both parties (Mr. Bunker and myself) via his secretary.

I certainly never refused to see Mr. Bunker no matter who was present!

Mr. Bunker's secretary said as far as Mr. Bunker was concerned the matter was closed. I again asked for an audience, at which time the secretary repeated her former statement. I asked if he refused to see me and she said the matter was closed as far as Mr. Bunker was concerned.

I am sure Mr. Bunker could not pick me out of a group of ladies, nor could I pick him out, I don't even know what he looks like.

Fluoride Research Claimed Suppressed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Amidst all the furor regarding artificial fluoridation, perhaps the following emerges as the most shocking proof that promoters of the plan simply are uninformed or not to be trusted.

Studies conducted in 1956 and again in 1959, by the University of Wisconsin, under the direction of Dr. Ionel Rapaport have established indisputably that there is twice as much Mongolian idocy where there is fluorine in the drinking water.

. . . We leave it to readers to decide—if decency and a true concern for the health and welfare of its citizens had prevailed on the part of our Public Health Service and the dental and medical associations, would not the Rapaport findings have been news-flashed throughout the nation?

At last, word is spreading that other scientists in addition to Dr. Rapaport have learning that, when results of dedicated and genuine research turn out to be a serious threat to fluoridation promotion, the fluoride curtain descends on the double! Isn't there something terribly suspect about a supposed health measure which requires these methods to promote it?

Freeway Deplored As Unbeautiful

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to pass on a comment of mine after spending a week with friends in Marin County.

I believe the freeway (101) through your county is the shabbiest, grubbiest, most littered, most unbeautiful and certainly the most unlandscaped I have encountered in the state of California.

You people should come to the Los Angeles area and see what your highway department does in the way of trying to beautify and landscape the freeways, or see some of the parkways in New York state. You then would be dissatisfied with your bare dirt and weed- and trash-strewn Marin County freeway.

BENNETT CERF

PAT O'BRIEN tells of an old ham actor who was happy to secure a bit part in a new Broadway play, laid in an East Side saloon. He was to portray a customer in act one, and again in act three.

On the opening night, the director grabbed him when he made his exit in the first act and roared, "You dummy! You left your hat on the bar and the whole audience noticed it." The contrite actor made sure to retrieve the hat when he appeared in act three. When he placed it on his head, the audience surprised him by bursting into laughter and applause. "What did I do now?" asked the actor when he escaped to the wings. "Idiot!" bellowed the director. "This last scene is supposed to be 15 years later!"

FOUR GHOSTS were engaged in a hotly-contested bridge game when a fifth ghost opened the door to enter, loosing a gust of wind that blew all the cards off the table. "Confound it, Archie," grumbled one of the card-playing ghosts. "Don't you know what a keyhole is for?"

THE FATHER OF a teenage daughter found her red-haired boy friend with a coke in one hand and a huge slab of apple pie in the other. "I'm mighty glad to meet you, Clifton," declared the father. "I've noticed you in our budget for some time."

Visit From Israeli Prime Minister Is Unique Event; Has Arabs Angry

WASHINGTON — The United States is host this week to an important head of government who isn't asking for anything, doesn't want anything, and against whom we have been undiplomatically warned.

This should make for interesting conversation when the new prime minister of Israel, Levi Eshkol, sits down in the White House to talk with President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It will be a unique, a valuable, and, to some, an unwelcome event.

THIS IS A UNIQUE event because, strange as it is, this is the first time that an Israeli prime minister has been officially invited by the president to visit the United States. David Ben-Gurion, during the 15 years he was prime minister, came to the U. S. numerous times — but never at the formal invitation of the government. He conferred with U. S. presidents, but never officially and never in Washington. They would meet unofficially — and almost surreptitiously—usually in a New York hotel.

President Johnson, a very direct individual, changed this way of dealing with the Israeli prime minister when he gave a personal letter to Sargent Shriver to present to Eshkol several months ago.

I SAID THAT to some Eshkol's presence in Washington is unwelcome—unwelcome to the Arab nations.

The Arab governments disliked the Eshkol visit so much that they went to the extreme and inappropriate length of directing their 12 ambassadors to wait on Secretary of State Dean Rusk en masse.

I doubt that Rusk had any difficulty with this odd overture. He undoubtedly thanked his visitors for their courtesy and their counsel and made it clear that, while the U. S. esteems its friends, it cannot allow its friends to determine whom its other friends shall be.

THERE IS NO doubt that President Johnson's actions were deliberate, not to be provocative to Arab sensitivities, but to make it authoritatively clear that he stands undeviatingly behind the policy statement which President John F. Kennedy made on May 8, 1963, when he said that, "if aggression occurred (in the Middle East), the United States would take action through the United Nations and on its own."

Apart from general Arab antipathy to Israel, the threat of military action against Israel has been specifically and, in recent weeks, repeatedly made by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

"Israel will not be able to escape this fate."

Premier Eshkol is not asking for U. S. arms to offset the sale of Soviet weapons to the UAR, but he is hopeful that President Johnson will sense from their first-hand talks what it means to live under the gun.

Red 'Eagle Scout' Is Hero In China

By G. A. BARKER

AN ORDINARY soldier, Lei Feng, who died in a truck accident in August, 1962, at the age of 22, has been singled out by the Chinese Communists as "a model of the new socialist man."

Peking beats the propaganda drums, pastes his portrait on walls, and publishes his story and his diary. A Chinese publication says in China today he has become the subject of exhibitions, films and articles; that the youth of the nation are trying to "be like Lei Feng; that children pledge to follow his example and older people, too, are inspired by his selfless determination to build socialism."

He was frugal, clean-living and dedicated to the motherland. He strikes a Western reader as sort of a super Boy Scout, naive, half-educated, but quite hep on Communist dogma. He was something of an idealist.

WHAT WAS HE? Just a plain soldier who became a squad leader in the Red Army. As Voltaire said of God, if Lei Feng did not exist, the Chinese Communists would have had to invent him.

When Lei Feng was only four his father died, "broken by the heavy loads he had been forced to carry as a labourer for the Kuomintang army and the Japanese invader, and by the beatings he received at their hands. Lei Feng's 12-year-old brother then went to work in a factory to support the family—his mother, younger brothers and himself. They lived on the verge of starvation, and the breadwinner, the eldest boy, soon contracted tuberculosis and died. Following quickly on this tragedy, the youngest child died of malnutrition and the mother became a servant in the house of a landlord named Tan. Raped by the landlord's son, she hanged herself one night in the summer of 1947. Before her suicide, she said bitterly to her only remaining son, 'May Heaven protect you so that when you grow up you can avenge our family.'"

Kuomintang and Japanese cruelty, starvation, disease, wicked landlords, the lecherous son, the melodramatic plea of the suicide - bound mother — all this makes a classic propaganda picture. And in China today literature and all other media of communications are the handmaidens of the party, and Mao is a jealous keeper of this harem of handmaidens.

AFTER MORE cruelty at the hands of a landlord's wife and two more years of the bad old days, the People's Liberation (Red) Army entered Lei Feng's village in Hunan. Almost immediately things changed for the boy. The local Communist authorities cared for him and sent him to school for six years, then he joined the Young Pioneers and in 1956 was given a job as a messenger in the county office of the Communist Party. Then he joined in voluntary labor on a water conservation project and a few months later he became a tractor driver on a collective farm. In 1958 he went to Anshan to work in the big iron and steel complex.

About this time he commenced to keep a diary which is well larded with Communist homilies. For example: "Each tall building is made from single bricks and stones. Why should anyone refuse to be such a brick or stone?"

Although he was underweight and not tall enough, he talked his way into the army. He won several citations and medals and quickly rose to squad leader, but it was his good-deed-a-day philosophy combined with his parroting of Maoism.

He helped old ladies, gave away his meager funds, and on days off he helped his comrades wash and mend their clothes. He might have made Eagle Scout, had he had the good fortune to be born an American.

First Aid Course Comes In Handy —But Not With Ailing Jaybird

I did my best, but I'm not too sure it was the right thing. It's a case where a little knowledge might have been too much.

The jay was grounded in a nearby driveway, fluttering feebly when I found it. It looked like shock. Close examination showed that the left leg was useless from the hip on down. It wobbled loosely.

NOW MY WIFE and I just completed a Red Cross first aid course under the auspices of the Inverness Volunteer Fire Department. Instructor J. M. Van Soest, a county fireman himself, told us a good deal about shock and fractures and how to treat them.

He did a fine job. We all passed the course. The trouble was, everything he told us was about people. Nothing at all about birds.

One of the first things you are supposed to do after an accident is find out exactly what happened. This helps determine the extent of injury.

With a Steller jay, this was difficult. There were no witnesses around, and the bird wasn't talking.

WITH SHOCK, you keep the patient lying down and make sure he is comfortable. The bird would not buy that at all. He crawled under some ivy with the hope, evidently, that I would go away.

In such cases with humans, the first-aider is supposed to tell the victim who he is and that he has completed Red Cross training. I suppose I could have told the jay I was number 12 on a roster of 13 in the Inverness Volunteer Fire Department. But somehow, he did not look like an impressionable bird.

The first aid treatment for fractures is to keep the limb quiet, avoiding any further damage and pain that comes if the bone ends are allowed to move around and grate on each other.

This calls for traction and a splint. Instructor Van Soest said one of the best things to use for splints is cardboard, the kind used in cartons. This is folded around the limb and bandaged tightly to give support. The splint should extend beyond the joints above and below the break.

IT WAS PRETTY hard to tell where the jay had suffered the worst damage. It called for a splint on the entire leg, from the hip to the claws.

Working in miniature with heavy cardboard is not easy, especially when the victim keeps flapping his wings and trying to peck you. It took several tries.

Finally the splint was placed, two pieces of cardboard cut at an angle to conform with the bend in the knee. Rubber bands served well to hold the two pieces firmly on either side of the limb.

Then, as a treatment for shock, the bird was placed in a box with water, some bird seed and a few pieces of yellow cheese. The box was placed in a quiet corner.

"We've done all we can," my wife said.

From what I can remember of the first aid course, I think she was probably right.

I hope so. The following morning we found the bird dead.

German Knew Of Soviets' Bugs

MAINZ, Germany (UPI)—Hans Kroll, former West German ambassador to Moscow, said yesterday he had installed a "bug-proof" sound booth in his former embassy and held confidential talks there with American and British colleagues.

"I even dictated my classified letters and telegrams in the booth, which was shipped from Germany," he said.

Last month the U.S. State Department announced the discovery of scores of eavesdropping microphones built into the walls of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow by Soviet agents.

Commission To Meet On Marin City Problem

The Marin County Human Rights Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center to discuss problems of police protection and recent violence in Marin City. The group is expected to set up a task force to look into the problem.

The county board of supervisors, after approving an increase in the staff of the sheriff's office to handle the immediate problems in the area, asked the commission to recommend treatment for underlying causes of the disturbances.

If You Want To Start Fight, Try Jumping To Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The poorest stenographers in the office usually have the longest fingernails. No girl has the energy and power of attention to do her work well and still take care of mandarin-length fingernails.

You can always tell who is the master in the house by whether the husband or the wife leaps up and races out to the refrigerator to get the refreshments during the television commercial. Another indication is which one bosses the selection of programs. In most homes the hand that rocks the cradle also controls the television knob.

Tennessee and Missouri once led the nation in mules. Now each of these states has more golfers than mules. Is this true progress?

IT COSTS MORE for a girl to have a big wedding today than it did for her grandmother to furnish her home and have her first baby.

Artificial flowers can be made so colorfully real now that they impress you by their beauty for the first week; after that they become as tiresome as people who never do anything but smile.

EVER NOTICE the mistake most young fellows make who try to build up their bodies by lifting barbells? They wind up with overdeveloped necks that make their heads look too small.

If a man keeps more than three kinds of medicine in his office desk drawer before he's 40, the odds are he won't last to retirement — at least on that job.

Every man goes through life hoping that someday he will find a clothing store salesman whose opinion he can trust utterly.

It is admirable to be able to quote a dozen well-loved poems from memory. But anyone who can recite 100 poems could have spent his time better writing one poem of his own.

Women never tire of discussing their honeymoon trips, but all men seem to remember about them afterward is how many miles to the gallon they got out of their cars.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, June 4, the 156th day of 1964 with 210 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1800, the finishing touches were put on the White House.

In 1896, Henry Ford wheeled his first car from a brick shed in Detroit and drove it around the darkened city streets on a trial run.

In 1942, the battle of Midway began and the Japanese fleet suffered its first decisive defeat of World War II by the United States.

In 1944, U.S. and British soldiers occupied Rome, the first Axis capital to fall to the Allies.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Swift Bridge Play Is Poor Substitute For Exercise

If you want to work up a good sweat, take up golf or tennis.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

GREAT RAPIDITY

Declarer led out the ace and king of spades with great rapidity, but this did not produce any perspiration. That came later.

When the clubs failed to break South stopped to mop his brow. The room had suddenly become too warm. South had already lost two hearts, and he still had to lose a club and a trump.

"Very unlucky," South complained. "With any reasonable break in clubs, it would have been a laydown."

DESERVED FATE

It was true that the club break was unlucky, but South deserved his fate. He had misplayed the trumps.

It was reasonable to lead out one high trump from the South hand, but not a second. After taking one round of trumps, South should lead a diamond to dummy and return the jack of spades through East.

The idea is to cover if East produces the queen of spades, but to let the jack of spades ride otherwise. This play cannot lose and may gain.

CARDS LIE

As the cards lie, declarer would avoid the loss of a spade trick. If East had started with Q-10-x-x of spades, the play would limit the trump loss to one trick instead of two.

South could not avoid the loss of a trump trick when he led out the ace and king.

Even if he captured the doubleton queen, the other opponent would still have a trump trick with his 10-x-x of spades.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 2
♥ K 8 5
♦ A 10 9 5
♣ A 7 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs or two diamonds.

Easter Seal Drive Reaches $14,963

Donations in the 1964 Easter Seal campaign have reached $14,963, an increase of 18 per cent from the same time last year, according to Dr. Christian Gronbeck Jr., campaign chairman.

Gronbeck said the figure, calculated last week, represents efforts to date by the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which hopes to raise $22,000 this year to support its program of services to the handicapped.

The society sponsors such programs as a speech therapy center, adult recreation program, summer "camperships" to aid handicapped children in attending private camps, and services on an individual basis.

Major source of income is the annual campaign. Funds raised by sale of seals at Easter are supplemented by special events and contributions through the year.

Sausalito Students To Receive Diplomas

Overlooked were Peter R. Brown, Michael H. Hull, Roger C. Schaufel and Ruth J. Scott, all of whom will receive bachelor of arts degrees at the ceremonies at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Cow Palace.

Royal Couple Visits

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The Shah of Iran and his wife, Empress Farah, flew to New York today for a two-week visit to the United States and a meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson. The couple will also inaugurate an Iranian art exhibit in Washington and receive honorary degrees.

Motorist Fined

John Michael Sawczyn, 19, Hamilton Air Force Base, was fined $139 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. He was arrested on Diablo Avenue by Novato police May 31.

Inferno Destroys 40 Homes, Kills Two

The fire apparently was started by a candle in the home of the two girls who died in the flames.

...and, for 7 obvious reasons

You good people of Marin know we are the perennial optimists at Ames Fordland. Well, in our optimism, we practically demanded the factory brass give us more and still more new 1964 Fords. And why not, with the traditional Spring Buying Season upon us? Well, we outguessed ourselves, a little, anyway. May was another record sales month, but not great enough to maintain a sales pace required to match our stock of new Fords on hand and on the way from the factory. So, come in. Grab a bargain—and take us off the limb.

When Child Suffers From Asthma, There's Many Ways To Help Him

VAN DELLEN

Most children with asthma are allergic to foods, medicines, or pollens or other inhalants. Now and then the attack follows a cold or bronchitis, suggesting that infection is responsible. Wheezing, coughing, and shortness of breath are easily controlled, but the cause must be found and removed to bring permanent relief.

A complete allergy survey may be necessary to uncover the culprit. This includes a detailed history of the child's problem, along with a reasonable number of skin tests. The tests should be confined to those having a bearing on his condition. There is no need to check a 5-year-old for sensitivity to chewing tobacco, coffee, or tea.

AVOIDANCE OF the offenders is the first recommendation. Pets have no place in the home of an allergic child, especially when he is sensitive to animal dander. Nonessential dust collectors should be removed, including wool blankets, stuffed toys, rugs, fabric draperies, and upholstered chairs.

Molds are common allergens and are suspected when the child lives in an old damp house. Pollens come to mind if the attacks are seasonal. Industrial dusts also must be considered.

THE ANTIBIOTICS are used when infection is the cause. In some cases, removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids is followed by improvement of asthma.

When it is not possible to remove the causative agents, the physician usually gives the youngster a series of injections to make him less sensitive. In time the boy or girl may become sensitive to other inhalants, foods, or chemicals. Asthma returns unless prophylactic treatments are started as soon as this new allergy is discovered.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

SORE FEET

G. M. A. writes: Every Sunday I take a six- to eight-mile hike without tiring. But the balls of my feet become sore and tender and stay that way for a few days. What do you think is the cause?

REPLY

The transverse (metatarsal) arch may be strained or you may have the same soreness that most sedentary workers get when they walk miles once a week.

INHALED FUNGUS

P. M. writes: I understand histoplasmosis is caused by a fungus. How is it caught? Can it spread to other members of the household?

REPLY

This fungus is found in dust and is inhaled when blown into the air. Chicken houses, areas contaminated by bat or bird guano, and caves are more likely to harbor the organisms.

LEARNING TO READ

E. M. writes: How do you learn to read a thermometer?

REPLY

Ask your physician or druggist to show you. Directions sometimes are printed on the label.

Did He Come Down In Time For Class?

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — It has to be hard to find a more eager—or younger—airman than Jon Vanderhoof of Scottsbluff.

He was eligible for a private pilot's license when he was 17.

Grad Rite Moves To His Bedside

PITTSBURG (UPI) — James Daley, 18, won't be able to attend graduation ceremonies at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. So the school is bringing the ceremonies to him.

Daley, who has attended the school since being enrolled in the kindergarten class in 1951, underwent an emergency appendectomy Tuesday at Mercy Hospital.

The school principal, the president of its board of directors and Daley's eight senior classmates will assemble beside his bed at 4 p.m. today for commencement.

Squatters Busy In Central America

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)— An agriculture ministry spokesman said today Communist-led squatters, including some "invaders" from El Salvador and Honduras, are seizing ranches in Chinandega province.

Killer Rains Hit

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Floods following heavy rains have taken a toll of at least 12 year and have caused extensive property damage in Colombia this week, it was reported today.

FBI Didn't Think This Was Funny

HOUSTON (UPI) — Federal agents agreed yesterday when James Jenkins, 26, told them he could not be arrested as an army deserted because, technically, he was never in the army.

Jenkins told the FBI that even though he served nine days before he walked away from his army post in 1962, he was never in the army because his brother, Curtis, had taken all the tests to qualify for the enlistment.

The FBI arrested him and filed charges of illegally wearing a uniform for the nine days he served.

Brown Names Marin Men To Fair Board

Alfred J. Bianchi of Point Reyes Station and William A. Gnoss of Novato were reappointed today as directors of the 4th District Agricultural Assn., which sponsors the Sonoma-Marin District Fair in Petaluma.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Bianchi, a Republican, has been on the board 26 years. Gnoss, a Democrat, is chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and has served on the fair board 12 years.

DIRECTOR — Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will conduct the College of Marin's a cappella choir and madrigal group in their spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus.

College's A Cappella Choir, Madrigal Group Concert Set

College of Marin's a capella choir and madrigal group will present their spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Director of the vocal ensembles will be Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, the college's choral program director.

A capella choir members Virginia Helton, Kathryn Greiner, Mary Duggan and Craig Bond will be featured in several movements of J. S. Bach's "Jesu, Priceless Treasure." Misses Helton, Greiner and Duggan will sing solos in the 60-voice choir's performance of "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi.

The madrigal group will present works by Morley, di Lasso, Wilbye and Haydn.

Twin Cities School Sets Graduation

Mrs. Charles Secor, clerk of the Larkspur School District board of trustees, will address eighth grade pupils of Larkspur-Corte Madera School at graduation exercises at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in San Clemente School multi-purpose room.

Catherine Stai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stai of 150 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, will give the salutatory. Nancy Wagstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wagstaff of 472 Montecito Drive, Corte Madera, will be valedictorian. Nancy also will receive the American Legion medal from Charles Young, past commander of Twin Cities Post 313.

Graduates will sing their class song, "June is Buston' Out All Over."

Summer Project

Grant Tanner, a junior at San Rafael Military Academy, will participate in a summer research project for high school students at University of California, under direction of Dr. J. R. Audy of the San Francisco Medical Center. The student is son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tanner, 45 Hickory Avenue, Corte Madera.

3 Marin Students Will Be Graduated

Three Marin County students will be graduated June 7 from Willamette University, Salem, Ore.

Clark O. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Anderson, Ross, will receive a bachelor of arts degree in psychology; Thomas G. Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Newell, San Anselmo, will receive a degree in a combined political science and philosophy major. Geoffrey Rutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rutkowski, will receive a bachelor of music degree.

Wins Prize

Artist Carl Broderick of Novato won first prize for an oil painting entered in last weekend's Sonoma Valley Art Club outdoor show at Sonoma. The same painting also won an award for excellence from the jury. In addition, another painting brought him an honorable mention in oils.

Companion Is Found Right In Backyard

Seventy-six-year-old Mrs. Marina Turrini of San Rafael will return to her native Italy for the first time in 51 years June 17, thanks to a fortunate coincidence in airline bookings.

She will be flying from New York to Milan with her son's friend, but it wasn't planned that way.

Several weeks ago, neither knew the other was going and Mrs. Turrini was ready to back out of the trip because she wouldn't know anyone on the plane.

"She said she wouldn't go unless she had companionship," reported her son, Angelo Turrini, 11 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael. "She wanted to know someone ahead of time."

Unbeknown to Turrini, a friend, A. L. Nieri of Novato, vice president of Bank of Marin, was booked on the flight along with his wife, Evogene, and two daughters, Suzan, 18, and Sandra, 10.

Alitalia first notified Turrini that there were no co-passengers from the West Coast, and then later told him Nieri was on the same flight. Nieri and his mother have had some get acquainted chats, Turrini said.

The Nieris, making their first trip to Italy, will visit the Tuscany province, Florence and Lucca, for about a month.

Mrs. Turrini will visit the province of Brescia in Northern Italy for about two months and will return with a cousin, who will be making her first trip to the United States.

Turrini will fly to New York with his mother, where she will meet the Nieris for the flight to Italy.

Graduation Set At Isabel Cook

Four eighth grade pupils will discuss various facets of the traditional graduation theme, "Responsibility" when Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo, graduates 78 youngsters at 8 p.m. on June 11.

The theme speakers will be Arthur Pla, Curry Miller, La Donna Hall and Patricia Stamper. In addition, student body president Donald Alvarado will welcome the graduation rites' audience.

San Anselmo District superintendent of schools Steven Parodi will preside over the ceremonies; Robert Corlett, president of the board of trustees, will present the diplomas.

The school orchestra and chorus, directed by Richard Judd, will perform.

THE DEER WENT THAT-A-WAY

Mrs. Petie Fouts looks through broken glass door of Wardrobe Cleaners at 5 Front Street, Novato, after a deer came calling about 10:15 a.m. and didn't bother to open the door. The young buck, unable to find its way out, left a trail of blood around the cleaning shop until Bill Packard of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, and John Irons of 555 Canal Street, San Rafael, were called from a neighboring shop to open the back door. It then left a trail of blood spatters out First Street and up Mirabella Avenue, eluding pursuit by neighborhood residents and Novato police.

Brown Offers Peace Pipe To Fellow Demos

And Thinks Some Republicans May Switch Loyalties

The Democratic governor also told a news conference that Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in Tuesday's California Republican primary is likely to drive what he called moderates out of the GOP.

PREDICTS SPLIT

He said he did not see how men such as New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and California's Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel "can support Barry Goldwater."

The governor made it clear that he wanted an end to the Democratic in-fighting that brought bitterness to race between Pierre Salinger and State Controller Alan Cranston for the party's senatorial nomination.

A Cranston supporter, Brown wished Salinger "would have gotten in a week earlier. Then I wouldn't have had to choose."

PRAISES UNRUH

There were even kind words for Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, the powerful Los Angeles Democrat who had backed the former White House press secretary.

Brown signed a school finance bill pushed through the legislature by Unruh and praised him for the measure.

And he said he thought Cranston made a mistake by repeated attacks on Unruh's part in the Salinger campaign.

"His strategy was not my strategy," he said.

Brown also indicated he

Retirement Apartment Squeaks By In Larkspur

Council Split 3-2 On Plan

By DOROTHY SIMPERS

Larkspur City Council early today approved a controversial proposal for a 12-story, five-million-dollar retirement center on the south side of Bon Air hill, off Via Holon.

The council, by 3-to-2 vote, reversed the action of the planning commission and granted a variance to permit a 140-foot high structure. The height limit under the Larkspur zoning ordinance is 35 feet.

NEAR HOSPITAL

By a 4-to-1 vote the council declared its intention to grant a use permit for the development. It continued the matter to its next meeting, June 17, to allow time to incorporate certain conditions in the permit.

The council actions came after 1 a.m., after more than four hours of listening to the developers describe plans, hearing pros and cons from the public, reading letters from the public, noting petitions for and against, and expressing their own opinions on the proposal. More than 100 persons attended the public hearing.

VARIANCE JUSTIFIED

Valley Investment Co. plans to build the retirement residence, including medical facilities, on a six-acre site about 1,000 feet east of Marin General Hospital. The site is owned by Niels Schultz Sr. and his sons, Niels Jr. and Alvin, Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General and Novato General hospitals, heads the developers.

The planning commission on May 19 denied the permit on the basis that parking was inadequate, and the height variance on the grounds that sufficient proof of hardship was not demonstrated.

The matter was appealed to the council by the city manager, on request of councilmen, who felt the final decision should rest with elected officials.

Mayor Neil R. Brixon, Councilmen Earl J. O'Grady and Henry Brocco voted to grant the variance. Opposed were Councilmen Vaughn Marker and Robert J. Smith.

The council held that cer-

Tiburon Faces Lawlessness After Achieving Cityhood

Sometime next week, Tiburon will become a sort of legal vacuum.

When a county board of supervisors resolution affirming the Tiburon incorporation election is delivered to Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, probably next Wednesday, the new city hall will become a reality.

At that moment, there will be no zoning ordinance or building code for the area. There will be no parking regulations or sanitary regulations, according to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

Planning director B. D. Dobbs said as he removed about five items from the planning commission agenda on June 15, but added the effect is actually much greater.

All tentative subdivision maps approved by the county for the area will be void. So will all adjustments and variances, unless construction has actually started.

Dobbs said the new city council may quickly, if it wishes, pass an ordinance providing that such planning administrative decisions by the county would be official city policy.

Fred C. Hannahs', one of the new councilmen, said the five elected councilmen plan to meet at the Del Mar School at 8 p.m. tomorrow to make plans for action as soon as the city becomes official.

Maloney said legally any meetings held by the council before the county resolution reaches the secretary of state could be held in private, since the city council would not yet exist. But Hannahs said he felt the council would like this apportunity to get used to the Brown Act.

County auditor - controller Michael Mitchell said today he is revising his estimates of state revenues to the county downward to about $65,000 for the coming fiscal year. His original estimate was $86,500. This would result from state subventions which would be diverted to the new city.

County administrator Alan Bruce said no discussion on the question of a contract for services in Tiburon by the county will be started until the city council approaches the county with a proposal. But county officials have made extensive studies of expected costs, and will be ready to start talking business quickly, he added.

Wednesday Should Be New City's Birthdate

Tiburon should actually become a city by next Wednesday.

Marin County Clerk George H. Gnoss said next legal step will be canvassing of the incorporation vote next Tuesday by the county board of supervisors.

He said the board would then declare the incorporation official by entry in the minutes, and the city "Tiburon," as favored by the majority of voters.

Also declared official by the board would be the city officials selected by highest vote. Chosen were five persons from 19 council candidates.

The same day, Gnoss added, the board would file a certified copy of its order with the secretary of state in Sacramento and cause the county clerk to file the affidavit of completion, an action required by the Government Code, with the county recorder.

A description and map of the area involved must accompany the affidavit, he said. Because the certification will be sent by registered mail, and not be received in Sacramento for several hours, Gnoss said, technically it would be about Wednesday before Tiburon can become a city.

City councilmen may then take over their duties and schedule their first meeting.

Park Board Holds Firm For Bulkhead Plan, Rezoning

The Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday took firm stands on use of reservoirs for recreation, open area zoning, and Richardson Bay bulkhead line.

The county board of supervisors will hold a special meeting next Friday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center on the question of a bulkhead line for Richardson Bay. The planning commission has asked that no bulkhead line be set, while more study goes on.

Park commissioners, however, were adamant that a bulkhead line must be placed on the map of Richardson Bay, and soon.

The group directed parks director Kelvin J. Nelson to send the board of supervisors a resolution asking for action, along with a reminder that the Richardson Bay master plan calls for a scenic drive and promenade along the shore and for an aquatic park with at least 1,000 feet of public water frontage.

The commission also voted a specific stand in favor of open area zoning of Marin Municipal Water District lands. The planning commission recently failed to approve such zoning on part of the lands because two members were absent from commission meetings.

Park commissioner Helen Newman said, however, she did not expect to see the zoning applied. She said the two absent planners, George Scott and Edward K. Wachsman, usually vote with the chairman, Niels Schultz Jr., who has opposed the zoning.

She said that most of those opposing the zoning, including the town council of Ross, have been misinformed. She said she was surprised to see water district Mgr. William R. Seeger oppose open area zoning on the grounds that it would not be restrictive enough.

"The present zoning allows hog farms," she said.

Commissioner James M. Fletcher said he was also surprised by recent letters to the Independent-Journal opposing recreational use of water district lands on the grounds that purity of water might be harmed.

"The (Marin Municipal) water district has maintained recreational facilities on its lands for years," he noted. "All the lakes have been fished for years."

He said the people of Ross

D-Day Veterans Revisit Beaches Of Normandy

EDITOR'S NOTE: On D-Day plus six, Harvey Hudson, then a first lieutenant with an artillery battalion, landed Omaha Beach in the Allied on Omaha Beach in the Allied invasion of Nazi-held Europe. Now a member of the Associated Press staff in Paris, he revisits the scenes of battle.

By HARVEY HUDSON

OMAHA BEACH, Normandy (AP)—D-day veterans who make the sentimental trek to the Normandy invasion beaches are gripped by nostalgia and sorrow and thankfulness that they survived. Sometimes they withdraw in confusion, unable to recognize places that once had a life or death importance.

Thousands of American, Canadian, British or French soldiers who took part in the bloody assault on the beaches June 6, 1944, revisit the scene each year. Hundreds were expected to roam over the area, digging deeply into their memories, for the 20th anniversary celebrations this year.

Bernard Rippy of Richmond, Calif., recalling his first trip back to the spot where he landed by glider, said, "The emotional experience really grabbed me. I could almost smell the powder."

Jack Tallerday, Newton, Kan., who landed by parachute, said, "Memory and present-day reality make a starting contrast. It was a three-ring circus when we landed, with ack-ack fire, planes falling, and Germans scattering like chickens. Now it seems odd to see a farmer calmly hoeing his field."

The savage scars of war still disfigure the beaches. Telltale debris of battle litters the sand. Bathers and fishermen saunter-

Thief Steals Dead Man's Belongings

Mrs. Helen Hamilton of 23 Glenn Drive told Mill Valley police that $830 in cash was stolen from her home while she was attending the funeral of her husband, Frank Thomas Hamilton, between 12:45 and 2:50 p.m. yesterday. Some of the money was removed from the wallet of her late husband, she said.

Hamilton, who was 57, died Saturday of a heart attack.

On her return from the funeral, Mrs. Hamilton said, she noticed the drawers of her husband's dresser in the bedroom had been rifled and money was taken from his wallet which had been in the top drawer. Stolen were four $100 bills, one $50 bill, nine $20 bills and assorted $5 and $1 bills.

Sixty silver dollars in a leather pouch were taken from the bottom drawer, and about $70 in rolled coins from the same dresser. An undetermined amount of money was also taken from an American Cancer Society collection envelope.

Mrs. Hamilton said entry was apparently made through the front door, which was unlocked.

Mrs. Hamilton's son, Sp/5 Brooks Hamilton, stationed with the Army in Bangkok, Thailand, missed his connections and arrived home too late for the funeral.

Some Light Rain Falls On County

Overcast skies and the usual warm temperatures preceding spring showers in Marin County brought some light rain but not enough to wet the streets this morning.

Sprinkles of rain were reported around 11 a.m. today throughout the county. The weatherman predicted cloudy skies and a few light showers in the San Francisco Bay Area tonight, with clearing skies tomorrow.

Bartender On Witness Stand

They face open murder charges in the fatal shooting the night of May 23 of Richard Ghilotti, 59, the contractor.

Cannon said Ghilotti, a widower, was in the bar first. Mrs. Calani and Wirt came in later that Saturday evening and each had two drinks, whiskey and water, as they chatted with Ghilotti.

Cannon said he overheard them once talking about antiques Ghilotti had at his home. The three left sometime before dark, but Cannon said he wasn't sure they all left together.

Cannon said Ghilotti and Wirt had met casually last summer in a bar where Cannon previously worked. He said he thought Mrs. Calani was Wirt's wife.

Martial Law Threatened In Korea

Park

More than 6,000 students overran police lines in a rock-throwing riot in Kwangju, 150 miles south of Seoul. Police tried to scatter the students with tear gas, but they squatted in front of the provincial government building and shouted for Park's resignation and the lifting of martial law in Seoul.

Heavy troop reinforcements kept Seoul quiet, enforcing martial law proclaimed by Park in the capital after 30,000 students and adults rioted yesterday.

Ethiopian Envoy To Sweden Shot

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Ethiopian ambassador to Sweden was shot and seriously wounded today by his Polish chauffeur, the Stockholm Criminal Police reported.

The police said Ambassador Abate Agede was hit by three revolver bullets. The shooting occurred on the embassy grounds.

A police spokesman said the chauffeur, whose name was withheld, had received orders from the ambassador which he refused to obey. During the argument, the Pole suddenly drew his revolver and fired three shots, the spokesman said.

Typhoid Cases Up

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—The number of cases in Amerdeen's typhoid epidemic rose to 318 today, and the city health officer warned the disease may sweep through the British Isles. During the night, 17 more persons were admitted to hospitals, making a total of 275 confirmed cases and 43 suspected.

Terrorist Attack

ALGIERS (AP)—The Algerian government radio said today that members of a terrorist group who attacked police in front of President Ahmed Ben Bella's home Sunday have been arrested. The radio said five persons were arrested.

Five Face Trial

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — Five Cuban refugees and three Americans seized near Cuba yesterday by the British destroyer Decoy faced trial here today on charges of entering the Bahamas illegally. The reported discovery of 1,000 rounds of ammunition aboard the launch in which the party was fleeing from Anguila (Eel) Key made it appear that the group was preparing to raid Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Quake In Italy

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—Several seconds of earth shocks sent thousands of alarmed residents fleeing into the streets last night in two mountain towns southeast of Naples. Only slight damage to buildings was reported in Paterno—and none in Padula.

Meat Rationing

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Striving to ease a beef shortage in beef-producing Argentina, President Arturo Illia has ordered meat rationing and strict control of exports. Illia signed decrees yesterday banning beef sales two days a week. Two years of drought have drastically reduced Argentina's herds.

Goldwater Win Called 'Disaster'

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—The Daily Mirror said today the election of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) to the presidency of the United States "would be a disaster."

"Goldwater is an isolationist, an advocate of diplomatic brinkmanship, a segregationist, the darling of the rag-bag right wing and incapable of rallying the divided Republican Party," the Mirror said in a comment on the outcome of the California primary.

The editorial said Govs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York or William Scranton of Pennsylvania, or Ambassador to Saigon Henry Cabot Lodge "would be vastly preferable to Senator Goldwater" as a prospective president.

LBJ Seems Pleased At Idea Of Goldwater As Opponent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The victory of Sen. Barry Goldwater in California's Republican presidential primary seems to have pleased at least one Democrat — President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The chief executive hasn't reacted directly to Goldwater's narrow win over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. However, a couple of straws in the wind, as it were, seemed to point up the response in the administration camp.

1. Johnson aides, who normally mirror the President's attitudes, declined today to reject suggestions that Goldwater's triumph was pleasing to them. Quite the contrary, they beamed.

2. The president himself took another indirect swipe at Goldwater — something he obviously delights in doing — in a speech Wednesday at New London, Conn.

Before he was assassinated, President John F. Kennedy left little doubt that he wanted Goldwater as his 1964 opponent. He obviously felt he could fare best campaigning against someone who could be counted on to offer voters a sharp alternative to Kennedy policies.

During the past six months, Johnson has said little or nothing that has been critical, even directly, of such potential Republican opponents as Rockefeller, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Henry Cabot Lodge or Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In fact, the President has heaped praise on Lodge, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon.

Two Republicans have been placed by Johnson in a somewhat different category. They are Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president, and Goldwater.

In New London Wednesday, Johnson said the United States must have varied strength to meet varied dangers.

He added, pointedly:

"The response must suit the threat. Those who would answer every problem with nuclear weapons, display not bravery but bravado, not wisdom but a wanton disregard for the survival of the world and the future of the race."

Goldwater had recently discussed the possible use of low-yield nuclear weapons to strip the leaves from jungle trees in Vietnam so Communist guerrillas could be exposed from the air.

Foreign Editors Shaken By Goldwater Success

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In London, the Guardian described Goldwater as an "18th century individualist strayed by mistake into the wrong epoch, a sort of Rip Van Winkle who has been asleep since about 1776."

The Times of London, under the headline "Shock from California," said the thought that Goldwater had even the faintest chance of reaching the White House would be enough to shake faith in the maturity and stability of American politics."

The Finnish Socialist organ called Goldwater a "dangerous man," and said it is "ever more important that the Democratic Party retain its power in the United States."

The Swedish daily newspaper Hufvudstadbladet said nomination of Goldwater "might slow the positive progress which since Eisenhower's presidency has dominated policy in the United States."

The Swedish liberal newspaper Dagens Nyheter said Goldwater's win was "a victory for the stupidity and the massive ignorance of the Republican voters."

The independent newspaper Combat described Goldwater as "a personality dangerous to world peace."

Worker Plummets To Death In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Napa construction worker fell to his death yesterday from the 13th story of the telephone building currently being built at 666 Folsom Street.

The coroner's office said Williard B. Love, 50, apparently fell after he slipped on an oil slick.

Two Miners Die

SUNNYSIDE, Utah (AP)—Two veteran miners died yesterday in a rock cave-in deep inside a central Utah coal mine. A third escaped unhurt, but four rescuers suffered minor injuries in a second rockfall as they tried to remove the two victim's bodies.

Goldwater, Salinger Wins Mean Reshufflings Inside State Parties

Sen. Bary Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, close as it was, put conservative Republicans in position to complete their takeover of the state GOP.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic elements who backed State Controller Alan Cranston in the U.S. Senate race faced a challenge by the successful forces behind the winner of the Democratic nomination, Pierre Salinger.

The post-election motto in both parties was "united front." Prospects for achieving it, however, were uncertain.

Goldwater made his most effective showing in Los Angeles County, where he outpolled Rockefeller by enough — 158,150—to offset the governor's Northern California strength. A margin of nearly 50,000 in Orange County also contributed importantly.

There's little doubt that the Republican State Central Committee, only major party organization still not controlled by the Goldwater camp, will name a Goldwater backer as state chairman Aug. 1. He is Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of La Jolla, now vice chairman.

In addition, under state law, the 86-member Goldwater delegation to the Republican National Convention will select California's two GOP national committeemen for the next four years. They'll replace Joseph Martin Jr., of San Francisco, who supported Rockefeller, and Patricia Hitt of Orange, who was neutral in the presidential primary.

On the Democratic side, party chiefs acted quickly to mend the fences knocked down in the blistering Senate contest between Salinger and Cranston.

Pledging to support Salinger, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday, "We expect to present a united fronti n November from the top to the bottom of the ticket."

The bustling former White House press secretary got expressions of support as well from Cranston and Tom Carvey Jr., president of the 70,000-member California Democratic Council, which had endorsed Cranston.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a prime target of Cranston's campaign, emerged from the battle stronger than ever in Democratic ranks. Unruh, who split with Brown to push Salinger's candidacy, said:

"This should lay to rest once and for all the phony charge of bossism that some people have tried to raise."

County Educator Group Installs

Edward C. Pino, superintendent of Reed School District, yesterday was installed as president of the Marin Assn. of School Administrators at a luncheon meeting at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Howard F. Brose, superintendent of the West Marin School District, was installed as secretary. New president-elect is Bert C. Corona, superintendent of San Rafael schools.

The superintendents recommended the basic course of study which has been adopted by Alameda and Contra Costa County schools.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A "piano player" and a "hoofer" were quietly mapping out political strategy today which each thinks will get him to Washington as the U.S. Senator from California.

Victorious Democrat Pierre Salinger said he saw his race against former actor-dancer George Murphy, the Republican victor, as a match involving "a piano player against a hoofer."

"I concede that Mr. Murphy is a better tap dancer than I, but I know I can take him at the piano. I never heard of a tap dancer making it in Washington," joked Salinger yesterday before leaving for a rest in Palm Springs.

The grey-haired Murphy smiled when newsmen asked questions concerning his dancing and film acting days. "The late-late shows on TV haven't hurt me a bit. Just the other day a movie fan asked me, "didn't you used to be George Murphy?"

Meanwhile state controller Alan Cranston, defeated by the rotund, cigar-smoking Salinger, returned to Sacramento with no plans for seeking a higher office. "I see no immediate opportunity to run for a higher political office," Cranston said. He said he would run again for state controller in 1966.

All appeared relatively quiet on the Salinger-Murphy front, but it obviously was a quiet before the storm which could erupt at any time. The primary victors are far apart on the issues.

Murphy promised the goshdarndest" campaign yet and said he would attempt to grab some of the "disenchanted" Democrats who backed Cranston in the primary.

Salinger, who spent election night hopping all over the state, wound up shaking hands yesterday at an auto plant in Pico-Rivera.

Public Utilities Commission Ignores Antis' Request For Delay Pending Initiative Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday authorized Pacific Telephone Co. to carry out the terms of its contract with Subscription Television, Inc., paving the way for pay-TV in the Los Angeles area.

Opponents of pay-TV previousiy have requested a delay of the PUC's decision until after the November election. They claimed that an initiative would be presented which would prohibit pay-TV.

However, the commission said that it was "not determining the relative merits of pay-TV as opposed to free television."

"The question of whether the people of California should have pay-TV is not for the commission to decide, provided the transmission of pay-TV does not impair the ability of a public utility to provide service to its other services," it said.

The PUC added that the right of Subscription Television to enter in the business is specifically permitted under state law and that to defer a decision pending possible elective action next November "would constitute an abuse of discretion."

Commissioner George G. Grove dissented with the contract authorization, maintaining that Subscription TV should be found to be a public utility.

The PT&T contract provides for transmission of pay-TV in an area of Los Angeles bordered by Overland Avenue, La Cineda, Pico, Exposition and Venice boulevards. The area contains about 10,766 housing units.

It provides for a $679,400 deposit by Subscription Television, Inc., which the commission said was sufficient to protect Pacific Telephone against possible loss in the event of an early termination of service.

The deposit is the total of uncoverable costs of installations by the city. Subscription Television's annual bill will be an additional $273,313.

Veteran Sheriff Dies

TV Czar Sees All Color Soon

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Company (NBA), said last night that educational television promised to add another dimension to the medium not only as a teaching device but as a regular program source emphasizing specialized information and cultural programming.

In a speech to 400 executives from independent television and radio station affiliates at the annual NBC convention Sarnoff also said the public benefitted from group ownership of broadcasting stations.

He added that those who equated "bigness with badness" clouded true consderations of competition.

Sarnoff also touched on the progress of color television.

"Color is now rapidly moving toward the inevitable time when it will supplant black and white as the basic medium," he predicted. "The challenge here is not so much to those of us who have pioneered in color and are beginning to realize its benefits, but to those who have lagged behind.

"Any broadcaster—network or station—who is unwilling to participate in advancing this forward movement of television is shirking his responsibilities—and neglecting his opportunities — as much as if he failed to keep his equipment and facilities up to date or disregarded avenues toward program improvement to provide the best possible service," Sarnoff warned.

He also called upon his listeners to be "alert to pressures for expediting" ultra high frequency development "artificially and sustaining it synthetically." He said this would hurt broadcasting's competitive framework.

Package Bites Hand That Delivers It

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Postmen may expect to be bitten by dogs but not by packages they deliver.

Red Troops Conquer Vietnam Stronghold

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist Viet Cong platoon overran and seized a small government outpost, 17 miles northwest of Saigon, Wednesday morning, military authorities here announced today.

The outpost, at My Hanh, was mamed by 26 paramilitary self-defense corpsmen. Initial reports said one of the defenders was killed and 15 were captured. Viet Cong casualties were not given.

MEDIEVAL SYMBOL REVIVED

Dr. Louis Wasserman of Mill Valley, professor of political science and philosophy at San Francisco State College, holds mace—a symbol used in academic events since the Middle Ages—which he will carry as marshal of the college's commencement exercises at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Cow Palace. Dr. Paul Dodd, college president, is at left. Form of the mace is that of a torch of learning. The role of marshal will be a new one for San Francisco State exercises. It will be the last role at the college for a year for Wasserman, as he is to serve next year as a resident director of University of Stockholm and University of Uppsala, Sweden.

Tam Election Tally Meets More Delay

Final results of the Tamalpais unification election will not be known before tomorrow afternoon, Asst. County Supt. of Schools Robert Stannard said today.

He said a special crew of counters is being hired to tally the results. He said tally sheets from three precincts were missing and that other tally sheets did not have the precinct numbers written on them, so that double checks against ballots will be necessary in some cases.

Because the unification election was not consolidated with the state primary Tuesday, the responsibility for counting results fell on the county schools office, rather than the county clerk. But no arrangements were made by either office for a count on election night.

Stannard said that because the election was not consolidated, procedures listed in the state education code must be followed, rather than those in the government code.

The major difference is that absentee ballots will not be opened until the official canvass Tuesday by the county board of education, at a special meeting at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center. Absentee ballots for the rest of the election were counted election night.

tain circumstances as set forth in the zoning ordinance for granting a variance have been met. These include acknowledgement that exceptional circumstances exist, that the variance is necessary for preservation of property rights, that it would not adversely affect health, safety or welfare or be detrimental to other property in the area.

Mayor Brixon observed that "this is an unusual development, and the developers are entitled to use the land to its utmost."

Earlier Niels Schultz Jr. told the council that this is one of the few exceptional projects Larkspur will have brought before it. "An exceptional project demands exceptional treatment," he said.

Four councilmen favored expressing their intent to grant the use permit. Councilman Smith was opposed. Actual granting of the permit was delayed because councilmen wanted to include provisions assuring that adequate parking will be available, that esthetic features will be satisfactory and green belts will be retained.

Dr. Siemens said that if the 92 parking spaces shown in the plan prove inadequate there is enough land on the site to add more. He said bus service will be available for residents.

Siemens said entry fees for the center probably will start about $10,000, and monthly payments start $200 to $350, including comprehensive medical and hospital care. Top fee may be as high as $40,000 for a couple, with a monthly charge of about $475.

Public comment both favored and opposed the project. Most of the opponents said they approved the idea of the project, but were against the height. Others felt it would set a precedent, and urged the council to stick by its zoning ordinance or else change it.

Former mayor Daniel Allen said the project was the "equivalent of light industry, in a form which is complete profit. The city cannot afford to lose it."

One man commented that a high-rise structure in a community of homes would destroy a "peaceful setting." Another warned that the council's decision "may change the community for good."

Fire Chief George Bartram said the center would not of itself require additional fire equipment but would add to an already existing need for aerial apparatus..

Siemens said the project would preserve as much of natural beauty as possible, bring in a sizable amount of tax money and business, and serve a useful need for retired citizens.

City Manager Piper reported it would take eight industries like McGraw-Hill Book Co. in Corte Madera to equal the assessed value of the proposed center, and would result in land cover of 20.6 acres. He said revenue to the schools would provide the full cost for 80 children. Multi-family or single family development on the site would result in deficits for the schools, he pointed out. The center would be the only type of development to provide a percapita revenue greater than per capita cost of city government, Piper said.

Schultz said no other site exists in the city to accommodate a project of this scope.

Councilman Marker raised the question of whether residents of the retirement center —about 338 of them—would support the schools, or make it even more difficult to pass bond issues or tax increases. Nobody could answer that.

The meeting adjourned at 1:25 a.m.

'Diamond Jim' Pleads Guilty

Other charges, including several counts of forgery against the 36-year-old San Franciscan, were dismissed. Pattillo admitted taking more than $100,000 from the wine cask firm where he was secretary-treasurer.

hoped Cranston would drop his law-suit against Salinger, filed as a result of Salinger charges that Cranston obtained campaign contributions from inheritance tax appraisers in return for jobs.

He said no date had been set for a unity conference between Cranston and Salinger "but I am sure you will see Mr. Cranston and Mr. Salinger working side by side."

He also disclosed he had lunch with Don Bradley, his own campaign manager who quit and went to work for Salinger.

Was he sorry he had taken sides?

"A governor has to get into the ballgame on these things," he said.

"There won't be homeruns all the time, sometimes there'll be strikeouts."

Brown said he saw Goldwater's California victory as the possible "beginning of a national realignment" of political parties.

"I think the Democratic party should welcome some of the moderates of the Republican Party," he said.

He predicted Goldwater will win his party's nomination next month.

Brown was also cheerful about his delegation's 2-1 victory over one headed by Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty. Both slates to the Democratic national convention were pledged to President Johnson.

"We didn't spend a nickel or make a single speech yet we won 2-1," he said.

were probably opposed, not because of the question of water purity, but because they do not want an increase in traffic past their estates if the state purchases the land for a state park.

There is no intent to create another Lake Berryessa, with power boating, Fletcher declared.

Nelson said a map issued by the state on its plans for a state park showed a large area near Ross and San Anselmo in bright orange and marked "intensive use." There has been no definition of that term, Nelson said, but one is needed.

He suggested that an official from the division of beaches and parks be called to appear before the commission at its July 1 meeting to explain the plans. He added that even after the state takes control, the water district and state department of health would still be able to veto any proposed use of the lakes.

"There will be no hordes of people or power boats," said Fletcher. "There would probably be no boating at all."

Span Victim's Body Is Sought

Coast Guard boats were searching at noon today for the body of a Golden Gate Bridge jumper, tentatively identified as Joseph J. Kakez, 50, a Livermore tool and die maker.

Kakez, whose home is at 1017 Aberdeen Avenue, Livermore, is believed to be the man who leaped off the span at 10:17 a.m. today. His abandoned car was found just north of the south tower of Golden Gate Bridge.

Kakez's wife, who works in a store in San Francisco, was immediately called to the bridge toll plaza. California Highway Patrol Officer Charles Heart, investigating the case, said bridge workers may have seen the man jump.

Boys Charged For Motor Scooter Theft

Two 17-year-old San Rafael boys were booked at Juvenile Hall yesterday on charges of stealing a motor scooter from Terra Linda High School parking lot.

Barry L. Soutilier of 20 Dominican Drive, San Rafael, reported the theft to San Rafael police at 3 p.m. A bulletin was issued to Fairfax and San Anselmo police to be on a lookout for the scooter, last seen heading along a fire trail to that area.

At 4:15 p.m. Fairfax Police Officer Edward McClintock stopped the scooter, with two juveniles aboard.

The driver and another juvenile, located in San Rafael later, were charged with the theft. The juvenile passenger, not involved in the theft, was released with a warning.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Grace McDonald Dies At 74

Mrs. Grace McDonald, 74, of 805 Diablo Avenue, Novato, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

She was the wife of Daniel F. McDonald, a retired Army master sergeant. They moved to Novato from San Francisco on her husband's retirement 10 years ago.

Mrs. McDonald was born Aug. 10, 1889, in Wellington, Kan., and grew up in Norman, Okla. She worked as a book buyer in Detroit, Mich., for many years before moving to San Francisco 20 years ago.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Messner of Darrouzett, Tex., and Mrs. Dora Mayberry of Bakersfield.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato. Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

HELEN BLACK

Helen Lowry Black, 49, a former resident of San Rafael, died at her apartment in Stockton where she moved recently to work in sales of women's apparel.

Word of her death reached the Independent-Journal today. San Joaquin County Coroner Mike Canlis reported her body was found Sunday. She had evidently been dead since last Thursday.

He ruled that death was due to natural causes, possibly a heart attack.

She was the former wife of Col. T. S. Lowry, vice-president of Pacific Far East Lines. The couple was divorced 15 years ago.

Her body was sent to Evansville, Ind., for services in the Greek Mortuary there.

CECILE BOOTH

Cecile Booth of 56 San Rafael Avenue, San Anselmo, died at a local hospital yesterday after a long illness. She was 73 years old.

She was a four-year resident of Marin. She was a retired teacher, having taught for 35 years in various schools in Southern California, and was a member of the Marin County Retired Teachers Assn. She was a native of Princeton, Ind.

Other survivors include two brothers, William P. Hughes of Big Bear Lake, San Bernardino County, and John L. Hughes of Pacific Palisades, and two sisters, Mrs. Helen Shjarback of Arcadia, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Lucile Templeton of Big Bear Lake.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Inurnment will be private.

MRS. PASZTI

Mrs. Frances K. Paszti, 88, of 25 Sea Wolf Passage, Corte Madera, died yesterday at home after a long illness.

A native of Hungary, she had lived in California for seven years and in Marin County for six years. She was the widow of John Paszti, a building contractor in Detroit, their former home.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Helene M. Flynn of Corte Madera, wife of Rear Adm. John F. Flynn, USN, (ret.); Mrs. Frances Bolke of Yucaipa, San Bernardino County, and Mrs. Marie Hynes of Albuquerque, N.M.; a son, Edward Nemeth of Detroit, Mich.; eight grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren.

Requiem High Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Patrick's Church, Larkspur. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Sheriff Talks In Marin City

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos last night told more than 100 persons attending a Marin City Improvement Assn. meeting that the Marin City area can expect "full cooperation" of his department in the future in striving for better law enforcement.

His statement came on heels of a recent riot in which three officers were injured while attempting an arrest in Marin City. The sheriff also told the group, meeting at the community lounge of Marin City, that it is unfortunate that violation of the law by a small faction causes the majority of residents to suffer.

Adlai's Son May Race Ike Brother

CHICAGO (UPI)—Illinois State Democratic Chairman James A. Rowan said last night that the son of U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson "had been mentioned" as a possible candidate on the party's slate for the state house of representatives.

Rowan said Adlai E. Stevenson III, 33, a Chicago attorney, "would strengthen our ticket."

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Other scholarship winners who will be introduced at the graduation ceremonies are Marilyn Boerst, Steven Jensen, Wade Roberts, Karen Peterson and Martha Wilson, recipients of California State Scholarships; Mary Jane Terry, who was awarded the Carol Farley Memorial Nursing Scholarship; and Cynthia Beatty, who was awarded a California Lutheran scholarship.

Jury Convicts 13 As Sit-In Trials Continue

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another 13 civil rights demonstrators, who figured in sit-ins at the Cadillac agency, were convicted Wednesday night.

The charges against nine of them were disturbing the peace, unlawful assembly, trespassing and failing to disperse. A jury of nine women and three men took nearly five hours to agree on the guilty verdict.

The other four were convicted of all charges except disturbing the peace.

The trial was the 19th since the mass trials of civil rights demonstrators began April 15. So far, seven groups have been convicted. There have been two split verdicts, where some defendants were convicted and others acquitted.

Police Say Dad Fed Sons Dope

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A father was arrested Wednesday night and accused of addicting his two teen-age sons to an opium compound he extracted from a drug purchased at drug stores.

James B. Yeargin was charged with manufacturing narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of his sons age 14 and 15.

Yeargin was held in lieu of $2,500 bond. The boys were detained at Juvenile Court.

Subway Terror Still Going On

Ismael Valez, 42, was stabbed in the chest by an unidentified Negro on an IRT station at 72nd St. and Broadway, police reported. The assailant fled.

Valez was admitted to a hospital, which reported he was in satisfactory condition.

He told police he had just gotten off a train when the man plunged a knife into him without saying a word.

ARMFUL OF INFORMATION—A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., president of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, hands County Clerk George H. Gnoss (back to camera) receipt for copies of assessment rolls for Sausalito area, which were to be available for inspection by property owners today and will be again tomorrow and June 11 and 12 at Sausalito Chamber headquarters, 815 Bridgeway. Protests against reappraisals resulted in a meeting last night in Sausalito, with another scheduled at 8 p.m. today by the Sausalito Citizens Council in Central School auditorium. (Independent-Journal photo)

Irate Residents Map War On Reappraisals

A campaign to outlaw "cycle reappraisals" of real estate was launched at a meeting of more than 300 persons in Sausalito last night.

At the opening of the meeting in IDESST Hall, chairman Robert Goshen of the newly formed Sausalito Taxpayers Committee, which called the meeting, informed the crowd to save their individual complaints until later. The meeting was called, he said, to inform them how to do something about assessment increases.

Distributed were four mimeographed letters, directed to the Tamalpais High School District board of trustees, Sausalito City Council, Sausalito School District Board, and Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The letters, signed and returned to the committee by most of those present, object to the "cycle reappraisal" method used by County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel and urge the official bodies to join in sponsoring state legislation outlawing it. They also urge governmental economy.

The protesters backed their complaints with money, too. A collection for funds to push the protest campaign netted $240.

Said Goshen: "We're faced with probably the largest problem that has touched us: an across-the-board raise in assessments of 100 to 400 per cent."

He predicted residents of other areas reappraised this year will join the protest movement. He said 12,000 parcels of land were reappraised, including Marin City, Tamalpais Valley, Homestead Valley, Tennessee Valley, Muir Beach, part of Stinson Beach, Bolinas, Inverness, Point Reyes and the east shore of Tomales Bay.

Sausalito had 2,400 parcels involved, he reported.

Besides the mimeographed letters, the committee distributed "work sheets" almost identical to the official protest forms prepared by the county. Property owners were asked to fill these out and return them within a day or two the sheets so a compilation of "hard facts" can be presented soon to the board of supervisors.

The sheets ask the taxpayer's name, address, land identification, assessor's assessed value, landowner's own opinion of full cash value, and the latter's suggested assessed value.

Goshen, who said his committee of 10 was formed after receiving the May 7 letters of assessment increases by the county, emphasized the meeting was only to inform interested persons how they could collectively and individually protest most effectively.

A fund collection to continue the protest netted $240.

Reviews of about 200 parcels of Sausalito property already are scheduled by the county assessor's office. Protest headquarters sponsored by Sausalito Chamber of Commerce have been established at 815 Bridgeway, where a deputy assessor will appear twice weekly with assessment rolls showing properties recently appraised.

A town meeting on assessments and taxes has been scheduled by the Sausalito Citizens Council for 8 p.m. today in Central School auditorium. Glen T. Hall, council president, said its purpose is to examine rising tax costs as a Sausalito and Marin County problem, not to delve into individual assessments.

Under the "cycle reappraisal" plan, a portion of the county is reappraised each year, values being adjusted to the "fair market values" established by recent sales in the area. The system provides that within four years, all sections of the county will be reappraised. Thus, property in one section may temporarily get a "tax break" through lagging reappraisals, but will be brought into line when its turn arrives on the "cycle." The State Board of Equalization has declared the method is legal.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The initiative measure to nullify the Rumford Housing Act was left to the "power of the people" by the California Supreme Court yesterday—but the high tribunal warned of "grave questions" concerning the constitutionality of the proposed amendment to the state constitution.

The measure is sponsored by the California Real Estate Assn. (CREA), which argues that the unrestricted disposal or use of property is an inalienable right.

Nathaniel Colley, a Negro attorney from Sacramento, petitioned the court for a hearing on the initiative on grounds that it would violate state and federal constitutions—even if adopted by the voters.

The court, in denying Colley's writ of mandamus, held that:

"Although there are grave questions whether the proposed amendment to the California constitution is valid under the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, we are of a view that it would be more appropriate to pass on these questions after the election, should the proposed amendment be adopted, then interfere with the power of the people to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, and to adopt or reject the same at the polls."

Two of the justices, Raymond E. Peters and Mathew O. Tobriner, held that Colley's petition should be granted.

Colley's plea for an injunction previously was turned down by Sacramento Superior Court Judge Irving H. Perluss, who also said that constitutional questions would "more appropriately be passed on" after the election, if the initiative succeeds.

After Colley appealed to the Supreme Court, the state board of education requested Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk to intervene on Colley's side as a friend of the court. The board said its action was prompted by a fear that the initiative campaign would inspire violence in the state's schools next fall.

In effect, the initiative would allow property owners to refuse to sell or rent to persons because of their race or religion. It also would amend the state constitution to forbid further legislation similar to the 1963 Rumford Act, which the CREA believes means "forced housing."

She's Not Nautical Nor Stage-Minded

LOUISVILLE (AP)—An Indiana University student, placing a poster in a laundry for the school's traveling showboat, was questioned by a woman. The student explained that the showboat was undergoing a revival—and asked whether she was going.

"Oh, I don't go to a showboat," was the reply, "I go to a regular church."

Voyage Teaches Marinite Lessons

Lessons in international relations have crept into a San Anselmo man's six-month voyage to help chart the Indian Ocean, according to the parents of Danford A. Moore of 1-B Oak Knoll Avenue.

Moorerecently wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin G. Moore of 460 Canal Street, San Rafael, about his visit to Colombo, Ceylon, whose people he found friendly in spite of living under a government which is "sort of pro-Communist."

Moore, an ensign with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, left San Francisco in February aboard the survey ship Pioneer. He is one of a few officers accompanied by numerous civilian experts who are taking part in the International Indian Ocean Expedition 1964.

Several countries are involved in the expedition, goal of which is the charting of one of the last ocean areas in the world still uncharted. Moore's ship is expected to return Aug. 11, after touching at such spots as Singapore, Calcutta, Djakarta, and Guam.

Moore reported Ceylon's standard of living much higher than India's, and the cities cleaner.

"If a person is hungry, all he has to do is climb the nearest coconut tree," he explained in the letter.

"Most people I talked to did not like the government," he said, "The businessmen dislike it because U.S. trade has been cut down, and also because the U.S. Navy, with its sailors eager to spend money, is not welcome."

Moore said the survey crew encountered some criticism from a "left-wing newspaper," and the government objected to surveying of one area near the northeast coast of Ceylon. "Everybody else welcomed us."

"Very few passenger ships stop here any more," he said, "and it is too bad, because Ceylon is a very beautiful place to visit."

The Pioneer left Colombo May 25. Tomorrow it is scheduled to reach Penang, Malaysia. Moore said he and others would be initiated into the sailor's mythical "Ancient Order of the Deep" after having crossed the equator twice during this period.

Moore's wife, Frances, a Briton, who recently became an American citizen, remained at their San Anselmo home while her husband went on the ocean expedition.

Judge Rules 'No' On Cleopatra Try

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal judge on Wednesday denied a motion by 20th Century-Fox studies for dismissal of a suit brought by actress Elizabeth Taylor and ex-husband Eddie Fisher over proceeds from the movie "Cleopatra."

Miss Taylor and Fisher own 85 per cent of MCL, a Swiss corporation, which in turn owns 35 per cent of the $40 million movie.

The firm's attorneys have asked that all prints and negatives of the film be placed in receivership, contending distribution has been mishandled.

Briton Favors Annual Summit Conference

LONDON (AP) — Labor Party leader Harold Wilson returned today from a four-day visit to Moscow and said he thought the Western powers should support the idea of annual summit meetings.

"I think it is the experience of anyone who has dealt with the Soviet leaders that the decisions are taken right at the top," he told newsmen.

Scranton Rules Self Out As Goldwater Running Mate

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Gov. William W. Scranton today ruled out any possibility that he might accept the vice presidential nomination on a Republican ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scranton said he would not consider this the "sincere and honest draft" he would need before becoming a national candidate.

He also said he would reject a vice presidential bid even if Goldwater specifically asked him to be on the ticket.

Scranton told his weekly news conference that he believed Goldwater's victory in California almost assured his selection as the GOP presidential nominee.

But he added he did not believe the California results conclusively ruled out Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

"I congratulate both of them for their performances," Scranton said. "Both did an outstanding piece of campaigning and the vote was very close."

Viet Police Nab Red Terrorists, Solve Bombing

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon police nabbed four Communist terrorists today and said one admitted planting a grenade at a Saigon bar Feb. 1 that killed one American serviceman and seriously injured another.

That terrorists was Pham Van Tu, 36, police said. He and two others arrested today posed as taxi drivers.

Their arrest followed the apprehension of a senior Viet Cong agent, Nguyen Van Cu, 38, who was waiting for other agents at Gia Dinh village for a secret meeting.

Police said Van Cu's assignment was to enlist boys and girls into the underground movement.

Goodbye To Little Blue Toonerville Trolleys

ROME (AP) — The little blue Toonerville Trolley trains that have been hauling commuters and tourists between Rome and the castled Alban Hills for 60 years will be sent to the barns forever.

The old trolleys, which went into service in 1904, will be replaced this year by buses.

Bookmobile Service Will Begin On July 1

Summer bookmobile service in San Rafael will begin July 1, Librarian Vivian R. Smith announced today.

The service, to continue through August, is to test the need for branch libraries in the city and, at the same time, supply service in outlying areas.

The bookmobile will be on rental from the county library. It will operate on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

On Monday it will serve the north San Rafael area, being at Vallecito School from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Wednesday it will be at Gary's Market in Loch Lomond from 10 a.m. to noon and at Church of the Redeemer in Glenwood from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Thursday it will be at the Discount Food Store in the Bret Harte area from 10 a.m. to noon and at Sil's Market in the Canal area from 1 to 3 p.m.

What's Happened To Semesters?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Starting in fall 1965, Ohio State University will standardize the length of all four quarters of annual instruction at 50 class days and 5 examination days.

At present, quarters vary in length by as much as five days. Officials say this will enable the university to step up its teaching schedule in certain critical areas.

WALLS GO UP FOR PRINTING FIRM

Gilbert-Shirley Co. president William Shirley and secretary John D. Murphy (right) watch the lifting of prefabricated concrete walls for the company's new home at 580 Irwin Street, San Rafael. The building, with 16,200 square feet of floor space, will have a second story for offices; ground floor will contain printing equipment and stocks of tax forms. Construction is by Spiliotis and Co. Completion is expected by July 1.

Poignant Plea Made To End Neglect Of Senior Citizens

A poignant appeal for an end to neglect of senior citizens and their needs in Marin County was made today by Harry C. Heifetz, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee on problems facing the elderly.

Heifetz was one of four panelists on Radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" discussing "Can Elderly People Afford to Live in Marin County?"

He declared: "Here we have a situation where in a country which we like to think is the world's most enlightened, in this country's most rapidly growing state and in this state's highest income county, there has been a near-total disregard for the Biblical, traditional respect for our elders, their just due and their needs. . . .

"The number one task is to create housing facilities to make it possible for even the poorest of our elders to live with dignity. This he is entitled to by virtue of his ego alone. We must develop the proper respect for our elders so that we may give them dignity."

The other panelists were Richard Phenix, county coordinator for community services for the elderly; Roger P. Garety, chairman of Citizens for Housing of Marin's Elderly, and Fran Jenkins, director of Marin County Real Estate Board and HOME vice-chairman.

Garety explained the purposes of HOME, which was created by the board of supervisors to study methods through which the problem of housing the county's elderly could be solved.

Phenix said one-half of the older people in the county cannot afford to pay more than $75 per month for housing as they have incomes of $3,500 a year or less.

Adding to Phenix's statement, Jenkins declared, "Except in isolated instances, I don't believe that elderly people earning less than $3,500 a year can satisfy their housing needs here while coping with today's open real estate market.

"Present day land costs, especially in the type of area where the elderly would care to live, new construction costs, real estate taxes and all the other cumulative costs, make it economically impossible for private investment capital to supply the need for people in this category."

He suggested that private capital which was encouraged by government, planners and residents of the county could provide an answer to the elderly's housing problem.

Supporting Heifetz, he declared, "People must develop a sense of responsibility towards the elderly. Partial solutions to the problem might lie in mobile home parks, cluster housing, extensive remodeling of well-situated older homes, high-rise condominium apartments, and institutional homes and hospital for the aged.

Each member of the panel, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, expressed pleasure at Larkspur City Council's approval last night of a proposed 12-story retirement center and San Rafael City Council's study of low-cost one-story apartments for the elderly.

Panelists also were optimistic about creation of county ordinances allowing mobile home parks and providing for some kind of tax relief for the elderly.

"We are most gratified by the fact that we have a board of supervisors with the courage to lead the way in helping the elderly," Heifetz said.

"And it is high time, too, for a county which has thought of itself as the richest, the fattest and the prettiest to seek to become the most compassionate and respectful."

Elderly Man Hurt By Faiting Spell

Cecil B. Rankin, 82, of 42 Alexander Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a cut above his left eye when he fell while sitting on concrete steps along Fourth Street, just east of Ross Valley Drive, at 12:45 p.m. yesterday.

San Rafael police reported Rankin sat down because he felt faint and then toppled over onto the concrete steps. His head struck a broken bottle, police said.

Tam Club Elects

Mongrel Dog Sought —Bit Boy

Warren has taken his first rabies shot at the Rabies Control Board at Hamilton Air Force Base and will have to take the series unless the dog is found.

Anyone who has any information about the dog is requested to notify San Rafael police, who want to find out if the dog has been given rabies shots.

LBJ Kin On Stage

Late S.F. Supervisor Succeeded By His Son

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John A. Ertola, 37, yesterday was named to replace his late father on the board dof supervisors and was immediately sworn into office.

San Francisco Mayor John F. Shelley announced the appointment of the attorney and disclosed he was fulfilling the request of Dr. Charles A. Ertola shortly before he died May 20.

He'll Pay Anyone's Parking Tag By Proxy

LONG BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — A college teacher is offering—for a $3 fee—to go to court and pay traffic fines for violators unwilling to take the time to do it themselves.

Guy Corriero, 28, an art instructor at the Long Island Agricultural and Technical Institute, says he has placed about 3,500 cards advertising his services on automobile windshields in Nassau County in the past month.

Quick! Pick a Chevrolet and fill in the spaces

Here you are on the brink of vacation time. There's your Chevrolet dealer in the midst of Trade 'N' Travel Time. You two should get together! Object—celebrating the joys of summer in a new Chevrolet.

Why a Chevrolet? Well, with 15 models in four series, what possible reason is there to look further?

Take the Impala Super Sport (and a lot of people do just that). Comes as a Sport Coupe or Convertible. Has trimmings like front bucket seats, center console, special trim—all as standard equipment.

CHEVROLET TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME
FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

And offers a typically Chevrolet array of extra-cost options.

Plain Impalas are anything but. They come in all popular body styles, including wagons. They're dressed up to a fare-thee-well: fully carpeted interiors, upholstery as durable as it is attractive.

Bel Airs and Biscaynes, the lower priced Chevrolets, make a practice of hiding it. All the conveniences, no sacrificing comfort or style.

Did we mention that Trade 'N' Travel Time won't last forever? It won't. So see your Chevrolet dealer. Then go fill in the spaces.

TWO DECADES' DIFFERENCE—Troops of the U.S. forces marched through the streets of Carenton, France, shortly after their June 6, 1944 invasion of the European continent. Today the attack is just a memory, and the town rebuilt. Lower picture shows some of the same structures as the wartime scene. (AP Wirephotos)

ing along the beaches ignore the rusty cables, twisted bits of metal and contorted sections of steel roadway matting. Despite cleanup efforts, enough relics remain to set Utah, Omaha, Gold, June and Sword beaches permanently apart from such stretches of sand as Miami, Newport or Waikiki that have known only peace.

Massive pillboxes dot the coastline. From some the ugly snouts of rusted 88mm German guns still point seaward. Hitler boasted his Third Reich would endure 1,000 years. The pillboxes — impossible to destroy without damaging nearby buildings, and with no commercial salvage value — could conceivably live out the full term of the fallen dictator's shattered dream.

But the personal landmarks that set the scene apart for most soldiers are gone. Wrecked landing craft on the beaches have been removed. Bombed houses have been razed and new ones appear in their places. Church steeples have been restored, broken walls repaired. The myriad signs of a moving army have disappeared. Two exit roads backed through the bluff at Omaha Beach are now only cowpaths.

Four museums have been established to honor the heroism of June 6, 1944. French residents of the area have a lively smile and a warm handshake for any old soldiers who return.

The Allied invasion plan called for night parachute drops by the British at the eastern end of the 60-mile invasion front, and by Americans at the base of the Cherbourg Peninsula at the west. In between, ground forces were to come ashore at dawn at the five designated beaches, under cover of overwhelming naval fire and aerial bombardment.

An engraved marble plaque over the doorway of the "Pegasus Bridge cafe restaurant" proclaims "this was the first house to be liberated during the last hour of 5th June 1944 by men of the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry in the British 6th Airborne Division."

The sign may cheat a few minutes on the time—most records put the landings at shortly after midnight—but the fact remains that the glider landing of six platoons was one of the few operations of the day that went to plan.

The gliders landed beside the bridge over the canal leading from Caen to the sea. The mission of capturing this bridge, and another over the Orne River a half-mile away, was quickly accomplished.

The parachute drops in both British and American sectors often fell far from their marks. Planes carrying the U.S. 82nd and 101st airborne divisions were blown off course by the high winds. The 15,000 men were widely dispersed. Many drowned in water concealed by a grassy surface, or in the channel.

Park Grading Well Underway

Grading is well underway at Victor Jones Memorial Park in Glenwood and paving will be started soon, San Rafael Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota told the Glenwood Homeowners Assn. board Tuesday night.

Contract for the park sprinkler system was awarded Monday night. Bids for construction of restrooms and storage space will be sought June 15, Rodota said. Planting of the turf at the park is scheduled for August.

The Parks and Recreation Department is requesting $20,000 in the 1964-65 city budget for completion of the park in the next year, Rodota reported.

He also announced the summer recreation program at the Glenwood School grounds will be conducted from June 19 to Aug. 18, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Association board members also sent the city an estimate for repair of the damage to the planter strip at the entrance to Glenwood caused by an auto accident.

Members questioned the need for numerous signs along San Pedro Road advertising Glenwood homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce were appointed co-chairmen to plan a Labor Day program.

This Family Will Have Something To Discuss

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The car that rammed into the rear of Bill Strode's auto was badly smashed.

Officers arrived and Strode told them he was all right but "I'm concerned about my wife."

"Your wife?" exclaimed police.

"Yes," said Strode. "She's in the car that hit me."

They'll Practice What They Preach

Collins will make the 21-mile climb along with two other members of the State Board of Education—Thomas W. Braden of Oceanside, president, and William Norris of Pasadena—as well as about 12 other people, mostly education writers.

"The board is interested in promoting in schools and upgrading where necessary the quality of physical fitness," said Collins. "The board wants to make it known that physical fitness is not just taken for granted. We need to develop physical fitness in our private lives. This will become more and more important as we become more urbanized."

Collins said the board has been critical of public school physical education classes which concentrate on games instead of individual exercises. "P.E.," he pointed out, "is one course which must be given in California schools one hour a day by law."

Collins, who said he goes to a gymnasium to work out about three times a week and likes to ski and keep himself in "pretty good physical shape," said the group will go to Mount Whitney portal at 10 a.m. June 13 at 8,300 feet elevation, then backpack to a trail camp at 12,000 feet.

"On Sunday," he said, "we hike five and one-half miles to the summit, which is 14,495 feet." Whitney is the highest mountain in the United States outside of Alaska.

"I don't expect to have a heart attack," Collins said. "I have been hiking on Mount Tamalpais in preparation for the climb." He said he plans to take along a chunk of cheese.

"I'm looking forward to this," said the dentist. "I love the out-of-doors." Collins lives high on the middle ridge of Mount Tamalpais at 700 Summit Avenue.

Judge Upholds Security Trade By Brokerage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U. S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke decided Wednesday after a five-day hearing against halting the S. E. Jonah and Co. form of stock brokers from dealing in securities.

The Securities and Exchange Commission had sought a preliminary injunction against the firm's trading on charges it was in violation of the SEC's net capital rule which provides a securities dealer must have assets 5 per cent in excess of liabilities.

The SEC alleged in its suit that on April 21, Jonah had a capital deficit showing on its books of $32,433 and total indebtedness of $656,885.

Bike-Car Mishap Injures Boy

A 7-year-old Novato boy suffered minor injuries at 5:15 p.m. yesterday in a bicycle-car accident at Cambridge Street and Arlington Circle, Novato police reported.

Clay Wesley Morgan, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morgan of 505 Stone Drive, was riding his bike south on Cambridge Street when hit by a car driven by Patrick James Healy, 40, of 5 Arlington Court, who was turning onto Cambridge from Arlington Circle, according to police.

Marine Lab On Agenda At College

College of Marin trustees will consider bids for conversion of the college's Bolinas property to a marine biology laboratory at 8 p.m. today in Harlan Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Bids are for work to bring the buildings up to earthquake and fire requirements of the State Division of Architectural standards, and for remodeling to be done during the summer.

The College was given the property, a boathouse and two-story structure, by the Coast Guard in the late 1940s. It has been used for adult education classes and community service groups.

An instructional program in Marine biology will begin in sumer school, with laboratory work to be done temporarily on the Kentfield campus. The program may eventually include research as well as instruction.

College officials believe the program will be the first of its kind for a junior college.

Also on the agenda are a report on adjustment of the insurance claim for the gymnasium fire loss, hiring of James C. Dunn as drama instructor at a salary of $7,850, reports on the California Junior College Assn. board of directors meeting and on junior college legislation, and continuation of budget discussions.

Larkspur Library Unit Member Is Reappointed

Larkspur City Council last night reappointed Mrs. Phillip S. Haly of 141 Via Barranca, Greenbrae, to the city library board for a three-year term.

The council also named Councilman Henry Brocco to serve as liaison with the library board.

The council set for July 1 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on canceling the city's television antenna franchise with Bob's Television, and decided to study a revised franchise ordinance prepared by City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper.

Piper said he had received requests for franchises from three firms. The present franchise was issued in 1958, and Piper's revisions cover changes in state law since then.

Councilmen heard a letter of complaint from Malcolm Smith about city employees damaging plants on his property while spraying weeds on Marina Vista Avenue. Piper in a reply said the city has had a spraying program for 10 or 12 years, and has an obligation to maintain roads in safe condition. The city could not be held responsible for damage, he said. Councilmen tabled the matter.

The council had no objection to a request by Peter Gottheiner, president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn., for permission to set off fireworks July 4 behind Petrini's Market. The plan must be cleared by the fire chief, the council said.

Mental Health Drive Passes Quarter-Mark

More than $5,000 has been collected during by Mental Health Bell Ringers campaign for $20,000 to support the programs of the Marin Assn. of Mental Health, S. K. Herzog Jr., campaign chairman, announced today.

About half of funds already collected were contributed to participants in the annual Bell Ringers March in residential areas.

Marin Artists' Auction for Mental Health in Sausalito last month contributed $1,139 to the campaign, Herzog announced.

All division chairmen of the drive will report to the association by June 15 when it is hoped that $20,000 will have been collected to meet the needs of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health, 1005 A Street, San Rafael, Herzog said.

Army Engineers Approve Project

Permits will be issued by the Army Corps of Engineers for construction of a dock, float and breakwater on the north shore of Belvedere and for installation of pilings for a house, and dock on the west shore.

No navigational objections to the two projects was received by the corps during the 30-day period after notice, a spokesman for the corps said today.

Tiburon Firemen Fete Departing Volunteer

Last night's meeting of the Tiburon volunteer firemen was a farewell party for Allan A. Olson, who is moving to Charlotte, N.C.

Olson will take Cinders, the fire department mascot, along with him so the dog can be closer to his master, fireman Larry Bogel, who is stationed at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Whites Stay As Negroes Move In

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whites haven't been moving out of rental units when Negroes move in, the State Fair Employment Practices Commission says.

The FEPC said it has handled 64 housing complaints since last September, under a law preventing discrimination, and among 46 satisfactory settlements in Southern California there were 10 Negro family move-ins.

"To the best of our knowledge not a single white family has moved out," a spokesman reported Wednesday.

Grazing Lands Urged For Summer Rec Use

James M. Fletcher of the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission yesterday asked for a study on possible county leasing of grazing land for summer recreation.

He said cattle in Marin graze many of the hills for only about three months during winter. Much of the rest of the year, the land might be put to recreational use, he suggested.

Commissioner Elizabeth Banning Davies said she had some doubts about such a plan, saying much fencing of land would be required. But she went along with the idea of a study.

The commissioners, noting that the county board of supervisors' session on the parks budget is set for June 25, decided to make a major push to have $5,000 restored for initial development of Stafford Lake near Novato. Commissioner Helen Newman said she felt Supervisor William A. Gnoss of Novato would support the increase.

The money was cut from the budget requests by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

Mrs. Russell Dwyer, small craft chairman from the Marin County Red Cross Chapter, explained plans for a canoe safety class to be held on the Civic Center lagoon. She asked for official county endorsement of the program, which would allow the Red Cross to charge for the classes, rather than giving them free, as in the past.

Commission Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said that there could probably be no decision by the county, since there may be some liability involved, in time for this year's classes.

Parks director Kelvin H. Nelson suggested the county and federal government split the cost of appraisal of county-owned McClure's and Drake's beaches, as a preliminary to turning the land over to become part of the Point Reyes National Seashore.

He said the cost of the private appraisal would be higher than expected because of special requirements made by the federal government, and the federal government should shoulder the added burden. The commission agreed, but was not optimistic about the National Park Service agreeing.

Nelson read a letter from a contractor estimating it would cost $30,000 to repair storm damage and make the boat dock safe at Miller Park on Tomales Bay. The dock floats were damaged by a recent wind storm.

Nelson said the proposal actually calls for a redesign. The county is committed to maintain the docks, under a contract with the state Wildlife Conservation Board, which paid for the original facilities. He said the conservation board should be approached with a request to help pay for the changes. The commission ordered him to make the request.

Sanitary District Approves Tract

Directors of the Ross Valley Sanitary District last night granted an installation permit to the Del May Investment Co. of San Rafael for a 60-lot tract north of San Francisco Boulevard near Sleepy Hollow in San Anselmo.

The tract will be known as Indian Rock subdivision.

MEMENTO IN CONCRETE

British movie comedian Peter Sellers, accompanied by his bride, actress Britt Eklund, placed a print of his hands and feet and etched a heart in cement in frfont of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood yesterday, alongside mementos of 145 other stars. "You might say the heart has a double meaning," said Sellers, who suffered a near-fatal heart attack April 6. (AP Wirephoto)

Bridge Director Stymied On Publicity Cutback

A Golden Gate Bridge District director tried unsuccessfully today to eliminate $33,500 in publicity funds from the budget for fiscal 1964-65.

A majority of members of the district's public relations committee voted to continue appropriations of $25,000 to Redwood Empire Assn. and $8,500 to the San Francisco Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The director who tried to eliminate these items was Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco, chairman of the public relations committee.

"I take the position we no longer need publicity or advertising to increase traffic," Leonoudakis said.

He also added that some of the counties in the Redwood Empire are beyond the confines of the bridge district.

"I still think it's beyond the purview of our activities. Our attorney has advised us that it would be illegal and possibly an abuse of our discretion," he said.

Director Dan E. London of San Francisco strongly supported the appropriations. "I have no apologies to make for the funds spent by REA and the San Francisco Visitors Bureau. I think they are spent for a good purpose," he said.

Both Marin directors, Thomas D. Hardcastle and Leland S. Murphy, spoke in favor of continuing the publicity appropriations.

Murphy said he thinks it's good business because tourists for off-peak periods should be encouraged. Hardcastle commented that if the bridge gets more than $25,000 in off-hour tolls because of promotion "I don't think it's improper to make the donation."

Leonoudakis was the only one voting to eliminate the outlay. The recommendation to retain the appropriations will go before the full bridge board during regular budget discussions.

Catholic Class To Graduate

Forty-nine pupils will be graduated frfom eighth grade of Our Lady of Mount Carmel School in Mill Valley at commencement exercises at the church at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Steven Miller will give the valedictory address.

Diplomas will be distributed by Rev. John J. O'Brien, pastor, assisted by Rev. Francis Scanlon. Rev. David Pettingill will give a talk to the graduates. Awards will be distributed at the end of the exercises.

A mass for the graduating class will be said at the church at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, followed by a graduation breakfast in the school hall.

Friday from 7 to 11 p.m. there will be a graduation party at the Outdoor Art Club. Seventh graders will read prophecies for each graduate and graduates will leave their last wills to individuals in the school.

Ruby Won't Allow Treatment In Cell

DALLAS (UPI) — Condemned killer Jack Ruby refused medication in his Dallas County jail cell for the second day today, saying he preferred to wait until he felt the need for it.

The medication, supposedly tranquilizers, was recommended by psychiatrists and ordered by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown. County health officer Dr. J. M. Pickard said Ruby "was very pleasant" about the refusal. "He simply explained that he felt no need for such medication right now."

No Tattoo For Her

NEWPORT, England (UPI) — John Thompson has tattooed the letter "M" on the right arm of his baby son, Michael, in case he gets lost. But his wife, Babs, refused to allow him to do the same to their only daughter, Deejah, because she might resent it later.

Terra Linda Recreation Program Set For Summer

Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District directors last night approved a summer program and senior citizen program for the Terra Linda Community Center.

Recreation director William Gordon reported Dixie School District would allow the use of two rooms each at Santa Margarita and Bernard R. Hofmann schools during the summer.

The senior citizen program was set for 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of each month.

A special summer program for teen-agers was approved, including bowling, horseback riding, ice skating, and two-day camping trips each week to an area west of Petaluma.

Summer playground activities approved include games, arts and crafts, nature hikes, rock collecting, archery, with two sewing classes set up, one for teen-agers and another for younger girls.

Adult programs include evening folk dancing and duplicate bridge games, and a Monday morning "slimnastics" class.

The board approved a new annual contract with the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School, and also decided to set up a summer pre-school program for two days a week.

An Explorer Beat Boone To Kentucky

Hot Reading Matter

LONDON (UPI)—Leo Abse, labor member of parliament, claimed last night that there is a "semi-secret" cupboard at the House of Commons where M.P.s can obtain erotic books. He said the cupboard contained such controversial books as Kinsey's on Sexual Behavior, Lolita, Tropic of Cancer, and the Kamasutra.

No More Fire Calls

AURORA, Ill. (UPI)—It was a sad day for Aurora's 1921 Stutz pumper fire engine yesterday. The old pumper was retired from active service to make way for a new $34,800 fire engine. The Stutz will live out its days at the Aurora historical society.

Danville Airliner Crash Is Blamed On Murder

WASHINGTON — Mid-air murder was the cause of the May 7 Pacific Air Lines propjet wreck near Danville, Contra Costa County, the Civil Aeronautics Board ruled in a report issued yesterday.

At the same time, the agency issued an electronic transcription of the last radio message from the death plane, which had been so garbled that listeners had been able to read almost anything into it.

Still awaited is a Federal Bureau of Investigation report of its investigation into the crash, and particularly of the probability that the plane's pilot — and perhaps other crew members — were slain by Frank Gonzalez of San Francisco, one-time Olympic sailing yacht crewman.

The CAB report said that Bell Telephone Laboratory scientists in New Jersey used "voice print" techniques to identify the static-blurred last message as coming from the death plane's co-pilot, Raymond E. Andress.

"Skipper's shot . . . we're bin (or being) shot. I was (these two words uncertain) tryin' ta (apparently 'to') help."

Tests on the mangled wreckage revealed that bullets had torn through the back of Pilot Ernest A. Clark's seat, the CAB report indicated. A .357 Magnum revolver belonging to passenger Gonzales was found in the wreckage.

Police Nab Escapee With Arsenal

Marian Wayne O'Dell, 29, who escaped from San Quentin Prison farm April 4, is being held by Pasadena police on charges of possessing narcotics, a sawed-off shotgun and a sawed-off rifle.

O'Dell was arrested Friday, the day after Bonita was captured in Watsonville after holding police at bay for an hour by using his sister-in-law and her two children as hostages.

O'Dell, held under $22,000 bail, is to appear in Pasadena Municipal Court at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow on the possession charges. He also will face escape charges in Marin County, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

LAW SOUGHT TO PROTECT AIR CREWS

Clausen's concern resulted directly from the California air disaster last month "with definite evidence that the crew was shot to death in flight with the resultant death of 43 innocent victims of a crazed gunman."

Representatives of the Air Line Pilots Assn. in San Francisco met with Clausen in Washington last week. Pilots O. J. Banks and Exline Brown proposed that the airplane captain be armed, the cockpit be bulletproofed, the cockpit door be locked and fitted with a one-way window, and that "trip insurance that is machine-dispensed for large amounts be removed from our industry."

Don't Stop, Now

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — William Wakling of San Diego celebrated his 101st birthday yesterday. When asked how he managed to live so long, he said: "The main thing is to just keep breathing."

Testimony Conflicts In Probe Of Paradise Airline At Tahoe

OAKLAND (UPI) — The civil aeronautics board today tried to sift conflicting testimony as to who was responsible for the dispatch of an erroneous weather report which sent a Paradise Airlines plane on its doomed flight of March 1.

The plane crashed into a Lake Tahoe mountainside, killing all 85 aboard. The hearing into the crash moved into its third day today.

Weather observer Jim D. Lyons testified that he had nothing to do with the erroneous report. It was altered to make it appear that the Tahoe area weather was above flight minimum when in fact it was below.

Capt. Kody Krick, who flew a storm-delayed Paradise flight out an hour before the crash, testified yesterday he took off on the verbal assurance of the observer that it was clear enough.

He was supported by operations manager Raymond D. Rickards, who said he had overheard the conversation. Observer Lyons had no such recollection.

Rickards acknowledged he altered Lyons' official report, but only to conform with the weather message already transmitted.

"I didn't realize it was an official document," he said. "I just thought I was correcting a mistake Lyons had made."

Rickards testified he changed Lyons" report about an hour after it was sent. But station agent James Connelly said the report had been altered shortly after transmission.

Judge Ponders Ouster Try In Murder Trial

A surprise motion that Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. disqualify himself in the murder trial next Tuesday of Robert Lee Jones and John Lee King was taken under advisement today by the judge until further hearing this afternoon.

The motion, made by Jones through his attorney, Thomas P. Boyd, was first presented to Superior Court Judge Thomas F. Keating late yesterday, then moved to Judge Sims for a decision.

Boyd said Jones feels Judge Sims should be disqualified because he already has prejudice regarding Jones' guilt or innocence.

Boyd said under recent law, a defendant has privilege of refusing one judge, but issue here is that Judge Sims already has sat—as presiding judge in criminal calendar matters—on preliminary proceedings for Jones and King both before and after trial date was scheduled in Judge Sims' court.

Jones and King are charged with the March 27 murder in Sausalito of Donald G. Corbett Jr. Peter Allen Smith, public defender representing King, said today that since joint trial of King and Jones is scheduled, his client, too, would be tried before a second judge if Judge Sims disqualifies himself.

Also scheduled this afternoon before Judge Sims were requests by both King and Jones for severance of armed robbery counts from the murder count.

No Trace Found Of Missing Manager

No trace of Earl Rogers, 45, missing manager of Burge's Drive-In Restaurant, sought for questioning by Marin County sheriff's officers in the disappearance of over $4,000 was reported today by deputies.

The money was taken early Tuesday from the Ignacio restaurant's unforced safe. Rogers, of Burge's Apartments, Ignacio, has not been seen by restaurant employees since 4 a.m. that day, officers said.

JFK Library Drive

The county-wide drive to collect money from Marin teenagers for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library netted $418.67, Mrs. Margaret Rattray, dean of girls at Terra Linda High School, reported today. Collections were made Friday morning in high schools in Marin, limited to 25 cents per student.

Ohio Youngster Wins Spelling Bee Crown

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William Kerek, 12, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, today won the 37th annual national spellingbee in an all-Ohio all-boy final.

When only two spellers remain, the winner must spell what his opponent misspelled and then another word to win.

Mathews stumbled on "geophagy," which he spelled "geofigy." The word means the practice of eating dirt.

July 4 Fete Set At Peacock Gap

Members of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Assn. learned last night that the Draper Companies and the real estate firm of Fox and Carskadon have agreed to sponsor a Fourth of July celebration for Peacock Gap residents.

Association President Donald L. Schweitzer announced today events will include a sailing meet on the lagoon, a golf tournament, a swimming meet, dinner, and fireworks at the Peacock Gap Tennis and Swimming Club.

Schweitzer said the events will be for residents only.

Directors last night also agreed on a barbecue July 19 at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club and endorsed the Draper Companies' offer to provide a community playground adjacent to a proposed school site at Biscayne and Riviera drives.

Mill Valley To Hire Additions To Police Force

One new patrolman and a clerk-dispatcher were approved last night to be hired in fiscal year 1964-65 for the Mill Valley Police Department, thus resulting in two added patrolmen in the field.

Action was taken in the first budget session of the Mill Valley city council. The next session will be at 8:30 p.m. Monday in city hall.

Also approved was a new department of community development, which combines planning and building in one unit with a fulltime planning director. The city now has a parttime consultant. Funds approved for the new department are $47,222.

Councilmen, all present, also approved preliminary budget figures as follows: Parks, $40,861; recreation, $9,436; golf course, $42,655; clubhouse, $4,500; summer work program, $3,284; community and youth center, $8,964; library, $71,087; fire department, $112,283, and police, $112,305.

Proposed tax rate for 1964-65 is $2.30 per $100 assessed valuation, the same as the current year. It was reported erroneously in yesterday's Independent-Journal the rate is $2.39. Total proposed budget for 1964-65 is $1,593,041.

Lighthouse At Mile Rock In For Changes

In a few years the lighthouse on Mile Rock will no longer look like a lighthouse at all. It will be more like a persecuted pancake.

That was the report from the Coast Guard today in an announcement on plans to convert and make the lighthouse automatic. This move will end the lonely, prison-like duty on the rock which is one mile from the Golden Gate.

A proposed helicopter landing platform on top of the rebuilt tower is what will give the rock that isolated pancake look. That phase of the work, however, will not be done for several years.

Cables have already been laid to make the light automatic. That's the first step in the $200,000 conversion.

Car Strikes Girl, Injuries Minor

A 7-year-old San Anselmo girl suffered a cut lip and multiple bruises when she was struck by a car while crossing San Anselmo Avenue, 35 feet north of Florence Avenue, at 6:23 p.m. yesterday.

The victim, Lisa I. Franks, daughter of Mrs. S. C. Haroldson, 53 Florence Avenue, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

San Anselmo police reported she was struck by the side of a car driven by Robert Francis Bjorn, 28, of 10 Broadmoor Avenue, San Anselmo. Bjorn told police the girl ran from between parked cars.

SCIENCE ON THREE LEVELS

The proposed science building at Sonoma State College, Rohnert Park, will cost an estimated 2.5 million dollars. The State Office of Architecture and Construction today called for bids on a classroom building on the camppus that is structurally similar to this science building. Now under constructon on the campus is a $260,000 field house.

Would Beatles Fit As Red Culture?

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UPI) —Madame Ekaterina Furtseva, Soviet minister of culture, was taken aback at her press conference here yesterday when the opening question was about the Beatles, a mop-haired British male quartet.

She was asked whether a musical group like the Beatles would be eligible for government subsidy in Russia. Madame Furteseva huddled with her Russian embassy advisers and an interpreter.

"I am sorry I have never heard them. Thus I cannot decide if artists of that kind would go on our government payroll," she responded without smiling.

Auto Is Stolen

Nadean E. Chapman of 124 Linden Lane, San Rafael, reported to police yesterday that her 1963 Ford convertible was stolen from its parking spot, E Street and Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, between 6:45 and 9:24 p.m. The car was unlocked, police said.

Driver Is Hurt In Auto Crash

William H. Kendall, 40, of Pinole was in satisfactory condition in San Rafael General Hospital today with injuries suffered when his car ran into a ditch off Shoreline Highway south of Olema last night.

The hospital reported he had cuts and scratches on his right side and possible internal injuries.

Muir Woods Group Discusses Water

Directors of Muir Beach community services district discussed a proposal by Miwok Corp. to install a water supply system for its proposed 64-home subdivision last night but took no action, president Jack F. Harris said today.

Mrs. Aileen Graham, director, attended her last meeting of the board, her term expiring this month. Thomas A. Norton will fill her position starting in July, having been appointed to the board since no one else sought the seat. Harris will continue for another term. His term expires this month also but no one else sought the position.

Stinson Beach Lights Favored

Advocates of street lighting for Stinson Beach total 67 and 15 are against it, returns of a questionnaire sent out by the Stinson Beach Progressive Club show.

Club directors discussed the subject last night but put off action until more of the questionnaires have been returned, said Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, secretary-treasurer.

The board adjourned to Sept. 2, empowering the executive committee to take any action that might be necessary during the summer, Mrs. Greene reported.

Commercial Booths Booked Early For Art, Garden Fair

Commercial booths were booked early this year for the Marin Art and Garden Show scheduled for July 1-5 — and more than the usual number of them will be occupied by new exhibitors.

Space was all filled by the middle of May, two to three weeks earlier than usual. Fifteen exhibitors have never appeared before, and one or two absentees in the last year or so are coming back.

Among the newcomers is Associated Plumbing Contractors of San Rafael, taking three booths to show off modern fixtures and equipment. Others are Marin Garden Service, Mill Valley; Mull's Figurines of San Rafael; John Biekner of Richmond with a display of redwood nameplates; Medieval Arts, Ltd. of San Francisco; San Rafael interior decorator Hal Johnston; Chapelle and Saxby of Sausalito with leather and woodcraft items; Kidis and Turner of Tiburon, mosaics and collages.

Stanley Home Products, San Anselmo will have a display of household items; John C. Brown of Greenbrae has something for you on sauna baths; there will be educational material from the Peace Center of Marin, bonsai plants from Moore and Masters, Burlingame and insurance information from Thomas J. O'Reilly of San Francisco. The Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents is a perennial.

NEW THIS YEAR is Yamaha Pianos from San Francisco, and Sherman Clay and Co. will display organs again, and Miracle Music will provide the console to be played by Emory Stevenson as an entertainment feature.

Absent last year, the Marin Shakespeare Festival is back with a display. New is the Festival Theater Foundation of San Anselmo.

AMONG THE OLD TIMERS with handout literature will be the Henry George School, Britannica and World Book encyclopedias, Democrats, Republicans, Christian Scientists, the Volunteer Bureau of Marin, Junior Social Service, Marin Bar Assn. and the Marin County TB and Health Assn.

There should be a good PT&T display again with four booths; Hickory Farms is on hand (for its fourth year)—so are Creative Merchandisers, Marine Lights, Neal Ashmore's Knapp Shoes, Necchi Elna, and Casman and Weiss Manufacturing Co. from Los Angeles.

Stone planters and rock jewelry will again be featured by Derby's of California; Broilitzer of Mill Valley will have its smokeless broiler; Clark Lapidary Supply and Paul Messinger's Maico hearing aids are others.

All in all, you're bound to have plenty of products to keep you occupied.

A-1 AUTO PARTS in Mill Valley will have new and larger quarters in another month or so, moving from 487 to 475 Miller Avenue where Nathan Erb is providing this firm with a one-story basalt rock building. H. S. Meinberger and Son is doing the construction. R. N. Ward, formerly of Portland, took over A-1 last January.

DAVID PERKONEN, who about a month ago took over R and R Richfield Service Station at Second and E Streets, San Rafael, from Ray and Richard DeLeon, is holding his grand opening throughout this week. The station is known as Dave's Richfield Service.

DEAN SAYLOR of Corte Madera has been made national sales manager for Flecto Co., Inc., Oakland paint products firm. Saylor joined Flecto in 1961. He has been regional sales manger of the Rocky Mountain area.

KENNETH P. KNOLES, service manager of Knoles, Inc., San Rafael, has completed an advance course in air conditioning theory and practice conducted by the Payne Co., manufacturer of heating and air-conditioning products.

Conference Is Set For San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO — Plans were announced today for the 70th National Conference on Government sponsored by the National Municipal League to be held in San Francisco for the first time in its history, 18-21 at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

The conference theme is "The Urban Future—Challenge and Opportunity." William N. Cassella Jr. of New York, assistant director of the league made this announcement to a group of Bay Area civic leaders, including representatives of the League of Women Voters, SPUR and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

Alan K. Browne, vice president of the Bank of America and a regional vice president of the league and Norris Nash, vice president of Kaiser Industries Corp. and the Henry J. Kaiser Corp. are co-chairmen.

THREE-PAR HOLE—180 YARDS

Earthmoving equipment had very little grading to do at this 16th hole of the San Geronimo Valley Country Club except to dig out a contoured lake. Graders have been busy daily on the 150-acre golf course site near Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Nicasio Road which is expected to be ready for seeding in time for the fall rains.

A Pittsburgh Editor Leaves The 'Power' Out Of His Giant Yarns

Jack Hanley

PITTSBURGH — Sooner or later some smart reporter was bound to examine credentials of the Giants and ask: "What right have they to be where they are in the National League race?"

Until this stop in Pittsburgh, we had been reading road stories that described the Giants with some strange adjective —power-packed, awesome, etc. We began to wonder whether we finally needed glasses because the only awesome bat we've seen in the Giant lineup this year is the one Willie Mays swung through the first quarter of the season.

HOWEVER, here in Pittsburgh, Al Abrams took the proper reportorial approach instead of writing a canned story. Abrams is sports editor of the Post-Gazette. But that doesn't stop him from doing his own leg work.

As usual, Abrams stopped by Pittsburgh hotel headquarters of the Giants when they arrived in town the other day. It didn't take him long to get the facts about the team.

"One can go blind scanning Giant batting averages looking for any San Francisco player hitting for a decent average other than Mays," wrote Abrams.

"THE GIANTS are next to last in hitting with an anemic .230 team mark. They are last in fielding for both leagues, not one. Yet, at the moment they are only a half game from the top. You figure it out.

"I've heard baseball men refer to the Giants as a One-Man and Two-Man club. The One-Man is Mays. The Two-Man clubs is Mays plus Juan Marichal.

"Bob Shaw, during the first weeks of the campaign, made it a Three-Man team, winning three games and saving four others in the ex-Brave's first seven relief appearances as a Giant."

THUS, BRIEFLY and succinctly, Abrams accurately pinpointed the trio responsible for the Giant being where they are instead of tagging along with the tailend Mets.

There was no fanciful "power-packed" or "awesome" stuff in Abrams' story about the 1964 Giants. It made refreshing reading, particularly after the fictional tripe we've seen elsewhere on this road trip.

Cepeda, Herbel Star; Bolin Goes Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—If big Orlando Cepeda is back in the groove, look for the San Francisco Giants to win some ball games.

Cepeda, sidelined by illness Tuesday, murdered the ball all night last night as the Giants bounced Pittsburgh, 3-0, in a game delayed 33 minutes by rain.

Orlando hit the ball so hard during the spring that it was frightening, but it was also in spring training that he picked up a knee injury that has slowed him through the first part of the season. He has kept his average up, but had not shown his usual power.

Last night, he drove in all three Giant runs. He smacked a homer after Willie Mays tripled to give San Francisco a 2-0 lead. Then his deep fly followed a Willie Mays walk and a Willie McCovey single to account for the third run in the eighth.

His most impre ssive hit, a 430-foot triple to dead center in mammoth Forbes Field, went to waste when Orlando died on third.

Herbel's performance was made all the harder by the rain-caused delay. When action started up again, he plunked opposing pitcher Vern Law on the elbow and forced him out of action. Reliever Bob Priddy came on to give up all the Giant tallies and absorb the setback.

Independent-Journal Sports

Thursday, June 4, 1964 21

Herbel fanned five and walked just one.

The Pirates played the game under protest when McCovey hit a sixth inning grounder down the third base line that hit baserunner Mays. The umps called it foul, but Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh claimed the ball hit Mays in fair territory.

A once-in-a-decade occurrence took place in the seventh when Mays dropped a routine fly ball. Herbel polished off the Buc batters so that it did not make any difference.

Mays dropped one in the Polo Grounds as a New York Giant against Chicago in 1954. And he misplayed a ball down in Dodger Stadium a few seasons back. Those are about the only fielding mistakes the great fly-chaser has made during his brilliant career.

The unyielding Philadelphia Phils took Los Angeles 1-0 in 11 innings to stay 1½ games up on the second-place Giants.

San Francisco squares off against the Bucs again tonight with Bobby Bolin (1-1) set to toss against veteran Bob Friend of the Pirates (4-5).

The Giants had one bit of bad news yesterday. Matty Alou had his left wrist X-rayed at a hospital here and learned there was a fracture in the bone. He'll be out of action at least three weeks, so the Giants placed him on the disabled list.

Alou was hit on the wrist Tuesday night when he pinch-hit in the losing effort to the Pirates.

With Jim Duffalo still on the disabled list, the Giants have only 23 men on the roster. These include Jose Pagan, who has a pulled side muscle; Billy O'Dell, who has yet to throw well this season because of a shoulder injury; Jack Sanford, who has a cold, and McCovey, whose right knee and ankle are bothering him.

But if Cepeda is ready to go on a batting rampage, the Giants will still be just about unbeatable.

500 Attend Dave MacDonald Funeral

WHITTIER (AP) — Dave MacDonald, who first gave himself to his family and then to auto racing, lies at rest today with two checked flags — symbols of victory in the world he loved — atop his coffin.

His children, Richie, 7, and Vicki, 5, put them there yesterday as 500 persons gathered at Rose Hills Memorial Park to mourn the young driver who suffered fatal injuries in a flaming crash Saturday during the Indianapolis 500 mile race.

Serving as pallbearers were four Californians who had helped MacDonald throughout his career: Mickey Thompson and Bill Stroppe of Long Beach, Don Steves of La Habra and Carroll Shelby of Venice.

The Rev. Max Armitage eulogized the 26-year-old MacDonald as "a hard competitor and a good sport whose quiet, modest manner won him a multitude of friends."

MacDonald's widow, Sherry, listened quietly. Earlier, she had sent a floral memorial to Bethlehem, Pa., where driver Eddie Sachs, who died in the same crash, was being laid to rest.

NORTHERN DANCER IS HEAVY FAVORITE

That's the opinion of Horatio Luro, trainer of the Canadian-owned winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, and at least one trainer of the four 3-year-olds expected to oppose the son of Nearactic-Natalma in the 1½-mile final leg of the Triple Crown.

"I actually don't know his capabilities," said Luro today. "He's done everything we have asked of him so well that I would hesitate to guess just how far he'll go."

"He probably hasn't reached his peak," said Jimmy Conway, trainer of Orientalist, who was made a supplementary entry at the cost of $5,000. "He has held his bloom so well. In fact he seems to look better every time I see him."

Northern Dancer, from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, has won his last seven starts, never been out of the money in 17 races, set a Kentucky Derby mark of two minutes flat for 1¼ miles and came close to the Preakness standard with a 1:56 4-5 clocking for 1 3-16 miles.

After being the second choice to Hill Rise in both the Derby and Preakness, the Dancer is expected to go to the post at the short odds of around 3-5.

Hill Rise, from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, loser by a neck in the Derby and by 2¼ lengths in the Preakness, figures to get the bulk of the remainder of the play in the betting machines.

Post time in 3:45 p.m. EST, with nationwide television (CBS) scheduled for 3:30-4 p.m. EST.

Louis Wolfson's Roman Brother, who like Northern Dancer was foaled on May 27; Paul Mellon's Quadrangle and John Galbreath's Orientalist are the other definite starters.

5 Marin Preps To Run In State Track Meet

Tamalpais High School's miler Keith Krieger and Redwood's sprint relay team will be running tomorrow with the best in the state.

Krieger and Redwood's Bob Piro, Guy Modica, Tom Straithairn and Dave Auerbach—the 880-yard relay boys — will be competing in the California Interscholastic Federation state track and field championships in the huge confines of the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Krieger, with a best time of 4:18.5, will be running in the fourth lane of the first heat in the mile event. There will be three heats trying for spots in the finals which will be held Saturday.

The Redwood speedsters will be running in the seventh lane of the third and final heat of the 880-yard relay. Best time for Redwood this year was a 1:28.8 clocking at the Sectional Meet May 23, the same day Krieger ripped off his fastest mile.

According to comparative times, Krieger has the 10th best qualifying time out of 24 milers entered in the meet. Fastest entrant is Mike Ryan of Santa Clara's Wilcox High School with a 4:12.4 clocking.

Redwood's 1:28.8 mark is 19th out of 24 qualifying times for the meet. Fastest relay team, according to its sectional qualifying time, is Muir High School of southern California, with a 1:26.7 to its credit.

Angry Pancho Gonzales Is Double Loser

COMBINED AP & UPI

SANTA MONICA — Tennis star Pancho Gonzales, new in his comeback as a touring tennis pro, lost a match with his estranged wife, Madelyn, 29, then went a round with newsmen.

Gonzales was ordered yesterday to pay $1,135 monthly temporary support to her and their three young daughters pending outcome of her divorce suit.

Gonzales, 36, considered one of the world's top tennis players, was also ordered to keep up monthly payments, taxes and insurance on their home.

They were Bob Smith, 31, the Outlook's chief photographer, and Paul Knief, 60, a 30-year veteran of the courthouse beat.

Smith told fellow newsmen: "Gonzales had Paul's head over the second-story railing and was trying to choke him. Then the cops came."

Then on the Los Angeles Tennis Club court last night in the $15,000 Masters Round-Robin, Gonzales, trying for his third tourney win since coming out of retirement, lost 10-4 to Australian Rod Laver.

In other matches, Alex Olmedo upset Lew Hoad 10-8, Frank Sedgman defeated Andres Gimeno 10-6 and the team of Ken Roseall and Pancho Segura downed Earl Buchholz and Barry MacKay 10-4.

Laver and Olmedo, both 1-0 and in the same five-man bracekt, meet tonight. The two other singles matches pit Rosewall (1-0) vs. Gimeno (0-1) and Segura (0-2) vs. Buchholz (1-1).

STEVENS

The paths of the trophy hunter are devious. He may travel to India for a tiger skin, to Africa for 100-pound elephant tusks, or Alaska for his polar-bear rug, if he is a hunter; or to the Roaring Forties off New Zealand to land a mammoth Maco shark if he seeks his trophy with rod and reel. But there are others of the ilk who roam the fields and streams of our own locale for his trophy beast or his piscatorial prize.

Today I salute two of the latter trophy hunters who made the grade this past weekend. First, Jim Bushell of Felton whose objective was a trophy-size wild boar.

ON SATURDAY Jim Bushell obtained the professional services of the well known big game guide, Floyd Hector, his trained dogs, and his savey of the haunts of the boar. The dogs flushed a huge and angry board, the hunters stopped him with two well placed shots from the big bore rifles and Jim had his trophy — a 300-pound wild boar with long tusks, and every appearance of being a genuine European wild boar. According to Hector he has located the haunt of several more boars of trophy size. Anyone interested in giving such a hunt a trial, contact Floyd Hector at 516 Willow Avenue, Hayward.

The second conquering hero did his stuff on Monday. Chris Martinelli called to inform me that George Mura, light- tackle fishing expert, hooked, played and landed a striped bass that weighed-in officially at 38 pounds, two ounces.

GEORGE'S trophy bass was taken in False River. Could be that Mura's catch will win the annual contest held by the Reel Rod Benders Club. If a larger bass is recorded, here's hoping George gets it. Incidently, Martinelli reported he personally caught two nice tripers the same day—around nine or 10 pounds, I believe. And, oh yes—belated congratulations to Stan Francis of the Reel Rod Benders who placed first in the club's recent salmon derby. Stan's prize salmon weighed in at 15½ pounds.

STRIPER STRIVING has picked up considerably the past few days. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported fair to good trolling in the upper San Pablo Bay. On Friday night, the boat Two Dares netted limits all around. An average of two fish per rod was made in the mornings of Saturday and Sunday by skiffs working off the Union Oil Wharf, and on Monday morning Ron Trainer took quick limits of 15-pounders trolling two white Bug-eye jigs. Trainer claimed he connected with bass every time his boat moved a couple of yards.

Reports have it that the lads fishing with live bait off the Naval Air Station are reaping a harvest. An unverified report (but from a dependable source) has it that some fair to good to excellent results are being had in the area we commonly call the Brothers and Point San Pablo. So it looks like better days are here again.

Summer Basketball At Drake High To Start June 16

Basketball action in the Drake Summer Recreation Program is slated to start June 16 and run through Aug. 20, it was announced today by Bob Fitzhenry, director of the program.

Six high school age teams and 11 adult teams have entered so far. There is still room for one more adult team and Fitzhenry asks any interested persons to get in touch with him at Drake High School.

The high school teams will play on Tuesday nights and the adults will play on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Games will be played at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock, on those nights.

Admission to the games is free.

U.S. Wightman Cup Tennis Girls Make Fine Showing

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — America's Wightman Cup tennis gals are making up in a hurry for lost time in the rain-plagued Northern England Tennis Championships.

Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, and Nancy Richey of Dallas made their first appearances on grass courts this season and bowled over minor opponents yesterday.

Miss Caldwell won three matches, Miss Moffitt took two and Miss Richey beat one opponent. Stephanie DeFina of Hollywood, Fla., making her first overseas tour, won two matches.

Several Americans were eliminated including Vicky Palmer of Phoenix, Peachy Kellmeyer of Charleston, W. Va., Tory Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., and Mike Belkin of Miami Beach.

Cliff Richey, the U.S. junior champion from Dallas, was a busy bee in men's singles, winning three matches. Among his victims was Dave Phillips of South Africa by 7-5, 4-6, 6-2. Previously Phillips had ousted Belkin, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Another men's winner was John Reese of Hewlett, N.Y. He downed Charlie Applethwaite of Britain, 8-6, 2-6, 6-4.

The Wightman Cup players are tuning up for their match with the British June 12-13.

El Torro Regatta Slated Saturday

An El Torro Regatta, sponsored by the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, will be held Saturday starting at 10:30 a.m. in the Peacock Lagoon.

Trophies will be presented to winners in three age divisions—19 and over, 15 through 18, and up through 14. No entry fee is required.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Red-Hot Phillies Nip Dodgers, 1-0

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

In baseball, as in poker, the fellow with the hot hand can do no wrong.

In poker, he's the fellow who makes his ace-high straight by drawing the queen while in baseball he's the guy who plucks a Cookie Rojas off the bench and sees him play a key role in beating the world champions in two straight games.

And, lest there be any doubt about it, the fellow with the hot hand in the National League these days is manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies.

INSTRUMENTAL

Mauch inserted Rojas into the lineup a week ago in a move that was pure speculation but now looks like inspiration. The 24-year-old native of Havana, Cuba, has been hitting at a better-than-.500 clip since he got into the lineup and last night for the second straight game was instrumental in enabling the Phillies to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers.

This was one of those tough games which surprise contenders like the Phillies must win to prove they're authentic. Dodger right-handed ace Don Drysdale was at his best and Philadelphia pitcher Jim Bunning was in constant hot water. But in the end it was the Dodgers who faltered — just enough to enable the Phillies to score a 1-0, 11-inning victory.

DOUBLE

Rojas, who figured in all four Philadelphia runs in a Tuesday night win over the Dodgers, started the 11th inning with a double—only the fourth hit off Drysdale. Drysdale struck out Richie Allen but was replaced in favor of Ron Perranoski, who intentionally walked Johnny Callison and then got Wes Covington to hit into a force play at second. Then Tony Gonzalez grounded to third-baseman Jim Gilliam, who bobbled the ball as Rojas raced across the plate with the winning run.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Phillies, who knocked the Dodgers eight games off the pace in eighth place. Jack Baldschun, who shut out the Dodgers for one inning, picked up his third win while the loss was Drysdale's fifth in 11 decisions.

BRAVES WIN

The San Francisco Giants 3-0, the Milwaukee Braves nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 7-5 win over the Chicago Cubs in other N.L. games. Houston at New York was rained out.

Ray Sadecki, with relief help from Roger Craig and home run power by Ken Boyer, won his fifth game for the Cardinals and also hung an 0-for-4 horsecollar around the neck of Billy Williams, whose average dropped to .412 with the end of his eight-game hitting streak. Bill White weighed in with a two-run double for the Cardinals.

No-Hitter Tops Treemen Wins

With hurler Dave Shallenberger throwing a no-hitter in the first game, Sohner Tree Service softballers beat the Longhorns of Petaluma in a twin bill yesterday, 4-0 and 4-1.

In hurling the no-hitter in the 4-0 victory, Shallenberger struck out 16 enemy batters. Earl Lowe threw a two-hitter at Petaluma in the second game, with Dave Hughes driving in the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth with a double.

Next game for Sohner will be Saturday night at 7:30 in Petaluma against Two Rock Army Base.

Nicklaus, Palmer Head Field For Thunderbird

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says he can't drive, and Arnold Palmer says he is so rusty his backswing creates little brown clouds.

That's enough to make them favorites in the Thunderbird Golf Tournament which opened today at the Westchester Country Club course.

The two big men of golf share that designation in any tournament they enter, and they have something extra going for them in the rich $100,000 test on the par 72, 6,573-yard course.

To start with, this is the tournament where both plan to begin getting ready for the U.S. Open, which comes up in two weeks on the Congressional course in Washington, D.C.

Add to that the fact that Palmer is the defending champion. Add that Palmer and Nicklaus are two of only five golfers who have won two tournaments this year.

And add the $20,000 first prize. The two money machines are noted for refusing to leave that kind of cash around for the others.

Gary Player, the third member of the Mark McCormack stable, also is rated a good chance. He won the 500 Festival last week, and is another who has won two tournaments this year.

The other two with a pair of victories are Billy Casper and Mike Souchak, both in the field here. Open champion Julius Boros also is entered.

Among the others are British Open champion Bob Charles, old Sam Snead, even older Vic Ghezzi who won the PGA back in 1941, Champagne Tony Lema, Dow Finsterwald and Tony Manero, who won the U.S. Open in 1936.

Some Tips On Registration, Keys, Insurance, Hazards And Weather

Is your boat's registration certificate aboard? Or is it at home? Somplace, maybe? It's in that file in your garage workshop on one of the rafters. Pull down that shabby metal box and take a look. Hm-m . . . drug prescriptions, circa 1940. Marriage certificate, graduation photo and expired fishing licenses. Also two suspiciously-ancient dimes and a meat coupon book from World War II. A-ha . . . and there it is. Your boat registration — which expired two months ago.

Get it renewed and keep it aboard. What about your trailer's registration too?

YOU HAVE a brand new motor. It's plain to see you purchased a new tachometer and boat top also. But have you told your insurance man? Ask him if his firm has made any changes in policy since last year. Inquire how they may be contacted during the summer. Write down this information and keep it with your other valuable boating papers. Available. You have no idea how grateful you'll feel if you need to call on them for help.

ON THE subject of an extra key for your electric-starting outboard or stern drive motor: "Oooo-ps, honey . . . I've lost my key overboard," you might say, adding with false equanimity, "Just hand me the extra one you keep in your purse."

Her face uncomplicted as a nursery rhyme, she churns, dips and sifts through her purse. "I'm absolutely positive it's here . . . but I can't seem to find it—"

Sublimation of the purse may come, you think. But only when it appears on the market equipped with an inner revolving searchlight, a churning mechanism and metal detector. So, the key is gone. Have several made before your next trip.

ASK YOUR harbormaster or boat dealer if there are any new conditions in your boating area. Sometimes, due to below normal rainfall, obstructions formerly submerged become harzards. Flood conditions often sweep in debris, making new navigation charts necessary.

EVERYONE TAKES a measure of pleasure from his calculated predictions of the weather. A mixture of opinions are offered by the necromancer as well as the highly scientific meteorologist. The-man-on-the-street and colloquialism have their say.

OF COURSE, approaching bad weather always concerns the boater. Signs to observe are: No dew on the grass. The sky at sunset . . . a pale yellow. Cattle low. Birds aren't flying flying high. They flutter . . . appear disoriented. Black, ominous clouds form. It's quiet with an all-pervading sense of unease.

Pointing to fair weather, however, you'll witness a foggy dawn and high flying waterfowl. Your nose may seem unusually dry . . . no longer sensitive to some odors. Clouds are high. Smoke rises straight as an East Indian Fakir's trick rope. Your cigarette will burn extremely fast.

IF YOU'RE in the middle of San Pablo Bay and dark clouds suddenly shape-up, watch for temperature changes while you make a dash for shore. If a chilly wind comes up, it can herald the approach of a cold front, and a thunderstorm only a few miles away. Don't loiter.

A stiff wind can develop quickly and you may be worried over your situation; but this generally works: Face the wind. The storm should be on your right.

But like tips on politics, birth and fishing, it's good some of the time. Not always.

Near Record Bowling Scores Posted At San Rafael Lanes

The bowling of Frank Mooney and Fay Scott was the talk of Country Club Bowl in San Rafael this past week, the two keglers rolling some of the best scores in the establishment's history.

Mooney rolled games of 232, 224, 222 and 212 for a four-game series of 890 to take all honors for the men. His fine showing was in the 500 Trios League, and was one of the highest four-game sets ever rolled at Country Club.

Fay, bowling in the Ladies 465 Scratch Trios League, ripped off games of 257, 218, 194 and then a 151 for a whopping four-game set of 820. Her series for the first three games was 669, the highest three-game set ever posted by a woman at Country Club Bowl.

Not to be outdone by the senior bowlers, Laurie Migliore Jr. bashed the pins for a 256 game on his way to a 655 series of three in the Adult-Junior League. His other games were 200 and 199.

Another fine game, 244, was rolled by Frank Ely of the 500 Trios League.

Pony League Sign-Ups Set In Mill Valley

Sign-ups for the Southern Marin Colt Baseball League, open to boys 15 and 16, will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m., at the Project 17 baseball field in Mill Valley.

Cyclists To Race In West Marin

Northern California bicycle racers will converge on western Marin Saturday and Sunday to compete in a "Tour of Marin" event sponsored by the San Francisco Wheelmen.

Starts and finishes for the two-day races will be at Rancho Nicasio. Competition will start at 10 a.m. each day with more than 35 racers vying in junior (age 16 and younger) and senior (over 16) divisions.

Four Marin Countians will race, all in the senior division, including Bob Marshall and Til Malletista of Corte Madera, Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley and Vincent Mulligan of San Rafael.

On Saturday the senior division will stage a 40-mile race and 10-mile time trial and the juniors will go in a 20-mile race and 10-mile time trial.

Sunday's schedule will be a 70-mile race for seniors and 40-mile race for juniors.

Fullmer Dropped From Rankings

Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, was taken off the list by Nat Fleischer, Ring's editor, because he apparently has retired. Terry Downes of Britain got back on the list in the light-heavyweight division as No. 10 contender.

Bank of America announces an equal opportunity plan of major significance

Printed below is the full text of a joint statement to the press issued by the bank and the California Fair Employment Practice Commission on June 1, 1964

"The State Fair Employment Practice Commission and Bank of America jointly announced today a plan of major significance relating to equal employment opportunity in California.

"Bank of America has volunteered to turn over to the FEPC at regularly stated intervals extensive statistical data bearing on the equal employment opportunity policies and practices of the bank.

"The FEPC states that from the data provided by the bank, it is capable of effectively analyzing and evaluating those data and rendering suggestions to the bank as to methods Bank of America can use to further implement its equal opportunity policies.

"Recognizing that the issue of equal employment opportunity is properly one of considerable public interest, the bank and the FEPC feel it appropriate that there be periodic public reports of FEPC findings.

"The bank fully recognizes that the FEPC has the right and responsibility to determine what information should be released.

"Normally included in a public FEPC report on the bank will be a summary and critical appraisal of the main features of Bank of America's equal opportunity policy implementation. Included will be sufficient statistical material to substantiate FEPC conclusions. In accordance with FEPC's policy of not releasing unevaluated personnel pattern information, no such information will be disclosed publicly or otherwise.

"The data that the bank will turn over to the FEPC are included in a formal memorandum of understanding executed today between the bank and the FEPC."

Bank of America Welcomes FEPC Participation

Bank of America is pleased to cooperate with the FEPC in this undertaking. All Californians should be grateful that our state has had the foresight to set up a responsible government agency to operate in the field of equal employment opportunity. We would hope that by entering into this program with the Fair Employment Practice Commission we have demonstrated beyond any doubt that Bank of America is indeed vitally interested in providing equal opportunity for all of our minority citizens. We would further hope that this program totally disproves the contention that has been made in some quarters that Bank of America has "something to hide."

We think that our program with the FEPC may be a major step in removing the equal employment opportunity problem from the streets and placing it where it rightfully belongs—in a duly authorized government agency empowered by law to act in this field, and in the final analysis working for, and responsible to, all of the people of this state.

Bank of America's Position and Policy Remain the Same

Bank of America's position regarding the demands of the Congress of Racial Equality remains unchanged. This bank will not sign agreements with, or provide statistical data to, any nongovernment agency.

CORE's dispute with Bank of America has nothing to do with the bank's position as an equal opportunity employer. It is not related to the bank's willingness, even eagerness to hire qualified Negro applicants.

Rather, the point at issue is whether this bank, or any other corporation, should give detailed statistical information about its operations to a pressure group in order that that pressure group may set itself up as a policing agency. Our bank's answer is now and will continue to be "NO!"

In March—prior to any discussion with CORE—Bank of America made a declaration of policy on the subject of the demonstrations in San Francisco.

That declaration of policy was five-fold:

1. We acknowledged the pressing social need of creating equal opportunity and we further acknowledged that the bank had a civic responsibility to do all it could to solve this problem.

2. We recognized that there is legitimate reason for the public to be informed as to the bank's progress in discharging this civic responsibility.

3. We declared our willingness to meet with any group, public or private, and to entertain any suggestions they had which would further our attempts to solve this pressing social problem.

4. We said that we would not sign agreements with any nongovernment agency.

5. We said that we would not provide detailed statistical data to any nongovernment agency.

This was our policy in March; it is our policy today; it will continue to be our policy in the future.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — While President Lyndon B. Johnson is fretting about the pockets of poverty, Marianne Strong is troubled about the pockets of the wealthy.

In her business as a society publicist, she foresaw the rich as converging to this vast city to see the World's Fair with nothing in their pockets but checkbooks, credit cards and wads of money—actually not a single key to the "in" spots. Her heart went out to them.

At this rate, she felt, they were sure to have an utterly miserable time grubbing for fun among the "Out" people without a single invitation to a charity ball, a penthouse party, or nary a key to an intimate bistro, and with only public golf courses to play on, and the grandstands to sit in at the race tracks, and all that.

MERELY HAVING all the happiness that money can buy isn't very much, points out Marianne sadly, if you don't know where to spend it. And so this blonde, tanned former society columnist who has in recent years been devoting her abundance of energy to maneuvering ambitious mothers and daughters up the social ladder, decided to do something practical about the dilemma.

Her solution is a unique entre service. For $30 a day per couple her staff has arranged to open the locked doors to the inner circles.

The fee covers advice, and for making the right connections, scheduling interesting activities, arranging for sitters, dog-walkers and temporary secretaries. The actual cost of these, of course, must be borne by the wealthy man and wife eager to be in the swing of things.

THE LONELY WIDOW or widower need not hesitate to storm the Bastille of New York's jet set either, for the lack of escorts will not be a handicap.

In her service are guides at $8 an hour carefully selected according to background and knowledge of the city.

"If the widow wants to dance, I'm sure the guide will dance with her," explains another staff member, Judy Hinckley. "But we're definitely not running a dating service. We make no attempt at all to match up these guides by ages or interests."

Might the guide be embarrassed while the lady takes care of the bistro bill? Miss Hinckley believes not. "We've become a lot more sophisticated about that now that women have more independence, don't you think?"

INVITATIONS HAVE gone across the country to 5,000 persons on select lists. "To people we know can afford this sort of thing," adds Maloney.

Did you get yours?

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Parties To Precede Luau Of Loch Lomond's Guild

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The luau, which will be given by Loch Lomond's Sunny Hills Guild at Peacock Gap Country Club Saturday night, will be preceded by many cocktail parties. With the exception of one to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stevens of San Rafael, all will be in Loch Lomond. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have invited Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Martinelli and the Robert Greenes. Mrs. Allan Feder, president of the guild, and her husband will entertain Messrs. and Mesdames Stephen Schnieder, Conrad Abbett, William Donohoe, Arthur Falk, Thomas Fraser, James Fahrner, Richard Godwin, Edward Hageman, Bayard Herrick, Clyde Jones, Donald McCaw, William McClure, Fred Robbins, Mrs. Nadine Purdy and Harry Merlo.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scatena will be host and hostess to Senator John (Jack) McCarthy and his wife, Messrs. and Mesdames William Simmons, Rolfe Croker, Eugene Sweeney, David Coleman, Ernest Haenggi and Jack Mahar.

Mrs. Kenneth Zeigler, publicity chairman of the guild, and her husband have invited to their party Messrs. and Mesdames James Kretchmer, Le Roy Rice, Donald Thompson, George Coburn, Christian Vigneaud, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Dr. Frederick Foster. The Zeiglers have returned from a wonderful vacation in Hawaii. They flew over to Honolulu and back from there. They stayed at the White Sands of Waikiki Beach, flew to Kauai and headquartered at Coco Palms for a while then went to Hanalei Plantation House on Kauai, the green island, before flying back to Honolulu.

THE NEW HOME of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Potter in Mill Valley will be the setting for the "year-end" cocktail party to be given for members of the Family Service League of Marin and their husbands tomorrow night. The party will provide an opportunity for many couples to meet.

Thomas and Charlene Dorst of Tiburon will have many stories to tell of their recent trip to Europe. Charlene is outgoing president of the Family Service League. Ann and Al Siedel of Ross, who are coming to the party, are looking forward to a trip East. They are taking their family to the World Fair in New York and will then visit Ann's parents in Nyack, N. Y.

REX MORENA was host at a buffet supper at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gino Morena of Kentfield, following the senior ball of Redwood High School. Rex entertained 175 members of the graduating class.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD LOWRY have returned to their home in Tiburon from a trip along the California Coast. They stopped several days in Carmel and other picturesque places.

MR. AND MRS. C. E. McGRAW of the Belvedere Lagoon recently returned from South America. They went to Lima and from there to Cajamarca also in Peru, where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Cadwell, then went on to Bogota, capital of Colombia. The McGraws concluded their trip with stays in Panama and Miami Beach, Florida.

MARIANA STEEVENS

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Steevens of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mariana Edith, to John Elton Moats of Novato.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School and is attending Weaver Airline School.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moats of Novato, was graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed with the Diamond National Corp.

The wedding is scheduled for Sept. 5.

ON EASTERN TOUR

TORONTO (AP) — Beware the jewelry bargain. Things are not always what they seem in the world of gems.

SOMETIMES OUTRIGHT fakes are sold as real gems. Diamonds, emeralds and other stones can be artificially manufactured. Cultured pearls can be made to look better than they are. And real gems can be doctored to increase their apparent value in ways which get past the people who buy and sell them.

Doublets are imitations which are not wholly imitations," Mr. Fraleigh says.

They are a combination—one part real, the other phony — cemented together to look like a single stone. The upper half, known as the crown, is real stone and the lower part, the base, is usually a paste of similar or darker color.

"This way the color of the doublet is deepened, the total weight is increased and the upper part most exposed in wear is had because it is the natural stone. When mounted in jewelry the joining line of the two sections is hidden and is therefore far from obvious."

MR. FRALEIGH SAYS shoppers on vacation trips are particularly prone to getting stung picking up gems as local bargains.

"I would advise anyone who is not familiar with gem stones to deal only in reliable establishments and, if they suspect any problems as to value, to have them checked by a gemmologist."

WHEN YOU DO BUY, he says, choose deeply colored stones, free from obvious internal flaws. If you are buying a diamond, look for a good cut and a clear, white stone.

Any jewelry valuable enough to be insured should be reappraised and reinsured every five or 10 years, Mr. Fraleigh says.

"The value of precious stones has almost doubled in 10 years," he adds.

Mr. Fraleigh said people do find unexpected treasure at home sometimes, perhaps in grandmother's jewel case.

"I have looked through many boxes of so-called junk and found gold of antique value and gem stones of rare vintage. You never know what you are going to find."

HIS MOST STARTLING find was a ruby worth $4,000, but that was an exception. In most cases old pieces turned up are worth $20 to $40.

Miss McMillen To Be Bride

The engagement of Cynthia B. McMillen to Michael B. Bresnan has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMillen of Anderson.

The bride-elect is the sister of Dennis and Billie McMillen. She is an Anderson Union High School graduate and a sophomore at Fresno State College.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Bresnan of Fairfax. He is the brother of Mrs. Al Dalecio of Novato and Larry, Ray and Kathy Bresnan of Fairfax. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Piombo of Fairfax are his grandparents. He is a Sir Francis Drake High School graduate and attends Fresno State College.

An Aug. 22 wedding in Anderson has been set.

Hosts At Party In San Rafael

Hosts at their annual neighborhood dinner on Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schieckele of San Rafael, who entertained at a Hawaiian patio buffet party at their home.

Among the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Malcolm Lowman, Clarence Bockrath, James McClees and John Chambers and Mrs. Jessie Bernstein, sister of the hostess, with Mrs. Dorothy Revel, both of San Rafael.

Helene Reed Mills Recites Vows In Hong Kong Ceremony

Living in Mill Valley are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Duane Wardman, who were married in Victoria, Hong Kong, on May 19.

The bride is the former Helene Reed Mills, daughter of Mrs. George E. Purser of Mill Valley and the late Roy Stapleton Mills.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clyde Martin Wardman of Long Beach and the late Mr. Wardman.

The new Mrs. Wardman is a graduate of Marymount High School in Los Angeles, and before her marriage she was employed as a secretary with the Fairchild Semiconductor division in Terra Linda of the Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp.

The bride is the great great granddaughter of John Reed the first English speaking man in Marin County and builder of the old mill still standing in Mill Valley, for which the town was named.

The Wardmans were married in Hong Kong because Mr. Wardman was working in the Hong Kong division of the Fairchild Camera and Instrument Corp. He is now employed as an engineer in the Terra Linda division.

He is a graduate of Long Beach State College. His two brothers are Marin and Charles Wardman of Long Beach.

Mrs. Hoy Installed By San Rafael Club

MRS. MARVIN HOY

Mrs. Marvin Hoy was installed president of San Rafael Improvement Club at the club's annual breakfast at the clubhouse in San Rafael yesterday. Mrs. Hoy and her staff were installed by Mrs. Arthur Luchetti, first vice president of Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs.

On Mrs. Hoy's staff are Mesdames Charles Tacchi, first vice president; E. H. Neuschwander, second vice president; Walten H. Rains, corresponding and recording secretary; Raymond DuYore, financial secretary; Carroll Thomas, treasurer and Eldred B. Hillis, parliamentarian. Honorary presidents are Mesdames George B. Waterman, Louis L. Walsh and Charles Howell.

On the board of directors are Mesdames Louis Yuvan, N. K. Reinhard, Harold Elliott, Norris Rawles, Robert E. Munter, Sanford McLaughlin, Cletus Fitzharris and Americo Oberto.

Mrs. Hoy, whose maiden name was Marion Whitsett, was born in Seattle, Wash. and attended Seattle schools and the University of Washington. When her family moved to San Francisco, Marion majored in business administration. Her mother, Mrs. James Walsh lives in San Rafael.

Marvin Hoy, son of Mrs. Herman Hoy of San Rafael, was born and reared in Marin's county seat. During World War II he served in the Navy. The Hoys have a daughter, Mrs. Steve Golsch, who lives in Fair Oaks, and a son, Clifford Hoy, who is in the Air Force and stationed in Fort Worth.

Marion has served the club as tea chairman, program chairman and second and first vice presidents.

In the installation ceremony, Mrs. Luchetti likened the club to an automobile, with the president in the driver's seat, and the membership providing the power. She presented the gavel to Mrs. Hoy.

In her report Mrs. Swart told of the various projects the club has carried out during her year. These ranged from campership for needy children to assistance to senior citizens.

HELEN MENDEZ

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Mendez of Mill Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to David Lawrence Regal of Daly City.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Mrs. Lewis F. Smith of Oakland and Frank J. Mendez of Corte Madera, was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended College of Marin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Regal of Daly City are parents of the future bridegroom, who is the brother of Chuck, Maryanne, Roseanne and Annemarie Regal, all of Daly City.

David was graduated from Westmoor High School and is now a senior at San Francisco State College. He is employed as recreation director with the Daly City Recreation Department.

The couple plans a July 11 wedding at Mission San Rafael Arcangel, and will live in San Francisco.

Christian Youth Exchange Student Will Be Honored

JENNIFER BUCKLEY

Jennifer Buckley, who will be leaving on June 20 for the Netherlands, will be honored at a reception Sunday hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson at their home in Mill Valley.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Buckley of Mill Valley, Jennifer is going to live for a year in the Netherlands as an exchange student under the International Christian Youth Exchange program.

The reception will follow the 2 to 6 p.m. recital of John Ludlow's students Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Her sister Gerry will also perform.

Guests invited to the reception in addition to the Buckleys are Messrs. and Mesdames Roland Kelly, Robert Fuller, John Shortridge, Otto Weissich, all of Mill Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gabbert of San Mateo; Mesdames F. J. Connelly, De Witt Clark and H. C. Kellers of Mill Valley and Mrs. Van Perry of Berkeley.

Jennifer was chosen for the youth exchange program by the Mill Valley Community Church's World Service Committee, Marin's first participant in the program.

It is an exchange student program somewhat comparable to the American Field Service and Experiment in International Living. The principal difference is that the ICYE is sponsored by the National Council of Churches and involves church as well as school.

Jennifer will leave for New York with Mrs. Arthur Bickford of Mill Valley, her children and possibly one or two other International Christian Youth Exchangees in a small bus. The Bickfords are going there to join Doctor Bickford's family.

After a few days' indoctrination at Columbia University with 95 other American students, the students will fly to Amsterdam on a chartered plane. There they will undergo further preparation before leaving to live the next 12 months with 95 families all the way from Greenland to Japan.

Week-Long Sale To Benefit Church For San Geronimo

A week-long rummage sale will begin Monday at Roma's Market in Forest Knolls as a benefit for the San Geronimo Valley Church, for which the local social hall is being converted. The church is now located in a building formerly the San Geronimo railroad station.

Another fund-raising project will be a chicken barbecue on Saturday afternoon and evening at the Woodacre Improvement Club, when two showings of the Disney film, "The Living Desert" are scheduled. Mrs. Charles Orr is ticket chairman for the event.

Mrs. Julian Jarrett is rummage collection chairman for the week-long sale.

Couple To Fete 50th Wedding Anniversary

A pair of transplanted Texans who called California home 40 years ago will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in San Rafael on June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest C. Rockwell of 804 A Street, will be honored at a party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Letha Semorile of 11 Constance Drive, San Rafael.

Among the guests will be their three sons, Bud R. Rockwell of 73 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, George Rockwell of Gilroy, and Nelson Rockwell of Pacific Grove.

Rockwell, who is 78, was a carpenter for nearly 40 years, having retired in 1962. He was born in Marshall, Mo., but his family took him to Amarillo, Tex., when he was five years old.

Mrs. Rockwell was born, reared and married on a farm near Dublin, Tex. She taught grammar school for four years before they were wed, then was a substitute teacher for another year until she retired to become a full time wife and mother.

Like many Texans, the couple journeyed to California in the mid-20s. They settled in Yreka, Siskiyou County, in 1924, and stayed there until 1935, when they moved to Red Bluff, Tehama County.

They came to San Rafael in 1941.

For Mrs. Rockwell, the party will be a double celebration. The anniversary will fall on her 77th birthday.

Sausalito Summer Rec Program Starts June 29

Sausalito's first summer recreation program in about 10 years will be held June 29 to Aug. 7 for Sausalito children at Central School and will include kindergarten through eighth grade.

Permission slips to take part in the program have been sent home with Sausalito school children. Children not attending Sausalito schools who wish to take part may get slips at the city hall.

The Sausalito Recreation Commission, according to commissioner James E. Muldoon, has advised that the program is "not a baby sitting service" but a chance for children to learn basic skills in outdoor sports and take part in a craft program. There will be a charge for materials.

Mrs. Joan O'Connor will head the craft program and R. G. Harvey, the outdoor program. Part-time volunteers are needed to help directors, Muldoon said.

Volunteer Firemen Create Real Mess

MIAMI (AP) — Twenty well-meaning firefighters caused more damage than the hotel fire they attempted to battle, the Miami Fire Department said.

Hotel guests grabbed a fire hose, but ran out of hose 40 feet from the fire, so they decided to give the area a good soaking, "for good measure."

Britons Building New Ocean Liner

LONDON (AP)—The proposed new 58,000 ton Cunard liner, so far called the Q-4, will be a three-class ship.

The successor to the Queen Mary will have first, cabin and tourist classes. It also will have three restaurants located above the main passenger deck.

The Q-4 is expected to cost about 22 million pounds ($61,000,000).

Mariner Cove Asks Flood Danger Study

Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. has asked the Town of Corte Madera to examine, survey and improve waterways in Mariner Cove.

Herber C. Leney, chairman of the association board, said present conditions could create a serious flood control problem for residents.

In a letter to the town council yesterday, the association asked allocation of funds for the waterways in the 1964-65 budget for flood control, navigation and sanitation.

"Inspection will show that alluvion deposits have been filling in the canals for several years. At present there is very little depth in any of the waterways," the association wrote.

The 365 new units being completed in the Mariner Cove area will cause more surface water drainage and fill to be emptied into the canals, he pointed out.

The Association will meet next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Zed Harris, 5 Cay Passage, to discuss the matter.

Old-Time Clocks Attract Droves To Gas Station

Sposato has been collecting clocks since 1939. The timepieces at the filling stations have been given him by customers who "clean their attics," Sposato said.

He has a grandfather clock he estimates was made about 1760 and what he believes may be the first battery-run clock made in this country. The clock can run a year on three cell batteries.

He operates the Aztec Barber Shop and has been in the same location on Main Street for the entire 54 years.

The Aztec Barber Shop is the third oldest business in Aztec. Oldest is the Aztec Independent-Review which has operated 76 years. The 60-year-old Citizens Bank is the second oldest.

Current says he has done barber work for as many as five generations of some local families.

WEST MARIN PLAN

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK
(Last of four articles)

The last part of the preliminary West Marin master plan gives special treatment to two major features of West Marin, one of which does not now and may never exist. These are Tomales Bay and Walker Lake.

Tomales Bay, about which much of the development of the area will be focused, must be made more available to the public, argue the planners, former County Planning Director Mary Summers, Harold A. Summers, and Dan Coleman Associates.

At least 50 per cent of the shoreline should be reserved for public use, although some houses and commercial development would also be allowed.

The bay faces two major problems, according to the report. One is silting, which threatens present oyster farms and which could fill up the bay.

Check dams on streams and damming Walker Creek would help. Prevention of extensive grading on the hillsides which drain into the bay, and low density development, may be more important, the planners say.

The other problem is the shoal at the mouth of the bay. The shoal helps create deadly "sneaker waves" which can capsize boats caught in the wrong place at the wrong time. The Army Corps of Engineers should be asked to make a study on the feasibility of removing the shoal, the plan recommends.

A major project for the bay would be a "water park" at the south end, which is now largely marshlands. Channels would be dredged out for use by pleasure craft, and the spoils would be used to create many islands for picnics and other recreational activity.

Walker Lake is a project on Walker Creek, west of Tomales, which has been discussed from time to time for years. Marin Municipal Water District once made a study of the area and decided that damming Walker Creek would not be worth the cost.

The plan agrees that the dam would not pay for itself in production of domestic water. But as a recreational facility, there is a different story, the consultants say.

Called for is a 175-foot high structure to cost about 3.2 million dollars. The planners say the lake would attract a million visitors a year. Swimming, water skiing, boating and fishing would be allowed.

No water contact sports are allowed on any of the county's present reservoirs, on the grounds that there is a desire to keep drinking water pure. The planners note that Lake Berryessa, Clear Lake and Lake Tahoe all provide drinking water. So could Walker Lake, they contend. Also, as a recreational, flood control and soil conservation feature, federal and state help on development could be obtained.

Finally, the planners deal with the problem of putting the entire West Marin master plan into effect.

Attention is given to open space. The consultants say open space should be purchased now, or scenic easements and development rights should be secured. Rights of way for the proposed parkways should be secured early, because they will cost much more later, they contend.

Greenbelting should be encouraged in residential areas, and cluster housing should be used where possible to maintain open space. Deed restrictions in subdivisions should be required to maintain landscaping and trees.

All such developments, including the early purchase of school sites, will cost money, the planners acknowledge, but there is no detailed estimate of how much would be needed, or even of how many acres might be required.

Local groups are urged to get together to plan the economic aspects for securing open areas, and to devise programs for financing major land purchases.

The planners say that for organized local action, several ways of organizing might be checked into. Among the first mentioned is incorporation as a city.

Special districts are also considered, but most careful consideration is given to the community services district, on the grounds that it can accomplish many things a city can do, but need not be automatically responsible for all the things a city must do.

A county service area is also mentioned, although it is noted that in this case some local control must be lost to the county board of supervisors.

Wrecking Crew At Wrong Address

DENVER (UPI) — Mrs. Mary Costello of Denver was more than mildly shocked yesterday when she went to put the car in the garage. Most of it wasn't there—the garage, that is.

Completes Training

Marine Pvt. Noel R. Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Roach of 1901 Indian Valley Road, Novato, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at the Second Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton.

Historic Canoes Encounter Change

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI) — The canoe has come a long way since Indians built them from birchbark and rawhide in the early days of North America.

Latest models, built at a plant near Lake Texoma, can be propelled by outboard motors and sails as well as by paddles.

Bob Drolet, manager of the Grumman Alied Industries plant, said the small craft are found over most of the United States and are becoming more popular in the Southwest. His Texas firm will make 1,400 canoes and boats this year.

His Ring Goes Down The Drain

During spring housecleaning his wife was cleaning out the sink trap when the wooden stick she was probing with struck something hard. She carefully raised it and after a good cleaning it appears as bright as new.

History Of Marin City To Be Presented

The Marin County Historical Society will present a program on the story of Marin City from the original grant of Rancho Saucelito to Capt. Willian Antonio Richardson in 1830 to the present day, at a meeting of the Marin City branch of the society at 2 p.m. June 21, in the gymnaisum, Marin City.

Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park and Mrs. Marmion Marvin, both of Mill Valley, will present information on the first 100 years of the history of the area. John Thomson, chairman of the society's Marin City committee, will present the building years, 1941-42. Daniel Allen of Larkspur will give the story of the war years. Pictures and memorabilia will be displayed and refreshments served.

There will be music by the choir of St. Andrew Presbyterian Church under direction of Beverly Barnes, with George Duke playing the organ.

Penders' Son To Be Graduated From USF

Thomas D. Penders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Penders of 93 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, will be graduated from University of San Francisco Sunday with a bachelor of science degree.

Penders has been selected as a candidate for officers training with the navy and is to report to Newport, R.I., in August.

Group Therapy For Speech Problems Being Offered

Group therapy for high school students who stutter will be a highlight of a six-week speech program to be offered by the Marin Society for Crippled Children and Adults starting June 22.

The program will offer aid to children and adults with various speech problems, according to the society's speech therapy chairman, Mrs. James Barry, but will include six weekly therapy sessions for stutterers.

Conducted by Dr. Arden Monson, the therapy will be similar to that offered for the first time at last year's annual clinic.

Director of the program, which will be conducted at the society's speech center at 629 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, is Mrs. Helen Daggett. Speech evaluation and therapy will be provided by Mrs. Wilda Flower, Dean Polton and Dr. Monson.

Registration, which closes next Thursday, may be made at the society office.

Dixie To Set Teachers' Pay

Trustees of the Dixie School district will meet at 8 p.m. today to set salaries, and to consider a proposal to spend $3 a pupil more next year for materials and supplies. The meeting will be in the district offices at 35 Trellis Drive, San Rafael.

Whether annual additional pay for teaching vice principals should be raised from $400 to $500 will be brought up, and the music director and vice principals will be named.

The need for more administrative staff at the schools and more time for the library clerk will be taken up, along with a proposed sabbatical leave policy, said Supt. Dennie B. Willis.

Three-R School Grad Reported

The name of George Peeples, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Peeples of San Rafael, was inadvertently omitted from a list of high school graduates of the Three-R School in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

Peeples will be graduated with his classmates in ceremonies at the school, 3833 Redwood Highway, at 11 a.m. Friday.

Ross Man Gets Video Award

He was Caryl Coleman, of 73 Wellington Avenue, director of public affairs for San Francisco television station KPIX. On behalf of station manager Louis S. Simon, Coleman received an "Ohio State award" for the station's program on "The Case for the Limited Child," a documentary on education of retarded children in Hayward.

The award was sponsored by Ohio State University's Institute for Education by Radio-Television.

Students Aiding Negroes In South

College of Marin students have collected more than 800 books and about 50 pounds of clothing in a month-long drive to help Negro families in Mississippi.

The drive was part of a Bay Area-wide effort sponsored by the student non-violent coordinating committee, said Fred B. Winn, coordinator of the college drive.

The books and clothing will be shipped to Jackson, Miss., for distribution to Negroes in that state.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Harry Russell Has Earned Educator's Highest Honor

How can Tamalpais High School District ever be the same without Harry Russell, veteran of 40 years service here?

"Quiet, unassuming" are words usually applied to gentle souls like Harry Russell. Trouble is, these words don't carry any implication of the force which he could bring to bear in a situation in spite of his gentle manner.

Contradictory as it sounds, you have to say Harry Russell was quiet and unassuming but nonetheless forceful.

(And let's not talk about him in the past tense; he still has a lot of "mileage" left. He is merely retiring from Tam; not departing this earth.)

As teacher, attendance officer, counselor, dean of boys, and principal he somehow inspired his young charges to want "to make something of themselves."

For 40 years Tamalpais High School students have had a sympathetic ear they could always take their problems to. Harry Russell's office door was always open to students. And his automobile door was always open to those in need of a "lift," too.

Just about the highest compliment that can be paid to an educator after 40 years of service is this, that he inspired his students.

Harry Russell is far too youthful to retire from active living and we rather imagine that he always will be too youthful for that.

We know that his personal following of "alumni" along with those of us who have observed his service over the years join in wishing him all the very best in whatever direction he chooses to channel his energies after his "retirement."

Wind And The Nerves

This has been an unusually windy year in Marin and some people who are extra sensitive to weather conditions are a trifle edgy.

Scientific studies have revealed the fact that school children are restless and do not study as well on windy days as on calm ones. Some people have a phobia about the wind and on windy days they go to pieces.

Wind bothers the gardener because it dries out the soil. It makes fire danger greater, too.

Its redeeming feature is that it cools the coastal counties in summer when the rest of the country swelters. As far as we're concerned, it's well worth it.

NOW LONG BUT LIMITED

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

(Last article in a four-part series reviewing the long 1964 legislative session.)

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Are annual sessions of the legislature the answer to keeping up with the 3.5-billion-dollar-a-year operation of California state government?

The first answer to that question might be another question: If the recently-ended 92-day session of the legislature was not an annual session, what was it?

THE TRUTH, of course, is that the 1964 sessions — all three of them — dragged on for three months, but they were limited. First off, there was the constitutional 30-day budget session, which lately has not been producing any budgets. Then there was the first extraordinary, or special, session and the second extraordinary session, which was called for consideration of a budget.

No subject may be considered at special session unless the governor issues a proclamation and includes that subject on the agenda. This originally was intended only for emergency situations. Recently, subjects have been included at the special session because there appeared to be the chance to settle them.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and most members of the legislature agree that the present setup is not the best.

1. The governor has complete control over what is to be considered by the lawmakers in a special session. However, once a subject is opened, it is wide open and any parts of it may be considered.

2. In even-numbered years, there is always a primary election coming up on the first Tuesday in June. This wasn't much of a deterrent this year. All the assemblymen and half of the senators must seek re-election each two years. Every four years, the governor and other constitutional officers are up for re-election.

3. There is no hard and fast deadline for ending a special session. In the regular, odd-year sessions, there is a constitutionally mandatory adjournment time. If opposing sides want to wait each other out they can, but one side has to give before deadline or the bill is lost.

THERE ARE SOME built-in drawbacks to annual, regular sessions:

1. First is the fact that California traditionally has had a part-time legislature. This means that the legislators are business or professional people. They operate their business but have the situation where they can be absent for several months.

Annual sessions would mean legislators would have to devote full time to the work. This would mean the lawmakers would lose touch with the necessity of making livings in the business community.

2. Most legislators agree that any proposal for regular sessions of the legislature would have to be tied in with a salary increase. Lawmakers now receive $6,000 a year in salary. They draw $20 per day while in session plus money for per diems while attending committee meetings.

The legislators have $1,250 per month for operation of a district office, and this includes an allowance for a car. Most agree that, if they were to devote full time to the job, they'd need more money.

3. No matter how long a session, most important bills are approved in the final hours, when a deadline approaches. If the legislature had a strict requirement that it adjourn in 30 days, most of the big bills would stand or fall in the last few days. If the limit is six months, most of the big issues would be saved to be settled in the last few days just the same.

Retired Folks Need Trailer Parks Here

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In your issue of May 27, you are bewailing the fact in your editorial that the Planners erred turning down Retirement Plan. . . .

Marin County has lost a lot of retired persons to Carmel Valley, Vacaville and elsewhere and will continue to do just that in the future if the Supervisors do not wake up to the fact that elderly persons are an asset to any community.

I am 79 years of age and am semi-retired; however, I do not think of myself as a senior citizen who should depend on my community to help to support me.

If the Board of Supervisors would ever get off their high horse and would permit a Mobile Home Park to be built in this county, then this county would not lose anyone. The retired persons living in such a park would be an asset to this county, and the park would be a showplace. . . .

Stunned Over Bunker Reply

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding my letter to the editor, which you printed May 30, and Mr. Bunker's reply that he had one meeting with me and I refused his terms for a second meeting, to say the least, I was stunned when I read the editor's note as a reply to my letter.

I realize a lot of parents probably complain to the superintendent of schools, Mr. Bunker. He apparently has me confused with some one else. I was denied an audience with Mr. Bunker regarding the incident in question, and further have never spoken to the gentleman over the telephone. All data was relayed to both parties (Mr. Bunker and myself) via his secretary.

I certainly never refused to see Mr. Bunker no matter who was present!

Mr. Bunker's secretary said as far as Mr. Bunker was concerned the matter was closed. I again asked for an audience, at which time the secretary repeated her former statement. I asked if he refused to see me and she said the matter was closed as far as Mr. Bunker was concerned.

I am sure Mr. Bunker could not pick me out of a group of ladies, nor could I pick him out, I don't even know what he looks like.

Fluoride Research Claimed Suppressed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Amidst all the furor regarding artificial fluoridation, perhaps the following emerges as the most shocking proof that promoters of the plan simply are uninformed or not to be trusted.

Studies conducted in 1956 and again in 1959, by the University of Wisconsin, under the direction of Dr. Ionel Rapaport have established indisputably that there is twice as much Mongolian idocy where there is fluorine in the drinking water.

. . . We leave it to readers to decide—if decency and a true concern for the health and welfare of its citizens had prevailed on the part of our Public Health Service and the dental and medical associations, would not the Rapaport findings have been news-flashed throughout the nation?

At last, word is spreading that other scientists in addition to Dr. Rapaport have learning that, when results of dedicated and genuine research turn out to be a serious threat to fluoridation promotion, the fluoride curtain descends on the double! Isn't there something terribly suspect about a supposed health measure which requires these methods to promote it?

Freeway Deplored As Unbeautiful

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to pass on a comment of mine after spending a week with friends in Marin County.

I believe the freeway (101) through your county is the shabbiest, grubbiest, most littered, most unbeautiful and certainly the most unlandscaped I have encountered in the state of California.

You people should come to the Los Angeles area and see what your highway department does in the way of trying to beautify and landscape the freeways, or see some of the parkways in New York state. You then would be dissatisfied with your bare dirt and weed- and trash-strewn Marin County freeway.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

PAT O'BRIEN tells of an old ham actor who was happy to secure a bit part in a new Broadway play, laid in an East Side saloon. He was to portray a customer in act one, and again in act three.

On the opening night, the director grabbed him when he made his exit in the first act and roared, "You dummy! You left your hat on the bar and the whole audience noticed it." The contrite actor made sure to retrieve the hat when he appeared in act three. When he placed it on his head, the audience surprised him by bursting into laughter and applause. "What did I do now?" asked the actor when he escaped to the wings. "Idiot!" bellowed the director. "This last scene is supposed to be 15 years later!"

FOUR GHOSTS were engaged in a hotly-contested bridge game when a fifth ghost opened the door to enter, loosing a gust of wind that blew all the cards off the table. "Confound it, Archie," grumbled one of the card-playing ghosts. "Don't you know what a keyhole is for?"

THE FATHER OF a teenage daughter found her red-haired boy friend with a coke in one hand and a huge slab of apple pie in the other. "I'm mighty glad to meet you, Clifton," declared the father. "I've noticed you in our budget for some time."

Visit From Israeli Prime Minister Is Unique Event; Has Arabs Angry

WASHINGTON—The United States is host this week to an important head of government who isn't asking for anything, doesn't want anything, and against whom we have been undiplomatically warned.

This should make for interesting conversation when the new prime minister of Israel, Levi Eshkol, sits down in the White House to talk with President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It will be a unique, a valuable, and, to some, an unwelcome event.

THIS IS A UNIQUE event because, strange as it is, this is the first time that an Israeli prime minister has been officially invited by the president to visit the United States. David Ben-Gurion, during the 15 years he was prime minister, came to the U. S. numerous times — but never at the formal invitation of the government. He conferred with U. S. presidents, but never officially and never in Washington. They would meet unofficially — and almost surreptitiously—usually in a New York hotel.

President Johnson, a very direct individual, changed this way of dealing with the Israeli prime minister when he gave a personal letter to Sargent Shriver to present to Eshkol several months ago.

I SAID THAT to some Eshkol's presence in Washington is unwelcome—unwelcome to the Arab nations.

The Arab governments disliked the Eshkol visit so much that they went to the extreme and inappropriate length of directing their 12 ambassadors to wait on Secretary of State Dean Rusk en masse.

I doubt that Rusk had any difficulty with this odd overture. He undoubtedly thanked his visitors for their courtesy and their counsel and made it clear that, while the U. S. esteems its friends, it cannot allow its friends to determine whom its other friends shall be.

THERE IS NO doubt that President Johnson's actions were deliberate, not to be provocative to Arab sensitivities, but to make it authoritatively clear that he stands undeviatingly behind the policy statement which President John F. Kennedy made on May 8, 1963, when he said that, "if aggression occurred (in the Middle East), the United States would take action through the United Nations and on its own."

Apart from general Arab antipathy to Israel, the threat of military action against Israel has been specifically and, in recent weeks, repeatedly made by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

"Israel will not be able to escape this fate."

Premier Eshkol is not asking for U. S. arms to offset the sale of Soviet weapons to the UAR, but he is hopeful that President Johnson will sense from their first-hand talks what it means to live under the gun.

SHADOWS ON BAMBOO CURTAIN

Red 'Eagle Scout' Is Hero In China

By G. A. BARKER

AN ORDINARY soldier, Lei Feng, who died in a truck accident in August, 1962, at the age of 22, has been singled out by the Chinese Communists as "a model of the new socialist man."

Peking beats the propaganda drums, pastes his portrait on walls, and publishes his story and his diary. A Chinese publication says in China today he has become the subject of exhibitions, films and articles; that the youth of the nation are trying to "be like Lei Feng; that children pledge to follow his example and older people, too, are inspired by his selfless determination to build socialism."

He was frugal, clean-living and dedicated to the motherland. He strikes a Western reader as sort of a super Boy Scout, naive, half-educated, but quite hep on Communist dogma. He was something of an idealist.

WHAT WAS HE? Just a plain soldier who became a squad leader in the Red Army. As Voltaire said of God, if Lei Feng did not exist, the Chinese Communists would have had to invent him.

When Lei Feng was only four his father died, "broken by the heavy loads he had been forced to carry as a labourer for the Kuomintang army and the Japanese invader, and by the beatings he received at their hands. Lei Feng's 12-year-old brother then went to work in a factory to support the family—his mother, younger brothers and himself. They lived on the verge of starvation, and the breadwinner, the eldest boy, soon contracted tuberculosis and died. Following quickly on this tragedy, the youngest child died of malnutrition and the mother became a servant in the house of a landlord named Tan. Raped by the landlord's son, she hanged herself one night in the summer of 1947. Before her suicide, she said bitterly to her only remaining son, 'May Heaven protect you so that when you grow up you can avenge our family.'"

Kuomintang and Japanese cruelty, starvation, disease, wicked landlords, the lecherous son, the melodramatic plea of the suicide - bound mother — all this makes a classic propaganda picture. And in China today literature and all other media of communications are the handmaidens of the party, and Mao is a jealous keeper of this harem of handmaidens.

AFTER MORE cruelty at the hands of a landlord's wife and two more years of the bad old days, the People's Liberation (Red) Army entered Lei Feng's village in Hunan. Almost immediately things changed for the boy. The local Communist authorities cared for him and sent him to school for six years, then he joined the Young Pioneers and in 1956 was given a job as a messenger in the county office of the Communist Party. Then he joined in voluntary labor on a water conservation project and a few months later he became a tractor driver on a collective farm. In 1958 he went to Anshan to work in the big iron and steel complex.

About this time he commenced to keep a diary which is well larded with Communist homilies. For example: "Each tall building is made from single bricks and stones. Why should anyone refuse to be such a brick or stone?"

Although he was underweight and not tall enough, he talked his way into the army. He won several citations and medals and quickly rose to squad leader, but it was his good-deed-a-day philosophy combined with his parroting of Maoism.

He helped old ladies, gave away his meager funds, and on days off he helped his comrades wash and mend their clothes. He might have made Eagle Scout, had he had the good fortune to be born an American.

First Aid Course Comes In Handy —But Not With Ailing Jaybird

I did my best, but I'm not too sure it was the right thing. It's a case where a little knowledge might have been too much.

The jay was grounded in a nearby driveway, fluttering feebly when I found it. It looked like shock. Close examination showed that the left leg was useless from the hip on down. It wobbled loosely.

NOW MY WIFE and I just completed a Red Cross first aid course under the auspices of the Inverness Volunteer Fire Department. Instructor J. M. Van Soest, a county fireman himself, told us a good deal about shock and fractures and how to treat them.

He did a fine job. We all passed the course. The trouble was, everything he told us was about people. Nothing at all about birds.

One of the first things you are supposed to do after an accident is find out exactly what happened. This helps determine the extent of injury.

With a Steller jay, this was difficult. There were no witnesses around, and the bird wasn't talking.

WITH SHOCK, you keep the patient lying down and make sure he is comfortable. The bird would not buy that at all. He crawled under some ivy with the hope, evidently, that I would go away.

In such cases with humans, the first-aider is supposed to tell the victim who he is and that he has completed Red Cross training. I suppose I could have told the jay I was number 12 on a roster of 13 in the Inverness Volunteer Fire Department. But somehow, he did not look like an impressionable bird.

The first aid treatment for fractures is to keep the limb quiet, avoiding any further damage and pain that comes if the bone ends are allowed to move around and grate on each other.

This calls for traction and a splint. Instructor Van Soest said one of the best things to use for splints is cardboard, the kind used in cartons. This is folded around the limb and bandaged tightly to give support. The splint should extend beyond the joints above and below the break.

IT WAS PRETTY hard to tell where the jay had suffered the worst damage. It called for a splint on the entire leg, from the hip to the claws.

Working in miniature with heavy cardboard is not easy, especially when the victim keeps flapping his wings and trying to peck you. It took several tries.

Finally the splint was placed, two pieces of cardboard cut at an angle to conform with the bend in the knee. Rubber bands served well to hold the two pieces firmly on either side of the limb.

Then, as a treatment for shock, the bird was placed in a box with water, some bird seed and a few pieces of yellow cheese. The box was placed in a quiet corner.

"We've done all we can," my wife said.

From what I can remember of the first aid course, I think she was probably right.

I hope so. The following morning we found the bird dead.

German Knew Of Soviets' Bugs

MAINZ, Germany (UPI)—Hans Kroll, former West German ambassador to Moscow, said yesterday he had installed a "bug-proof" sound booth in his former embassy and held confidential talks there with American and British colleagues.

"I even dictated my classified letters and telegrams in the booth, which was shipped from Germany," he said.

Last month the U.S. State Department announced the discovery of scores of eavesdropping microphones built into the walls of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow by Soviet agents.

Commission To Meet On Marin City Problem

The Marin County Human Rights Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center to discuss problems of police protection and recent violence in Marin City. The group is expected to set up a task force to look into the problem.

The county board of supervisors, after approving an increase in the staff of the sheriff's office to handle the immediate problems in the area, asked the commission to recommend treatment for underlying causes of the disturbances.

If You Want To Start Fight, Try Jumping To Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The poorest stenographers in the office usually have the longest fingernails. No girl has the energy and power of attention to do her work well and still take care of mandarin-length fingernails.

You can always tell who is the master in the house by whether the husband or the wife leaps up and races out to the refrigerator to get the refreshments during the television commercial. Another indication is which one bosses the selection of programs. In most homes the hand that rocks the cradle also controls the television knob.

Tennessee and Missouri once led the nation in mules. Now each of these states has more golfers than mules. Is this true progress?

IT COSTS MORE for a girl to have a big wedding today than it did for her grandmother to furnish her home and have her first baby.

Artificial flowers can be made so colorfully real now that they impress you by their beauty for the first week; after that they become as tiresome as people who never do anything but smile.

EVER NOTICE the mistake most young fellows make who try to build up their bodies by lifting barbells? They wind up with overdeveloped necks that make their heads look too small.

If a man keeps more than three kinds of medicine in his office desk drawer before he's 40, the odds are he won't last to retirement — at least on that job.

Every man goes through life hoping that someday he will find a clothing store salesman whose opinion he can trust utterly.

It is admirable to be able to quote a dozen well-loved poems from memory. But anyone who can recite 100 poems could have spent his time better writing one poem of his own.

Women never tire of discussing their honeymoon trips, but all men seem to remember about them afterward is how many miles to the gallon they got out of their cars.

Today is Thursday, June 4, the 156th day of 1964 with 210 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1800, the finishing touches were put on the White House.

In 1896, Henry Ford wheeled his first car from a brick shed in Detroit and drove it around the darkened city streets on a trial run.

In 1942, the battle of Midway began and the Japanese fleet suffered its first decisive defeat of World War II by the United States.

In 1944, U.S. and British soldiers occupied Rome, the first Axis capital to fall to the Allies.

A thought for the day—English author Thomas de Quincey said: "The reception women of a family generally determines the tenor of one's whole entertainment."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Swift Bridge Play Is Poor Substitute For Exercise

If you want to work up a good sweat, take up golf or tennis.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

GREAT RAPIDITY

Declarer led out the ace and king of spades with great rapidity, but this did not produce any perspiration. That came later.

When the clubs failed to break South stopped to mop his brow. The room had suddenly become too warm. South had already lost two hearts, and he still had to lose a club and a trump.

"Very unlucky," South complained. "With any reasonable break in clubs, it would have been a laydown."

DESERVED FATE

It was true that the club break was unlucky, but South deserved his fate. He had misplayed the trumps.

It was reasonable to lead out one high trump from the South hand, but not a second. After taking one round of trumps, South should lead a diamond to dummy and return the jack of spades through East.

The idea is to cover if East produces the queen of spades, but to let the jack of spades ride otherwise. This play cannot lose and may gain.

CARDS LIE

As the cards lie, declarer would avoid the loss of a spade trick. If East had started with Q-10-x-x of spades, the play would limit the trump loss to one trick instead of two.

South could not avoid the loss of a trump trick when he led out the ace and king.

Even if he captured the doubleton queen, the other opponent would still have a trump trick with his 10-x-x of spades.

QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ J 2
♥ K 8 5
♦ A 10 9 5
♣ A 7 4 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs or two diamonds.

Easter Seal Drive Reaches $14,963

Donations in the 1964 Easter Seal campaign have reached $14,963, an increase of 18 per cent from the same time last year, according to Dr. Christian Gronbeck Jr., campaign chairman.

Gronbeck said the figure, calculated last week, represents efforts to date by the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which hopes to raise $22,000 this year to support its program of services to the handicapped.

The society sponsors such programs as a speech therapy center, adult recreation program, summer "camperships" to aid handicapped children in attending private camps, and services on an individual basis.

Major source of income is the annual campaign. Funds raised by sale of seals at Easter are supplemented by special events and contributions through the year.

Sausalito Students To Receive Diplomas

Overlooked were Peter R. Brown, Michael H. Hull, Roger C. Schaufel and Ruth J. Scott, all of whom will receive bachelor of arts degrees at the ceremonies at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Cow Palace.

Royal Couple Visits

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The Shah of Iran and his wife, Empress Farah, flew to New York today for a two-week visit to the United States and a meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson. The couple will also inaugurate an Iranian art exhibit in Washington and receive honorary degrees.

Motorist Fined

John Michael Sawczyn, 19, Hamilton Air Force Base, was fined $139 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. He was arrested on Diablo Avenue by Novato police May 31.

Inferno Destroys 40 Homes, Kills Two

The fire apparently was started by a candle in the home of the two girls who died in the flames.

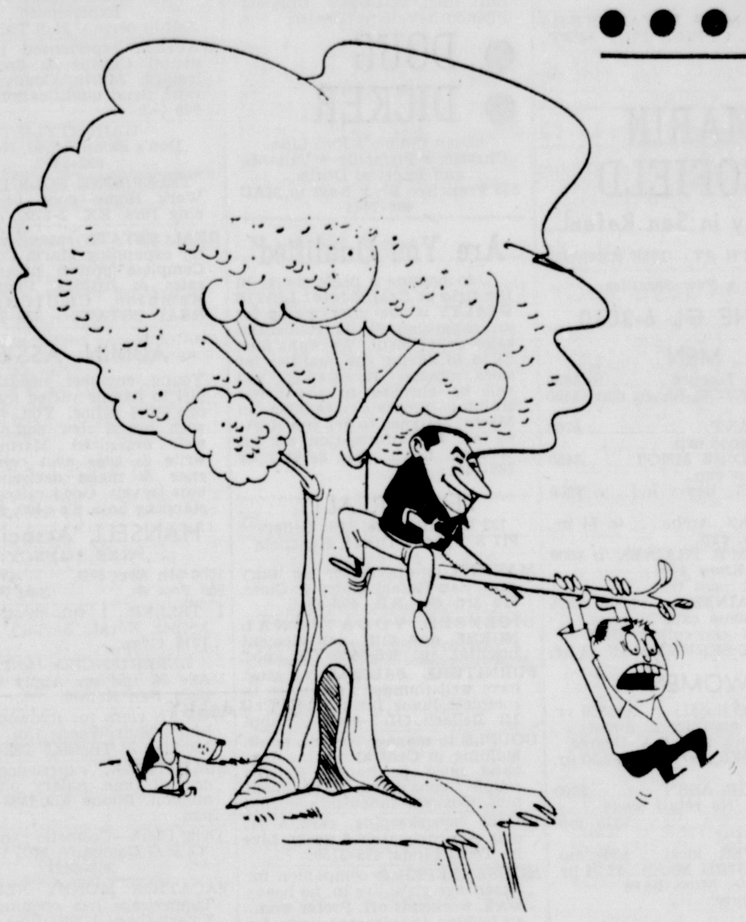
...and, for 7 obvious reasons



You good people of Marin know we are the perennial optimists at Ames Fordland. Well, in our optimism, we practically demanded the factory brass give us more and still more new 1964 Fords. And why not, with the traditional Spring Buying Season upon us? Well, we outguessed ourselves, a little, anyway. May was another record sales month, but not great enough to maintain a sales pace required to match our stock of new Fords on hand and on the way from the factory. So, come in. Grab a bargain—and take us off the limb.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Most children with asthma are allergic to foods, medicines, or pollens or other inhalants. Now and then the attack follows a cold or bronchitis, suggesting that infection is responsible. Wheezing, coughing, and shortness of breath are easily controlled, but the cause must be found and removed to bring permanent relief.

A complete allergy survey may be necessary to uncover the culprit. This includes a detailed history of the child's problem, along with a reasonable number of skin tests. The tests should be confined to those having a bearing on his condition. There is no need to check a 5-year-old for sensitivity to chewing tobacco, coffee, or tea.

AVOIDANCE OF the offenders is the first recommendation. Pets have no place in the home of an allergic child, especially when he is sensitive to animal dander. Nonessential dust collectors should be removed, including wool blankets, stuffed toys, rugs, fabric draperies, and upholstered chairs.

Molds are common allergens and are suspected when the child lives in an old damp house. Pollens come to mind if the attacks are seasonal. Industrial dusts also must be considered.

THE ANTIBIOTICS are used when infection is the cause. In some cases, removal of diseased tonsils and adenoids is followed by improvement of asthma.

When it is not possible to remove the causative agents, the physician usually gives the youngster a series of injections to make him less sensitive. In time the boy or girl may become sensitive to other inhalants, foods, or chemicals. Asthma returns unless prophylactic treatments are started as soon as this new allergy is discovered.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

SORE FEET

G. M. A. writes: Every Sunday I take a six- to eight-mile hike without tiring. But the balls of my feet become sore and tender and stay that way for a few days. What do you think is the cause?

REPLY

The transverse (metatarsal) arch may be strained or you may have the same soreness that most sedentary workers get when they walk miles once a week.

INHALED FUNGUS

P. M. writes: I understand histoplasmosis is caused by a fungus. How is it caught? Can it spread to other members of the household?

REPLY

This fungus is found in dust and is inhaled when blown into the air. Chicken houses, areas contaminated by bat or bird guano, and caves are more likely to harbor the organisms.

LEARNING TO READ

E. M. writes: How do you learn to read a thermometer?

REPLY

Catholic High To Hand Out Diplomas Sunday

Peter Del Tredici and Josephine Vaughn will deliver the salutatories at the 15th annual commencement of Marin Catholic High School Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the school in Greenbrae.

A class of 150 seniors will receive diplomas from Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel McAlister, pastor of St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. Msgr. McAlister will preside at the exercises.

Del Tredici, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Del Tredici of 329 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, is outgoing president of the Associated Students of Marin Catholic.

Carole Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bradley of 223 Crescent Drive, Hamilton Air Force Base, will give the valedictory.

The graduates will sing their Alma Mater, and the organist, Rev. Richard Wingell, will play the recessional.

Scholarships, College of the Holy Names, Oakland, Joyce Asmussen, Sally Nelson, Josephine Vaughn and Barbara Scatena; University of San Francisco, Philip McEvoy and Kevin Crocker, competitive scholarships, and Betty Baysinger and Noella Saccone

Did He Come Down In Time For Class?

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — It has to be hard to find a more eager—or younger—airman than Jon Vanderhoof of Scottsbluff.

He was eligible for a private pilot's license when he was 17.

Grad Rite Moves To His Bedside

PITTSBURG (UPI) — James Daley, 18, won't be able to attend graduation ceremonies at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind. So the school is bringing the ceremonies to him.

Daley, who has attended the school since being enrolled in the kindergarten class in 1951, underwent an emergency appendectomy Tuesday at Mercy Hospital.

The school principal, the president of its board of directors and Daley's eight senior classmates will assemble beside his bed at 4 p.m. today for commencement.

Squatters Busy In Central America

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)— An agriculture ministry spokesman said today Communist-led squatters, including some "invaders" from El Salvador and Honduras, are seizing ranches in Chinandega province.

Gerardo Suarez Lopez said the ranches seized by the trespassers includes one owned by agriculture minister Tamos Lacayo de Montealegre. Chinandega province is on Nicaragua's Pacific Coast, adjoining Honduras.

Killer Rains Hit

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Floods following heavy rains have taken a toll of at least 12 year and have caused extensive property damage in Colombia this week, it was reported today.

FBI Didn't Think This Was Funny

HOUSTON (UPI) — Federal agents agreed yesterday when James Jenkins, 26, told them he could not be arrested as an army deserted because, technically, he was never in the army.

Jenkins told the FBI that even though he served nine days before he walked away from his army post in 1962, he was never in the army because his brother, Curtis, had taken all the tests to qualify for the enlistment.

The FBI arrested him and filed charges of illegally wearing a uniform for the nine days he served.

Brown Names Marin Men To Fair Board

Alfred J. Bianchi of Point Reyes Station and William A. Gnoss of Novato were reappointed today as directors of the 4th District Agricultural Assn., which sponsors the Sonoma-Marin District Fair in Petaluma.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Bianchi, a Republican, has been on the board 26 years. Gnoss, a Democrat, is chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and has served on the fair board 12 years.

DIRECTOR — Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will conduct the College of Marin's a cappella choir and madrigal group in their spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus.

College's A Cappella Choir, Madrigal Group Concert Set

College of Marin's a capella choir and madrigal group will present their spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus.

Director of the vocal ensembles will be Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, the college's choral program director.

A capella choir members Virginia Helton, Kathryn Greiner, Mary Duggan and Craig Bond will be featured in several movements of J. S. Bach's "Jesu, Priceless Treasure." Misses Helton, Greiner and Duggan will sing solos in the 60-voice choir's performance of "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi.

The madrigal group will present works by Morley, di Lasso, Wilbye and Haydn.

Twin Cities School Sets Graduation

Mrs. Charles Secor, clerk of the Larkspur School District board of trustees, will address eighth grade pupils of Larkspur-Corte Madera School at graduation exercises at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in San Clemente School multi-purpose room.

Catherine Stai, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stai of 150 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, will give the salutatory. Nancy Wagstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wagstaff of 472 Montecito Drive, Corte Madera, will be valedictorian. Nancy also will receive the American Legion medal from Charles Young, past commander of Twin Cities Post 313.

Summer Project

Grant Tanner, a junior at San Rafael Military Academy, will participate in a summer research project for high school students at University of California, under direction of Dr. J. R. Audy of the San Francisco Medical Center. The student is son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tanner, 45 Hickory Avenue, Corte Madera.

3 Marin Students Will Be Graduated

Three Marin County students will be graduated June 7 from Willamette University, Salem, Ore.

Clark O. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Anderson, Ross, will receive a bachelor of arts degree in psychology; Thomas G. Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Newell, San Anselmo, will receive a degree in a combined political science and philosophy major. Geoffrey Rutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rutkowski, will receive a bachelor of music degree.

Wins Prize

Artist Carl Broderick of Novato won first prize for an oil painting entered in last weekend's Sonoma Valley Art Club outdoor show at Sonoma. The same painting also won an award for excellence from the jury. In addition, another painting brought him an honorable mention in oils.

Companion Is Found Right In Backyard

Seventy-six-year-old Mrs. Marina Turrini of San Rafael will return to her native Italy for the first time in 51 years June 17, thanks to a fortunate coincidence in airline bookings.

She will be flying from New York to Milan with her son's friend, but it wasn't planned that way.

Several weeks ago, neither knew the other was going and Mrs. Turrini was ready to back out of the trip because she wouldn't know anyone on the plane.

"She said she wouldn't go unless she had companionship," reported her son, Angelo Turrini, 11 Oakwood Drive, San Rafael. "She wanted to know someone ahead of time."

Unbeknown to Turrini, a friend, A. L. Nieri of Novato, vice president of Bank of Marin, was booked on the flight along with his wife, Evogene, and two daughters, Suzan, 18, and Sandra, 10.

Alitalia first notified Turrini that there were no co-passengers from the West Coast, and then later told him Nieri was on the same flight. Nieri and his mother have had some get acquainted chats, Turrini said.

The Nieris, making their first trip to Italy, will visit the Tuscany province, Florence and Lucca, for about a month.

Mrs. Turrini will visit the province of Brescia in Northern Italy for about two months and will return with a cousin, who will be making her first trip to the United States.

Turrini will fly to New York with his mother, where she will meet the Nieris for the flight to Italy.

It is believed that the first planting of cotton in California was made in 1808 at San Gabriel Mission.

Graduation Set At Isabel Cook

Four eighth grade pupils will discuss various facets of the traditional graduation theme, "Responsibility" when Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo, graduates 78 youngsters at 8 p.m. on June 11.

The theme speakers will be Arthur Pla, Curry Miller, La Donna Hall and Patricia Stamper. In addition, student body president Donald Alvarado will welcome the graduation rites' audience.

San Anselmo District superintendent of schools Steven Parodi will preside over the ceremonies; Robert Corlett, president of the board of trustees, will present the diplomas.

The school orchestra and chorus, directed by Richard Judd, will perform.
